BARTLETTS MAY FETCH AROUND $50

Fruit Men Expect Canning Pear Variety Open at $40 and Rise in Price—Cherry Pack Starts Next Week—Fair Crop Seen.

At a special meeting of the Fruit-growers' league approval of the new Oregon standards for canning Bartletts was voted, with a suggestion for a minor change in the definition of "maturity pears."

Alfred Burch will represent the Fruit-growers' league and R. R. Reiter the shippers at the fruit hearing in Salem tomorrow. It is hinted opposition will arise from some local shipper-growers.

The Rogue River Canning company will start its annual pack of valley cherries next week, according to R. L. Bottelle, manager.

The cherry crop will be better and larger than first predicted, as reports of frost and other damage were exaggerated. A good crop is in sight on both the West and the East sides of the valley.

The Royal Anne variety only will be canned by the Bagley Canning company at Asland will start cherry canning operations within the next week or ten days.

Prices will be announced some time next week for Bartletts by California canners. This price is expected to be about $40 per ton, and may rise to between $50 and $60. High prices of from $75 to $80 per ton offered last year are now classified by pear buyers as "suicidal," with the observation that the growers need not expect any such price this year.

Blight Factor. Valley growers and shippers feel that the California blight situation will have an important bearing on the canning price, along with crop conditions in the northwest districts. Court Hall says that from the information he has received the buying this season will be late.

The state board of horticulture tomorrow at Salem will adopt a state standard for canning Bartletts. The new specifications adhere closely to those now in force in Washington and California.

The Fruit-growers' league has filed notice of approval of the new standards, as formulated by the Hood River and Rogue River Traffic association. Valley growers will be advised to sign no contracts that do not conform to the Oregon standards.

The adoption of the pear standards by this state, followed the new in 1927.

PEACE APPEARS COUNTY TO GET POSSIBILITY IN TIDY SUM FROM WARRING CHINA O-C TAX CLAIM

SHANGHAI, June 12.—(AP)—China's ever-changing political horizon today gave indication of pending internal changes which carried through may involve cessation of the present civil war and selection of new officials for the Nanking national government.

Divergent viewpoints on the situation were displayed by civil and military groups in Nanking. Apparently authentic advices from the capital stated that high nationalistic officials were discussing the possibilities of a peaceful settlement.

The nationalistic military, through the government's Kuomlin News Agency, countered immediately with a vigorous denial of all armistice reports, and announced that on the contrary the national government was preparing for a powerful military campaign against its foes.

SPEED KING IS KILLED BY BOAT UPSET

Major Henry Segrave Fatally Injured When Craft Turtles at Speed of 100 M. P. H.—One Companion Loses Life.

WINDERMERE, England, June 12.—(AP)—Major Sir Henry H. Segrave, internationally known speed king, died shortly after 5 o'clock this evening from injuries he suffered when his speed boat overturned on Lake Windermere.

The famous racer, who holds the world automobile record of 231 miles an hour, lost his life while testing out his newest speed boat, Miss England II, with which he hoped to capture the international trophy at Detroit this summer.

While pounding along on the lake at a speed of about 100 miles an hour, the boat suddenly was seen to turn over and plunge into the water. Segrave was dragged from the wreck by the owners of speed launches which came to his assistance. He was taken to a nearby hotel and was found to have suffered a broken arm, a broken rib and a fractured thigh.

There were two companions in the boat with him. Mechanic E. Halliwell was believed to have been caught under the boat, which sank within half an hour. Efforts to find his body were made immediately. The third member of the crew, M. J. Willcocks, was badly injured and was taken to a hospital.

According to County Assessor J. B. Coleman, the amount for Jackson county from the O-C refund will amount this year to between $58,000 and $59,000. Jackson county's claim previously disallowed, will amount to $500 or $600, and is for land in the Jacksonville watershed. The land was eliminated from the payments but was afterwards ordered back by the interior department.

Jim Dinkens of Beagle, known throughout southern Oregon for his knowledge of wild life, has sold his mountain farm and will soon sojourn in the vicinity of Del Monte, California, where they have polo games and tennis teas, and lawn fetes and many millionaires.

Mr. Dinkens first came into the general public eye three years ago, when the wild turkeys freed by the state game commission, refused to be wild and, instead, took up a residence in the Dinkens henhouse and ate with the Dinkens chickens. Dinkens presented the state commission with a bill for 24 for wild turkey feed, which they paid in due course of time.

GILMORE TO ERECT OIL PLANT HERE

A new gasoline distributing plant for southern Oregon, operated by the Gilmore Oil company, a California and rapidly growing Pacific Coast corporation, will be ready for operation near Medford within 15 days, according to an announcement by Lloyd Gedamke, Portland, district manager, who was here today completing final arrangements for the opening. He was accompanied by G. V. Smith of the Salem district.

The plant will be located near the Richfield Oil holdings on the Pacific highway south of Medford and its construction is already under way. One large tank with a capacity of 26,000 gallons, will be constructed to provide for present needs and will be followed by further construction in the near future. There will also be the usual office buildings. Two large trucks will be operated to cover Jackson county and probably also over into Josephine county and possibly into northern California for a short distance, delivering the new blue-green gasoline, well known for its guarantee against forming carbon in the motors.

No manager has been named for the local district but is to be announced within the next few weeks. The plant will also be the headquarters for a full line of lubricating oils and greases.

The Gilmore Oil company has been in the business for the past 10 years, is well known throughout California and is now just completing an expansion program that includes the entire Pacific coast from Canada to the Mexican border. Medford, with the exception of Roseburg, is the last link in the coast chain. The company plans to enter the middle-west in a short time. Its headquarters are located at Los Angeles, near which city it also operates its large oil fields.

Oregon Weather. Fair tonight and Saturday; rising temperature and lower humidity in the interior. Fresh northerly winds on the coast.

Will Rogers Says

BOSTON, June 12.—The senate committee demanding every little confidential paper exchanged between Mr. Hoover and Ramsay MacDonald (in supposed confidence) is just like a couple producing their marriage certificate in court, but would be made to go back and produce all the love letters they wrote to each other during the courtship.

Tell'em it's none of their business. But the senate is not as scared of the president as they are the bishop. The president don't control the Methodist vote. What does the senate do with all the knowledge they demand from other people? They never seem to use it.

CO-OP KEY TO SUCCESS IN DAIRYING

Dana Tells Home Products Diners Oregon Lags Because Organized Effort Lacking—New Zealand Cited—Harbor Will Aid.

(By Ernest Rostel) Cooperative effort without resorting to coercion is the big secret of the success of the dairy industry in New Zealand, the most prosperous country in the world with an average per capita wealth of $4500. Marshall Dana, associate editor of the Oregon Journal, told his listeners last night at the annual community home products dinner of the Medford chamber of commerce, at the Hotel Medford. The dairy industry has made New Zealand famous, Mr. Dana said, and is one of the most important sources of revenue, resulting in an income of over $40 million dollars annually for its 60,000 dairymen, 61,000 of whom are banded together for a common purpose through a cooperative organization. The members of the organization take pride in its success and spare no effort to maintain a high standard in dairy products.

Another contributing factor to the high level of the industry is rain, evenly distributed throughout the 12 months of the year, keeping grass continually green for pasture purposes. However, this is the only natural advantage, said Mr. Dana, who went on to state that the soil is second rate and must be heavily fertilized to increase productivity. There is only a small area where the soil can be actually termed fertile.

Same Area as Oregon. New Zealand, visited by Mr. Dana a short time ago to gain a complete insight into dairy conditions there in behalf of the Oregon Journal, is a land with an area approximately the same as Oregon but 1500 miles long and averaging 200 miles in width, with rain evenly distributed its entire length. The pasture land is subject to scientific treatment and is pastured
