Society

Society Will Attend "Two Feet High."
Several parties are being planned in local social circles for the Three Arts Revue, "Two Feet High," to be presented at the Medford Armory under auspices of the local Business and Professional Women's club, Saturday evening, since announcement was made yesterday that the public would be granted admission.
The clever one-act musical comedy was written by Mrs. Mary Greiner Kelly and Miss Juneece Butler, the latter composing songs and music and the former the dialogue. It will be staged under the direction of Tom Swain and in the cast are to be found such well-known local artists as Jo Murray Rostel, Fletcher Fish and Dixie Ambler Harvey. Two dancers of French and Marco fame, La Nore De Lara and Douglas Fox, will appear in several dance specialties.

League Presents Program Tonight.
Members of the Epworth league of the First Methodist church will Tuesday put on a benefit program beginning at 7:30 in the church parlors. Besides several musical numbers and readings, the group will put on two plays, "When Mary Came Home From College," and "Not Quite Such a Goose."

Mary (Elizabeth Fleischer) has just returned from college, and tries to reform her parents (Mildred Walker and Paul Turner). In the latter part of the play, the young lady divides her time between her college friend, Clarence von de Vere (Donald Neilson) and Bill, a boyhood friend (Van Crum, president of the league) portrays the part of Bill.

In "Not Quite Such a Goose," the home life of Sylvia Bell and her brother is brought out in the play. These two parts are taken by Jeanette and Jerome Trill. Their friends, Hazel Henderson and Philip Fieck are taken by Geraldine Fox and Walter Scott.

The proceeds from the program will go to the fund to aid members of the league to attend institute this summer.

Dean Jamieson Unable to Visit Here.
Dean Kate Jamieson, who was to speak before the Girls' league Monday afternoon, is unable to be in Medford, due to a number of official duties on the campus, according to word received by Miss Maurine Carroll this morning. The officers of the league had planned a luncheon in honor of the dean, after which she would address them at the school.

The Monday meeting will be given over to speeches by nominees of Girls' league officers for next year, and campaign speeches for the candidates.
