TRAP SHOOTERS OF NORTHWEST IN NEW GROUP

PORTLAND, Ore., May 12.—(AP)—The Northwest Sportsmen's association, for years the governing body of regional trapshoot tournaments in this section, was an organization of the past today and the Northwest Trapshooters association had taken its place.

Formation of the Northwest Trapshooters association was completed here yesterday at the end of the three day Pacific Northwest trapshoot tournament at which Frank M. Troob, Portland, internationally known gunner, and Eddie Bauer, Seattle, divided major honors.

Dr. C. L. Templeton, Seattle, one of the veteran gunners of the northwest, was elected president of the new organization.

Troob attacked the northwest 16 yard target championship to his already countless championships and Bauer captured the northwest handicap title.

INDIANS POUND PHILADELPHIA FOR 25 RUNS

Batting Feat Marks Season Record in Major Leagues—Rommel Early Victim of Onslaught.

By Hugh S. Fullerton, Jr. Associated Press Sports Writer. When a team that has been having a hard time holding a place among the league leaders although it holds the club batting lead and one which has stretched a winning streak about as far as possible get together, something is bound to happen.

The Indians have shown plenty of hitting power all season while the Athletics had a bad beating coming to them after winning nine out of ten games.

The New York Giants made their hold on the league's first place safe for the current series with the second place Chicago Cubs by winning their third encounter, 9 to 7.

Benny Frey, who has taken part in nine of Cincinnati's 22 games, hurled his fourth complete game and won his fourth victory by limiting Philadelphia to seven hits while the Reds pulled out a 5 to 4 win.

Ed Morris produced the day's best pitching feat as he held the St. Louis Browns to two hits for the second day in succession.

Jack Dempsey, former champion, picks Max Schmeling to defeat Jack Sliemers in their pending battle for the heavyweight title.

Ray Ruddy, undefeated in two years of dual competition in the 440-yard swim, has been elected captain of the Columbia University swimming team.

SPORT SLANTS Alan J. Gould

Running on an endurance streak in baseball is like scaling a mountain peak or trekking to the North Pole. There's a measure of glory in it and distinction but little, if any profit.

Joe Sewell, great Cleveland infielder, stayed in the game when he should have been in a bed or in a hospital, just because he had run up 100 straight games and was trying to beat Everett Scott's world record of 1307.

As a matter of fact, if Sewell hadn't been laid off for a single game in 1922 so Tris Speaker could see how a rookie looked at shortstop for Cleveland, he probably would have beaten Scott's record long before this.

Everett Scott, who finally was benched by Manager Miller Huggins of the Yankees to end the shortstop's record-breaking streak, said afterward: "I know now that I was foolish in persisting after that consecutive game record. It got to be a form of collecting mania with me."

Lou Gehrig, the burly Yankee first baseman, now appears to be the only player with even an outside chance of upsetting Scott's record.

Larry Lind, since he broke in with the Yankees as a regular in 1925, has run up over 700 consecutive games—744 at the start of the 1930 campaign. It would take his full playing time for the next four years in a row to dislodge Scott's mark but Gehrig is only 27 years old this year and rugged enough to keep up the pace.

Eric Pedley, one of California's candidates for this year's polo big four, has a younger brother Lionel, who may be heard from in a few seasons as a star of the riding game.

When discovered paying the hotel bill for a friend, Ernie remarked: "I'm leadoff man, secretary, assistant manager, coach and disbursing agent for this outfit."

WILLING LOSES GOLF PLAY-OFF TO ENGLISHMAN

Portland Dentist Misses Second Opportunity for Famous St. Georges Vase—Badly Off Game.

SANDWICH, Eng., May 12.—(AP)—Once more the St. George's vase, noted golfing trophy, has eluded the grasp of Dr. O. F. Willing of Portland, Ore.

Dr. Willing was soundly beaten by Rex Hartley, youthful Briton, yesterday in the play-off of a tie in which they finished after the regulation 36 holes of play on Saturday. Hartley scored 79 on the 18-hole play-off to win by six strokes.

Off his game from the first tee, Dr. Willing never did get started. He needed 44 strokes on the first nine to give Hartley who played brilliantly, an eight stroke lead at the turn.

With weather conditions anything but favorable, Hartley's game went to pieces on the second nine but Willing's was little better.

By Edward J. Neil (Associated Press Sports Writer) Sam Langford, with his barrel chest, gorilla arms and enormous punching power, was never a favorite among the white heavyweights of his day.
