When Mr. R. H. White, a Nevada gambler, arrived early yesterday in the other world, he was asked how he died, he probably answered: "I don't know; I was unconscious at the time."

Before 5 a. m. he was taken to an air-tight room nine feet by eight feet wide, seven feet high, made of stone, and there strapped into a chair. He smiled and nodded his head at the witnesses looking through a little window on the outside. They included two women, nurses.

When he stood a two-gallon jar containing a quart of sulfuric acid and a half gallon of water. Pulling a string in another room caused a quantity of cyanide of potassium to fall into the acid solution.

Then the gas rose, White smiled again, breathed deeply three times, and was dead. While waiting to be executed, after his conviction of murder, in a circumstantial evidence, White was employed in the prison building the stone room in which he died.

When they asked him what he wanted for breakfast he replied: "A gas mask." He refused the traditional ham and eggs that murderers usually select.

Mr. and Mrs. Will A. Hamby of Simpsonville, North Carolina, have a girl baby, three days old. She weighed at birth 17 ounces. Her father feeds her with a medicine dropper and is building an incubator to keep her warm.

That interests every woman in the wide world. They are interested, also, in the fact that every mother bear, even big bears weighing 1000 pounds, have tiny babies that bother them not at all. They are born like the mother bear is asleep, alternating.

Some day science will find a way to modify Eve's severe sentence and make childbirth painless. Small babies, like Mrs. Hamby's, would help, as they help the bears.

GRANGE FOR ENFORCING PROHI LAW

Washington State Annual Session, Denounces Tariff As Favoring Industrialists—Defense of Dry Rule Voiced By Leader.

WENATCHEE, Wash., June 3.—(AP)—Favoring strict enforcement of the dry laws and denouncing the tariff as favoring industrialists and manufacturers, State Master A. S. Goss, formally opened the 42nd annual session here today of the Washington State Grange.

More than a thousand Grangers heard his address which touched on all educational, political and economic questions of interest to farmers.

"Prohibition is attacked and is one trial for its life. Let us come to its defense, pointing out the advantage, answering misrepresentation with facts, admitting its shortcomings and helping to find ways to overcome them," Goss declared. He said the apparent sentiment concerning prohibition in the country shows the results of a "well-financed campaign of liquor interests."

"When President Hoover urged a revision of the tariff designed to give agriculture more equitable treatment, organized industry, as usual was not asleep," Goss said. "For every increase given agriculture, industry got about ten increases."

"It is my opinion that the best interests of agriculture will be served if the pending bill is defeated, for I believe it will but serve to increase the disparity between agriculture and industry."

LOBBY ACTS OF CANNON ARE PROBED

Bishop Disclaims Personal Suasion in Fight Against Rum—Used Legitimate Means, Is Testimony Before Senate Group.

WASHINGTON, June 3.—(AP)—Bishop James Cannon, Jr., informed the senate lobby committee today he was no lobbyist, in the popular sense, but that he gave his best effort to promote prohibition by every legitimate Christian means.

He said he seldom sought to use personal suasion with members of congress, and rarely interested himself in appointments to office. Asked whether he or the Southern Methodist board of which he is head took part in the election of members of congress, he replied: "Oh, we have done nothing aside from sending literature. We have taken no part in elections."

"You took part in the 1928 election?" asked Senator Walsh, Democrat, Montana.

"I have taken a part in every election since I have become of age as a citizen. We simply sent out statements of the church and of the board. As to getting into particular fights I did not, except perhaps in my own state."

"But you were active in the 1928 election, were you not, bishop?"

"A little more active than usual."

Received No Salary: The bishop said the annual budget of the board ran around $15,000 or $16,000 a year, but that he himself received no salary from the board.

The committee room was packed when Senator Walsh, Democrat, Montana, the acting chairman, began the questioning.

Bishop Cannon said the church was assessed $25,000 a year, but only about two-thirds of it was paid. He had received no payment for his prohibition activities in the last 30 years, he declared, although Dr. E. L. Crawford, secretary of the board, received $550 a year.

The remainder of the money was spent for rent, salaries, traveling expenses and such things. The board, he said, was principally interested in prohibition and peace.

"It was not my habit to lobby personally very much," he added, explaining he used the word "lobby" as meaning legitimate activity to present views on legislation to members of congress.

Questioned by Walsh, the witness read a telegram he and others sent Secretary Mellon in 1928, saying that if prohibition enforcement appropriations were not increased, the question would arise whether the treasury "sincerely desires effective enforcement."

Walsh asked if that meant Cannon was dissatisfied with enforcement.

"The telegram speaks for itself," replied the bishop.

KLAMATH FALLS LAD SHOT BY PLAYFELLOW

KLAMATH FALLS, Ore., June 3.—(AP)—Jack Harding, 11, was shot and killed by Frederick Williams, 10, late yesterday while the two boys were playing with a shotgun. Officials said the shooting was accidental.

WILL ROGERS says:

BEVERLY HILLS, Cal., June 3.—News today, Supreme court swore in Owen J. Roberts as a member, then they adjourned for a year. Not much chance for a man to make a mistake there. The senate needn't have been so particular. Chicago is kinder like the stock market, it has been away off here lately, but it got back toward normal yesterday. They machine gunned seven. The Zep goes back home with Lady Drummond Hay, Carl Wiegand, all the same passengers they always have. They ought to change the cast on that thing. People will get the idea that it can't haul anybody else.
