

Murder at High Tide

By CHARLES G. BOOTH

SYNOPSIS: Police reach a crisis in their search for the murderer of the Parados. A day after Parados' death the old job man, Grainger, is killed. Police think the same person was responsible for both deaths. Both men were shot in the library of Parados' island home. All circumstances point to a murderer who had intimate knowledge of the house. Claude Annersley, whom Parados suspected, is considered the likeliest suspect, but he steadily denies guilt. Samuels, deputy chief of police, is criticized by the press for attempts to get results. The attorney fails to get results. The murderer must be a member of the household.

Chapter 28 MISS JAHRIES' SECRET

WHEN M. Annersley has explained his little mystery, Fliques said, "we shall quickly approach the cad. When he does so I shall ask him a question. It will be of great significance. I implore your patience."

"Fliques," Samuels said abruptly, "it lies between Annersley and one other person, in my opinion."

"And that other person?" Fliques inquired.

"There is only one person in the house who was without an alibi both last night and tonight."

"My heart stood still as Samuels put the question."

"Ah, the little mademoiselle. But what are you going to do to the charming friend of M. l'Antiquaire?"

"I'll take another whack at Annersley and Jahries," Samuels replied. "If their alibis hold I'll take Caroline Brent to headquarters."

"You mean you'll arrest her?" I shouted.

"Something of the sort," Samuels grunted. "Sorry."

"Fortunately Fliques shoved himself between us."

"Non, non! This will not do. Let us retire. Dawn will bring a coolness to the heads."

I had enough sense left to realize that by antagonizing Samuels I should only make things worse for Caroline, so I dragged myself upstairs.

Toward dawn I got an hour or so of sleep. I felt better when I awoke and examined Caroline's position in a collected frame of mind.

Samuels' view that some one with a fairly intimate knowledge of the house had killed Parados and Grainger was reasonable, I thought. Of those on the island, my first choice was Annersley. Johns had two sound alibis, Mrs. Parados and Lum We had one each.

Yes, it must be Annersley. And Miss Jahries was involved in it with him.

As I descended the stair the austere figure of Miss Jahries arrested my attention. She stood in front of the library door, her hand on the knob. She opened it and pushed into the room.

"Mr. Samuels," Fliques—

door. I happened to glance at that window." Miss Jahries nodded toward the east window. "I saw some one lying on the floor in front of the patio window. It looked like Mr. Parados. I went around to the patio window. It was shut, but the latch hadn't caught and I pushed the window open. Mr. Parados was lying just as M. Fliques found him, and Mr. Annersley was kneeling in front of the safe. He jumped to his feet, a pistol in one hand and a bundle of papers in the other.

"Don't move or scream!" he said. Then he closed the window, keeping me covered with the pistol.

"Wait a minute!" Samuels interrupted. "Would you know that pistol if you saw it again?"

"I think so. It was a heavy automatic and it had a pipe-like contrivance on the end of the muzzle," Samuels opened a drawer of the writing table, an exultant gleam in his eyes.

"Was this it?" he demanded. To my astonishment he held up an automatic pistol, a forty-five caliber, a pipe-like contrivance of which Miss Jahries had spoken. Evidently it was a recent discovery and certainly it must be the final fact against Annersley.

"Mr. Annersley asked me what I intended to do. I told him I should have to report what I had seen. He denied killing Mr. Parados—he would, of course. He said he had entered the library with a crazy notion of frightening Mr. Parados into leaving Miss Ferris and him alone. As if any one could have frightened Mr. Parados! Mr. Annersley said he had found Mr. Parados dead. He hadn't touched him. The safe was open and he had helped himself to certain papers necessary to his financial security. Of course I didn't believe him and I told him so. When he saw my mind was made up he showed me a paper he had found in the safe. It had my name and Parados' on it. He said if I gave evidence against him he would turn it over to the police."

Miss Jahries' eyes searched Samuels' face.

"I suppose I must tell you about that paper?"

"If you don't, Annersley will. Samuels' tone was considerate but firm."

"I've nursed it so long that everything is distorted," Miss Jahries went on. "Ten years ago I was cashier in a roadhouse Parados owned near Los Angeles. He had to have money—$3,000. The liberty of the man I loved was at stake—never mind what he had done. I forged Parados' name to a check and got the money. He caught me. I supposed he would prosecute me, but he offered me an alternative. Mrs. Parados needed a housekeeper. If I would accept the position he would forget about the check."

Miss Jahries laughed bitterly. "I didn't know Dan Parados then and I thought he was being generous to give me a second chance. Generous! Don't think I haven't paid him back a thousand times! I've spent ten years watching him live up to his wicked boasts that he got his pleasure by making people feel and late him."

"Ten years of that!" Miss Jahries flung up her hands. "I wonder I am still sane. If I had broken from him he would have prosecuted me and that would have meant ruin for the man I had saved. At that time, when the man died and my heart died with him I had the courage to try to win back my self-respect. Dan Parados pursued every life he touched!"

Miss Jahries covered her face exhausted.

"I'm sorry for you, Miss Jahries, Samuels said quietly. "I wish you could come forward sooner. It would have saved Grainger."

"M. Annersley," Fliques murmured. Annersley was standing in the patio window. Kirk behind him. He came slowly into the room. His eyes fixed on the automatic on the writing table.

"This is a dirty mess you are in, Annersley," Samuels said. "You'd better come clean."

Annersley looked at Miss Jahries. She met his eyes with her head up.

"That gun is mine," Annersley said quietly. "and I suppose the petal dropped off the rose I was wearing, but I didn't kill Parados—Grainger, either."

Samuels shrugged. "None of your lies has done you any good so far, Annersley."

"I am telling you the truth now, Annersley had himself in hand. "I know you wouldn't believe me. That was why I had Miss Jahries give me an alibi. I did not kill Parados. He was lying on the floor dead when I came through the window."

"I was going to my room about half-past six," Miss Jahries began. "I went by way of the sun room

GRANTS PASS LAD GETS FIRST PRIZE IN BANKERS MEET

Jack Dedrich, Grants Pass high school boy, walked off with the honors and a $25 prize at the Southern Oregon Bankers' association meeting at the Medford hotel Tuesday night. He spoke on "New and Old Methods of Banking." It was one of the ten subjects the four contestants were required to prepare, since they might be called upon to speak on any of them.

Wilma Nutter of Ashland won second place with her talk about "Chain Banks." Norris Porter of Medford was third with his speech about "The First Bank and Chain Banking." Donald Wiley of Central Point was fourth. He talked about "Farmer and Banker."

The audience of bankers from all over southern Oregon were judges. In addition to the debate, the main business for consideration at the Southern Oregon Bankers' meeting was the report by a special committee composed of J. W. McCoy, chairman; John Orth and C. G. Eubanks on float charges and charges for collecting out of town checks.

Bankers throughout the United States are recognizing that banks must make a change for the various services they are rendering, according to the report.

Jeanette Gore, who is attending normal at Ashland, spent the week-end here at the home of Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Wertz, leaving early Sunday morning with friends for a trip to Crater Lake.

Mrs. Hattie Logan of Jacksonville spent last week here at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ansil Gilson.

The Federal mine shut down last week for the second time this spring, on account of shortage of water.

Mr. and Mrs. Loys Hamilton and family of Talent and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Stockwell of Medford motored to this vicinity last Sunday afternoon, where they visited with relatives.

Mrs. Harold Crump, who has been teaching the primary room at the Jacksonville school, moved to her home on Little Applegate Wednesday, her school closing Friday, May 23.

George Colehaugen, wool buyer from Roseburg, is visiting the many sheepmen along the Applegate this week.

Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Breceda, who have spent the last two weeks at the home of their daughter, Mrs. Harold Kubli, returned to their home at Marshfield this week.

Ben Dawson of Steamboat spent the week-end at Roseburg.

Eliz Schlichtl was packed to Dutchman's Peak last Tuesday, where he will remain as lookout for the forest service during this season. Mr. Schlichtl spent last winter making a Star Gulch.

Helen and Lorna Kubli of Goldson, have come here to spend the summer. Helen is staying in this vicinity with her grandmother, Mrs. Maud Kubli, and Lorna going to Ashland to the home of Mrs. Jim Davis.

BEAGLE, Ore., May 30.—(Sp.) Boy Scouts of troop 14, Beagle, participated in the track meet Saturday held at the fair grounds. The troop was well represented as follows: LeB, Loring and Merrill Martin, Byron Gray, Cleo Sims and Desmond Sweet, also their scoutmaster, E. B. Lucas.

Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Gray entertained friends at their home Saturday evening with a dancing party. At midnight a dainty lunch was served and their guests then bid Mr. and Mrs. Gray good-night and hoped they could spend another such evening at their home. Those there from Medford were Mr. and Mrs. Claude McIntyre and children and Mr. McDaniel.

Friday was declared a school holiday and those that could went to Ashland to the graduation exercises.

A number of young folks went to work at Table Rock Tuesday. Fruit thinning time has arrived again.

Mr. and Mrs. Claude McIntyre and two children of Medford were Sunday guests at the Roy McIntyre home.

Mrs. Freida Henderson and son Bobby of Sacramento are visiting at the James Martin home. Mrs. Henderson is a cousin of the Martins.

Irma and Lois Glass of McLeod were visitors at the Antioch school Monday. It seemed like old times to the children to have the Glass girls with them as they went to school here many years.

Charles Sanderson is doing some carpenter work this week in Central Point for his mother, Mrs. Annie Sanderson.

Rev. Randall of Medford was a welcome visitor at the Antioch Sunday school Sunday. Rev. Randall's talks to us are always enjoyed.

Mr. and Mrs. George Pursell and small son Bobby were Medford business visitors Wednesday.

Elmer Hull of the Medford orchard was circulating the fish petition in our district Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Eldred were Wednesday afternoon visitors at the Sanderson home.

Josephine Baldwin is out of school on account of sickness and Pauline Rhinesburg was out Wednesday to go to Medford for medical treatment.

Another of the Beagle families have joined the Sams Valley Grange. Mr. and Mrs. Harry Ellis are the new members.

Mrs. Bob Finney and Daisy

RURAL AND SUBURBAN NEWS

APPLLEGATE

APPLLEGATE, Ore., May 30.—(Special)—Mrs. Lee Port and Mrs. Charlie Buck of this vicinity attended the violin recital last Tuesday evening at the First Methodist Episcopal church, presenting the students of John Knight.

J. C. Cass of Medford attended the sale at his ranch on Little Applegate Monday, May 26. Mr. and Mrs. L. Smith and family who have been living on the ranch since the latter part of April, returned home with Mr. Cass that night and intend to make their home in Medford.

Little Applegate school held their last day of school festival Friday, May 23. A big community dinner was given at the noon hour, followed with a program.

The Applegate school held their annual picnic at the swimming hole last Friday. Beaver Creek also closed May 23 with Watkins closing Wednesday, May 28.

Mr. and Mrs. Allick Barnsborg of Kirby, Ore., who have not been in the Applegate neighborhood for 25 years, were calling on the A. S. Klumbacher home last Sunday.

Walter Zeidler, who is employed at Butte Falls for the Owen-Oregon Lumber company, spent Sunday at his home on Little Applegate.

Jeanette Gore, who is attending normal at Ashland, spent the week-end here at the home of Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Wertz, leaving early Sunday morning with friends for a trip to Crater Lake.

Mrs. Hattie Logan of Jacksonville spent last week here at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ansil Gilson.

The Federal mine shut down last week for the second time this spring, on account of shortage of water.

Mr. and Mrs. Loys Hamilton and family of Talent and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Stockwell of Medford motored to this vicinity last Sunday afternoon, where they visited with relatives.

Mrs. Harold Crump, who has been teaching the primary room at the Jacksonville school, moved to her home on Little Applegate Wednesday, her school closing Friday, May 23.

George Colehaugen, wool buyer from Roseburg, is visiting the many sheepmen along the Applegate this week.

Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Breceda, who have spent the last two weeks at the home of their daughter, Mrs. Harold Kubli, returned to their home at Marshfield this week.

Ben Dawson of Steamboat spent the week-end at Roseburg.

Eliz Schlichtl was packed to Dutchman's Peak last Tuesday, where he will remain as lookout for the forest service during this season. Mr. Schlichtl spent last winter making a Star Gulch.

Helen and Lorna Kubli of Goldson, have come here to spend the summer. Helen is staying in this vicinity with her grandmother, Mrs. Maud Kubli, and Lorna going to Ashland to the home of Mrs. Jim Davis.

BEAGLE, Ore., May 30.—(Sp.) Boy Scouts of troop 14, Beagle, participated in the track meet Saturday held at the fair grounds. The troop was well represented as follows: LeB, Loring and Merrill Martin, Byron Gray, Cleo Sims and Desmond Sweet, also their scoutmaster, E. B. Lucas.

Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Gray entertained friends at their home Saturday evening with a dancing party. At midnight a dainty lunch was served and their guests then bid Mr. and Mrs. Gray good-night and hoped they could spend another such evening at their home. Those there from Medford were Mr. and Mrs. Claude McIntyre and children and Mr. McDaniel.

Friday was declared a school holiday and those that could went to Ashland to the graduation exercises.

A number of young folks went to work at Table Rock Tuesday. Fruit thinning time has arrived again.

Mr. and Mrs. Claude McIntyre and two children of Medford were Sunday guests at the Roy McIntyre home.

Mrs. Freida Henderson and son Bobby of Sacramento are visiting at the James Martin home. Mrs. Henderson is a cousin of the Martins.

Irma and Lois Glass of McLeod were visitors at the Antioch school Monday. It seemed like old times to the children to have the Glass girls with them as they went to school here many years.

Charles Sanderson is doing some carpenter work this week in Central Point for his mother, Mrs. Annie Sanderson.

Rev. Randall of Medford was a welcome visitor at the Antioch Sunday school Sunday. Rev. Randall's talks to us are always enjoyed.

Mr. and Mrs. George Pursell and small son Bobby were Medford business visitors Wednesday.

Elmer Hull of the Medford orchard was circulating the fish petition in our district Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Eldred were Wednesday afternoon visitors at the Sanderson home.

Josephine Baldwin is out of school on account of sickness and Pauline Rhinesburg was out Wednesday to go to Medford for medical treatment.

Another of the Beagle families have joined the Sams Valley Grange. Mr. and Mrs. Harry Ellis are the new members.

Mrs. Bob Finney and Daisy

SARDINE CREEK

SARDINE CREEK, Ore., May 30.—(Special)—Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Elhart and son Billy, Mrs. Smith of Ashland and Mrs. Eva Newton of this place, left Wednesday evening by motor for a combined business and pleasure trip to Portland and expect to return Sunday.

Mrs. Lily Dusenberry and her daughters Edith, Alice and Iris spent Monday in Grants Pass.

Ethel Smith, sophomore at the U. of O., came home over the week end and to attend the graduating exercises of the Gold Hill high school of which class her brother, Charles, was a member. She returned to Eugene Sunday evening.

C. L. Dusenberry visited here Sunday. He was accompanied on his return to his camp above Butte Falls, by his son Lester, to spend a few days in the hills.

Mr. and Mrs. John Payne and children of Sams Valley were Sunday visitors of Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Meyer.

Mr. and Mrs. P. L. Walt and Mrs. Eva Newton attended the play in Gold Hill Thursday night, put on by the Ladies' club of Rogue River.

Mrs. Nellie Smith of Gold Hill who visited friends and relatives here Wednesday, recently received word from a hospital in Aberdeen, Wash., that her son Ivan was very ill. Ivan was born and raised on Sardine creek, and his many friends here hope for his speedy recovery.

Bud Smith of Riviera visited friends here Saturday and Sunday.

Dr. Dick Hoffman of Thompson creek visited Monday at the home of his brother, George March.

Members of the senior play cast enjoyed a picnic at Gold Ray dam on Tuesday evening, chaperoned by Prof. and Mrs. H. P. Jewett. Those present were Louis Straube, Bob Leesch, May Eicher, Loomis Davidson, Edna Wolff, Marion Caster, Elizabeth Scott, Roberta Reames, Glen Wilson and Ruth Webster.

Mr. and Mrs. I. Griffin and family of Wilmer have moved into the D. A. Langdon house on Laurel street.

Mrs. George Howard and son Billy of Medford called on Mrs. A. O. Myers on Wednesday afternoon.

Miss Luramae Amick, who has been spending her vacation with her father, D. F. Amick, principal of the grade school, left on Thursday for Fresno, where she is employed by the California state highway commission. Mr. Amick accompanied her home.

Mr. and Mrs. George Fox and daughter Geraldine of Medford were in town Wednesday.

Central Point schools closed Wednesday afternoon for the season.

Commencement exercises at the high school took place Thursday evening at the high school auditorium. Twenty graduated.

Mrs. Homer Bowman entertained a group of friends at her home Monday. Those enjoying a pleasant afternoon were Mrs. Robert Brophy of Burns, Mrs. Frank Hensper of Jacksonville, Mrs. Rose Jones of Sevier, Mrs. Miss Blanche Arnold, Mrs. William Lewis, Mrs. Joe Lester, Mrs. Claude Clark and Mrs. Ted Hill of Central Point.

George Lowe, teacher of the seventh grade, motored to Crescent City last Sunday. He was accompanied by Miss Harriet and Gilbert Hill of Medford and Miss Eunice Hager of Ashland.

Marcellus Rowe left Wednesday for Sams Valley where he will be the guest of his brother, J. P. Rowe.

Roland Bowles of Oswego is visiting in Central Point this week. He was a former pupil of our schools and is the son of Clyde Bowles, who was S. P. depot agent here for sometime.

The "Pointer," the annual of our high school, is off the Medford Printing Co. press, and is being enjoyed by the pupils. It is surely a credit to our school.

Walter Wertz entertained the play casts of "Rooms to Let" and "Safety First," also the stage manager, a assistant manager and prompter, at Jackson Hill Springs Monday evening, May 26. Games and swimming were the features of the evening. Those present were Edna Wolff, Helen Lees, Audrey Gorman, Vivian Jones, Ruth Webster, Dorothy Jones, Elizabeth Southwell, Loomis Davidson, May Eicher, John Clark, Charles Taylor.

Lloyd Anderson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Anderson, left Wednesday for Seattle. He is expected to stop for a short visit with his brother and family in Corvallis.

The Oakleigh farm shipped a carload of cattle from the Seven Oaks siding last week.

The Willow Springs district was represented this year in the graduation exercises of Central Point high school by Louise Straube, Edna Wolff, Marian Caster, Harry Snyder and Howard Synder.

Frank Stevens is driving a new sedan.

Mrs. Clyde Richmond, Jr., entertained the members of her club on Wednesday afternoon.

WILLIAMS CREEK

WILLIAMS CREEK, Ore., May 30.—(Special)—Williams booster club held regular meeting Tuesday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Doll Lemmon. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Philip Heisterly, Glen Blodgett, Austin Cogle, Walter House, Earl Cogle, Ray Varner, Roy Varner, Kathleen Lemmon, Doris Woolfolk, Helen Woolfolk, Bessie House, Blanche House, Roscoe Lemmon, Laura Loflin, Victor Sparlin, Wayne Large and Josephine Topping.

Mr. and Mrs. John Letoken visited near Central Point Monday, returning by way of Grants Pass, where they spent the night with their daughter, Mrs. Ed Woolfolk.

Miss Edyth Mullin left Tuesday to spend the summer vacation with relatives in Portland.

Miss Dorris Woolfolk and sister, Helen, of Grants Pass, are spending several days this week on Williams creek with friends and relatives. Miss Dorris has just closed her school at Coey creek.

Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Roberts drove to Medford Wednesday to meet their daughter, Grace, from San Francisco, who came home on her vacation.

Friends are sorry to learn that Mrs. A. L. Blodgett is now on the sick list and is forced to spend a few days in Grants Pass.

Mr. and Mrs. George McClam and Mrs. Watkins of Phoenix, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Watkins and small daughter Evelyn Jean of Medford, visited at the C. W. Roberts home Sunday.

Quite a crew of men are at work this week on the telephone line between Grants Pass and Provolet putting on new insulators and completing the metallic circuit.

The 4-H club of Provolet met at the home of Mrs. C. R. Hill Tuesday. Mrs. Wurtz, county demonstrator, was present. Those present, beside the two classes were Grandma Sinsley, Mrs. Sam Letoken Mrs. Tom Lewman, Mrs. Ed Roberts, Mrs. Lester Hill, Mrs. Wertz and the hostess, Mrs. C. R. Hill.

Mr. and Mrs. M. L. House and family and Mr. and Mrs. Bennet and family visited at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Walling Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Lester Hill went to Central Point Thursday to attend the high school graduation exercises. Mrs. Hill's brother, Robert Leesch, graduated.

Sunday visitors at the Kradal and Newcomb home were Mrs. Hoffman and son of Thompson creek, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Norton and two sons of Ashland and Mrs. Topping and daughter, Josephine.

Eighth grade class of the Provolet school, consisting of Billy Brooks, Mable Roberts and Cary Roberts all passed the examinations successfully.

We had a sewing contest of the three divisions, the division getting through first to be entertained at a party. Division one got through first so divisions two and three gave division one the party May 28.

Mr. and Mrs. William Cherry and daughter, Alice, left Friday, May 23, for San Francisco.

Mr. and Mrs. Chaney and children are living in their new home on Gordon creek.

Mr. and Mrs. Luke Ryan have taken possession of their home on Gordon creek, known as the Hoffbeck place. They purchased it from Mr. Burns.

The new electric line has been completed in the Gordon Creek district. The people are enjoying good light.

Mrs. P. W. Bacius has purchased a new electric range.

Mrs. and Mrs. Roy Peterman and daughter, formerly of Griffin Creek, have gone to eastern Oregon for a visit.

CENTRAL POINT

CENTRAL POINT, Ore., May 30.—(Sp.)—Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Merritt are proud parents of a baby daughter, born May 25th. She has been named Janet Imogene.

Mrs. Dick Hoffman of Thompson creek visited Monday at the home of his brother, George March.

Members of the senior play cast enjoyed a picnic at Gold Ray dam on Tuesday evening, chaperoned by Prof. and Mrs. H. P. Jewett. Those present were Louis Straube, Bob Leesch, May Eicher, Loomis Davidson, Edna Wolff, Marion Caster, Elizabeth Scott, Roberta Reames, Glen Wilson and Ruth Webster.

Mr. and Mrs. I. Griffin and family of Wilmer have moved into the D. A. Langdon house on Laurel street.

Mrs. George Howard and son Billy of Medford called on Mrs. A. O. Myers on Wednesday afternoon.

Miss Luramae Amick, who has been spending her vacation with her father, D. F. Amick, principal of the grade school, left on Thursday for Fresno, where she is employed by the California state highway commission. Mr. Amick accompanied her home.

Mr. and Mrs. George Fox and daughter Geraldine of Medford were in town Wednesday.

Central Point schools closed Wednesday afternoon for the season.

Commencement exercises at the high school took place Thursday evening at the high school auditorium. Twenty graduated.

Mrs. Homer Bowman entertained a group of friends at her home Monday. Those enjoying a pleasant afternoon were Mrs. Robert Brophy of Burns, Mrs. Frank Hensper of Jacksonville, Mrs. Rose Jones of Sevier, Mrs. Miss Blanche Arnold, Mrs. William Lewis, Mrs. Joe Lester, Mrs. Claude Clark and Mrs. Ted Hill of Central Point.

George Lowe, teacher of the seventh grade, motored to Crescent City last Sunday. He was accompanied by Miss Harriet and Gilbert Hill of Medford and Miss Eunice Hager of Ashland.

Marcellus Rowe left Wednesday for Sams Valley where he will be the guest of his brother, J. P. Rowe.

Roland Bowles of Oswego is visiting in Central Point this week. He was a former pupil of our schools and is the son of Clyde Bowles, who was S. P. depot agent here for sometime.

The "Pointer," the annual of our high school, is off the Medford Printing Co. press, and is being enjoyed by the pupils. It is surely a credit to our school.

Walter Wertz entertained the play casts of "Rooms to Let" and "Safety First," also the stage manager, a assistant manager and prompter, at Jackson Hill Springs Monday evening, May 26. Games and swimming were the features of the evening. Those present were Edna Wolff, Helen Lees, Audrey Gorman, Vivian Jones, Ruth Webster, Dorothy Jones, Elizabeth Southwell, Loomis Davidson, May Eicher, John Clark, Charles Taylor.

Lloyd Anderson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Anderson, left Wednesday for Seattle. He is expected to stop for a short visit with his brother and family in Corvallis.

The Oakleigh farm shipped a carload of cattle from the Seven Oaks siding last week.

The Willow Springs district was represented this year in the graduation exercises of Central Point high school by Louise Straube, Edna Wolff, Marian Caster, Harry Snyder and Howard Synder.

Frank Stevens is driving a new sedan.

Mrs. Clyde Richmond, Jr., entertained the members of her club on Wednesday afternoon.

JACKSONVILLE

JACKSONVILLE, Ore., May 30.—(Special)—Jacksonville was well represented at the violin recital by pupils of John R. Knight, May 27, at the Methodist Episcopal church at Medford.

Wiley D. Henson and son Stanley of Medford were guests Tuesday evening of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Ray. Harlan Clark, son of Mrs. J. L. Taylor, arrived here a few days ago from Harrison, Idaho. Mr. and Mrs