

Modern Design Applied to Small House

The modern design applied to a small house develops new and distinctive results.

Striking effect is achieved by predominating long horizontal lines, a large glass area, and simple flat wall treatment.

Black brick is used for the top of the wall of the living room and the chimney tops, red or green lattice is placed about the porch and the entrance, the door of which may be of weathered gray or green.

All the rooms of the lower floor and the front bedroom are large. The living room has a fireplace and so has the bedroom directly over it.

A bay window is a feature of the dining room, and behind that is a commodious kitchen. In the rear of the house is located a garage large enough for two cars.

A lot 40x150 would be sufficiently large for this house if it is built lengthwise with the living room facing the street.

Under normal costs of labor and materials, the expense of construction is estimated between $10,000 and $13,000 varying in different sections.
