DADS TO RATE SUNDAY ANNUAL FATHER'S DAY

The sock-and-tie era has opened to close Sunday, June 16, the date for the annual occasion of Father's Day, one of those newer institutions in American life. When Mother's Day, which took place in May, was formally set up to rank with such occasions as Valentine's Day, some observers saw that Father was being left out of the picture. Not many years passed before Father, thru agencies unknown, received his due. And so, Father may reasonably expect something on Father's Day. Certain things are connected with such anniversaries. To Father, socks and ties—as at Christmas—are in order. Local men's furnishings stores and others carrying articles that Dads appreciate are featuring special gift bargains this week.

G. PASS PLANNING BIG DOINGS WHEN ELK LODGE OPENS

"With three bands already promised for the gigantic parade to be staged in Grants Pass, June 17, plans for the institution of an Elks lodge in the city were rushing merrily along, according to announcement made Tuesday by C. Gottschal, temporary chairman of the organization," says the Grants Pass Courier.

"A special meeting of the various committees working for the ceremonies will be held. At the meeting, it is announced, plans will be perfected for the complete entertainment of approximately 500 visiting Elks who are expected to be present.

"Medford, according to information coming direct from lodge headquarters plans to have a large delegation on the streets of Grants Pass during the evening and afternoon. The Medford delegation will be headed by a full band, it has been announced.

"The Ashland Elks band will be in the lineup if present plans work out. Just how many will come from Ashland had not been determined. Klamath Falls wired Mr. Gottschal that a large delegation of R. P. O. E. would be present. Eureka, California will have a delegation.

"Word has been received from Portland that representatives of the Portland lodge will participate.

"Plans being perfected by the Grants Pass Elks call for a line of amusements and hilarities for the visitors from the time they hit town until the last candidate is run through the chamber of horrors."

SERVING MANY BUSINESSES

Experience of large fleet owners reveals the unusual reliability and economy of the new Ford

A SIGNIFICANT TRIBUTE to the value of the new Ford is found in its increasing use by Federal, state and city governments and by large industrial companies which keep careful day-by-day cost records. In most instances, the Ford has been chosen only after exhaustive tests of every factor that contributes to good performance—speed, power, safety, comfort, low cost of operation and up-keep, reliability and long life.

Prominent among the companies using the Ford are the Associated Companies of the Bell System, Armour and Company, The Borden Company, Continental Baking Corporation, Firestone Tire and Rubber Company, General Electric Company, Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company, Kellogg Company, Knickerbocker Ice Company, Morton Salt Company, Pillsbury Flour Mills Company, The Procter & Gamble Company, and Swift & Company. Each of these companies uses a large number of Ford cars and trucks.

The Associated Companies of the Bell System use more than eight thousand. Modern business moves at a fast pace and it needs the Ford. Daily, in countless ways and places, it helps to speed the production and delivery of the world's goods and extend the useful service of men and companies.

Constant, steady operation over many thousands of miles emphasizes the advantages of the sound design of the Ford car, its high quality of materials, and accuracy in manufacturing. Beneath its graceful lines and beautiful colors there is a high degree of mechanical excellence.

An example of the value built into the Ford is the use of more than twenty ball and roller bearings. They are hidden within the car and you may never see them. Yet they play an important part in satisfactory, economical performance. Their function is similar to the jewels of a fine watch.

Throughout the Ford chassis, a ball or roller bearing is used at every place where it is needed to reduce friction and wear and give smooth, reliable mechanical operation.

At many points, as on the transmission counter-shaft, clutch release, fan and pump shaft, and front drive shaft, these ball and roller bearings are used where less costly types of bearings might be considered adequate.

Additional instances of the high quality built into the Ford are the extensive use of steel forgings, fully enclosed four-wheel brakes, Rustless Steel, four Houdaille double-acting hydraulic shock absorbers, aluminum pistons, chrome silicon alloy valves, torque-tube drive, three-quarter floating rear axle, and the Triplex shatter-proof glass windshield.

The Ford policy has always been to use the best possible material for each part and then, through large production, give it to the public at low cost.
