

Local and Personal

Land Values Increasing

Compared to prices six years ago, the value of orchard property in the Rogue River valley has increased from 50 to 100 per cent in value in small or large acreages. Small acreage tracts near Medford have shown a similar increase, a local real estate man said this morning. Business property values in Medford have also shown a substantial increase. Residence property, while it has shown a heavy increase in the past five years, maintains the same value held two years ago, the realtor said.
