Ye Smudge Pot (By Arthur Perry)

As a reward for their interest in the election, the women should be given two votes, instead of one.

STENOGRAPHER—NURSE desiring position in doctor's office; slow, inaccurate, disagreeable, untidy; start at $100 a month.

All the strays of this vicinity have returned from the 4 corners of the globe, but ASV, Carpenter is still ranging in Merrie England.

"SAYS SHE FEELS LIKE NEW"—(Pat Med. Ad.) A cup that does something besides cheer.

"Elmer Rice, the stump puller, was in Eugene Tuesday, getting some dental work done"—(Dexter Heims) And, picking up a few pointers for his stump-pulling.

It is now claimed, in extension of mysterious juggling of a $65,000 campaign fund by a Methodist bishop, that the laymen would have done no different.

Candidates have started to present explanations of their defeat. Some admit the corn, by attributing their disaster to a lack of votes.

Among the noteworthy disappearances are the vice-president, Doctor Cook, and Ruth Elder.

A GENT IS COPOICED (Des Moines, Ia., Register) "I contacted that gentleman yesterday," he explained, "and he advised me to contact somebody else, but the name he gave me has slipped my mind."

The Outdoor Girls are getting organized, and several citizens weiner roasts on the Rogue, will inaugurate the mosquito season.

ONCE HUMBLE SHOP GIRL HUMBLE NO MORE

WITH the business and professional women meeting here, it is timely to note there's no longer any need to pity Sally, the poor little shop girl—not the Sally of the big metropolitan department stores, anyway.

Since women went into business seriously with the World War, the sex has taken over the department store field to such an extent that in one great store the male executives can be counted on one's fingers, says Helen Christine Bennett, surveying this phenomenal development in the current Smart Set magazine.

One girl, she finds, started to work two years ago at 24. Today she is an executive at $10,000 a year. Another after four years of work is an expert buyer commanding $20,000 a year and semi-annual trips to the European markets.

"Of all the fields of business for the young woman, no other offers such rapid promotion or such high returns as the modern department store," says the writer.

"A SALESWOMAN in a good department store may average $65 a week with salary and commissions. Assistant buyers have a wide range of salaries running from $2,500 or less, to $6,000. A buyer may receive as little as $3,000, but she may receive as much as $10,000. A merchandise counsellor may receive as much as $50,000. Experts in specialized fields such as interior decoration command salaries ranging as high as $35,000 a year."

Where every department and sub-department was managed by a man 20 years ago, in one store today the only remaining male department head is in charge of furniture.

The word "saleswoman," which used to be spoken with a certain disdainful slur by women of the leisure class, can't be used to mark the modern business girl's social status either, notes the Smart Set writer, for many of these now behind the counters or in the offices of the big stores have wealth and social background behind them.

There is no obstacle to the advancement of any girl in the modern department stores, except those she creates for herself, says the head of one of the largest organizations.

"The biggest stumbling block for the majority is their indifference," he observes. "The prospect of marriage affects the single girls. But the one who is determined to go to the top usually gets there."

Tax refunds may be on the square, but why are the big fellows the only ones to make such mistakes in their tax returns?

Man is like a car,—not designed to last a certain number of years, but to do a certain number of miles.

Brisbane ranks rye liquor ahead of corn, but very little of his revenue comes from the South anyway.

Still, it wouldn't do to arrest all law violators. Somebody must stay out of jail to pay expenses.

Success is always the enemy of virtue. The more successful a book is the more people lie about having read it.

Why should a candidate be content to promise low taxes and free beer when he could win in a walk by promising plenty of parking space?

Don't brag about your honesty until you have handled public money that doesn't seem to belong to anyone.

Alas! If he becomes a candidate merely to please his friends, isn't he likely to run his office to please them?

A big city bank is an institution that denies you a $50 loan and entrusts $500,000 to a $15 messenger.

In Oklahoma saying a man is full of ginger is no longer a compliment—it may mean Jamaica.

A senator is a brave statesman who will vote for the right as he sees it regardless of the effect on the party. Now you tell one!

Why should manufacturers spend $50,000,000 to junk used cars when $5,000 expended judiciously for Bootleg would do the job more quickly?

Correct this sentence: "I'm paying for the room," said the hotel guest, "but I don't feel free to drop cigarette butts on the rug."

Personal Health Service

By William Brady, M. D.

Signs letters pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not to disease, diagnosis or treatment will be answered by Dr. Brady if a stamped self-addressed envelope is enclosed.

A LITTLE C. L. OIL TO KEEP THE VALVES SMOOTH.

In our terrible talk about growing pains the other day—if you have any children at your house and missed that talk you'd better dig it up and read it—I intimated I should not worry much if I had to live in foggy, chilly, gloomy old England instead of the sunny, bright and sometimes delightfully warm United States.

Whitfield's Salvo or Liquid Your formula for Whitfield's ointment cleared up a very bad case of athlete's itch (toe or foot itch) which Mr. S. had had for three years.

Dang it, this is a talk about rheumatism. You cannot know how it pains me to use the term at all, after the years of determined but somewhat vain struggle I've made to show that there is no such ailment and the term is just an ancient one that we have to use because people are so dumb generally about medical matters.

WAGNER CREEK WAGNER CREEK, Ore., May 17.—(Sp.)—Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Harrison of Medford visited Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Kerby Sunday evening.

ROGUE RIVER ROGUE RIVER, Ore., May 17.—(Sp.)—Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Stevens were guests at the J. Stevens home for dinner Wednesday evening, in honor of the birthday of Raymond Stevens.
