CITY GAS COMFORTS ENJOYED FOR MILES BEYOND GAS MAINS

City gas, used everywhere from cook stoves to furnaces by many families, is now taking country homes by storm.

Standard Flamo, condensed natural gas, is rapidly being introduced in the Medford territory by the Standard Oil company of California. And there are mighty few things that can bring more comfort to folks in the country than this city gas, one of the quickest and cheapest fuels for every-day cooking and heating—ready for instant use without installation of gas mains.

In ushering Standard Flamo into suburban homes, the Standard Oil company, one of the pioneers in developing "home gas plants" is offering a product proven in scores of California households during the past year. This new fuel gas, condensed to a liquid and stored in steel cylinders, is delivered in town or miles out by company trucks. Two gas cylinders, enclosed in an attractive cabinet, may be installed outdoors and connected by ordinary piping, with modern gas ranges, water heaters and other gas appliances that mean so much less house-keeping drudgery.

Time was when suburban women just had to get used to carrying wood and shoveling ashes, but those days are about to go out of style. With Standard Flamo being delivered everywhere and comparable to city gas in both quality and cost—there's not much excuse any more for spending long hours over a hot cook-stove, for exorbitant fuel bills or late meals.

From June 4 to June 8, Flamo week, the local dealers in Medford and Jackson county handling Flamo will give away to each kiddie who calls a red, white and blue 18-inch balloon. See dealer's name in ads.

The company will also put on a radio program each evening during this Flamo week, as well as movie slides at the theaters.
