Ye Smudge Pot (By Arthur Perry)

All reports to the contrary notwithstanding, Chicago is about as much aroused over its last gang murder, as Texas is aroused over its last lynching.

The esteemed The Dallas Chronicle, having occasion to advise its National Guardsmen to be ferocious about a civic problem, makes mention of the alleged abode of Satan, thiswise: H—l. This is enough to make strong men exclaim: "D—g—n H!" and women chirp: "Por H—n aakes!"

The Older Girls are now adorned in furs, for they keep cool, which are ostensibly the same furs that kept them warm last winter.

Mrs. Nathan Harris, the Creator of Carrot Syrup—in making my experiments I found that Oregon grows the finest carrots of all.

WHO GIVES A DANG? (Vanity Fair) Mary Pickford has a delicious sense of humor that is evident only at rare intervals.

There seems to be a slight decrease in the extraordinary amount of arsenic of hoey squirrels over this region. Now is the time to spray for more trips baloney.

"Miss Ingalls is a beauty, as she has been told by many young men, who also know what they are talking about"—(Lakeview Examiner)

For some time past it has been the opinion that one Jack Sharkey, pugilist in high places, was entirely too windy. There has also been a suspicion, by eminent sporting scribbles, that the said Sharkey "had a yellow streak."

"Grandpa is a veteran of the Civil War, and 66 years of married life"—(Dixon News). He now views the Civil War as a desultory skirmish.

It is reported that the last of the once numerous tribe of cigar store wooden Indians in St. Louis has been retired from the store of Louis Grotaky.

From Minneapolis comes the story that Irving Myers of that city ate 30 "hot dogs" at one sitting, breaking his own previous record of 16.

JOIN THE RED CROSS SWIMMING CLASS

YES, it is very cool for June. But at any hour now the Weather Man may wake up and turn on the heat. And when he does, watch out! The Weather Man will try to make up for lost time. That's a habit he has.

THE first of the week the Red Cross opens its regular course of swimming lessons, for young and old. The charge is only a nominal one, the best instructors are provided, the opportunity should be taken advantage of, by every individual who doesn't know how to swim.

FOR, whether or not one enjoys swimming as a sport, no one knows when circumstances will arise wherein an ability to swim may mean all the difference between an adventure and a tragedy.

So if you or any member of your family can't swim, don't fail to register in this class today or tomorrow.

WELCOME TO THE STATE GRANGE

WITH the securing of the 1931 State Grange meeting, Medford can put another feather in its cap, as one of the most popular convention cities in the state.

It is also true that in no other section of the state, has the Grange made such rapid strides, as it has in Jackson County during the past four or five years.

WITH some of the political aims of the Grange we have not agreed. But with its fundamental purpose, organization and co-operation in agricultural production, we are and always have been in hearty accord.

As George A. Palmer, retiring master of the Grange, said at Redmond, and as Marshall Dana remarked at the Home Products banquet last night, organization is not idealism, but simply cold, common sense,—without such organization there can be no improvement or progress in agriculture,—it is just as essential in farming as it has always been in Big Business, as it is in the circles of labor, as it is in every department of our industrial and economic life.

THE tragedy of the farmer is that he has been the last to attempt organization, and that, because of his inherent independence, he has been the most difficult to organize. Mr. Dana brought this out very clearly in his description of the New Zealand creamery industry last night.

A similar experience may be expected in this country. Organization of the right kind will only come when all other methods have been tried, and the people have been taught by sad experience that no other plan will work.

AS pointed out above, the foundation of our prosperity in Southern Oregon rests solidly upon the soil. Anything from cheese factories to canneries, from lower freight rates to drainage surveys, which will increase this income from the soil, will benefit not only the workers of the soil, but every business that is here or may be later established.

We are, in short, all members of one big family. No member can benefit without all members benefitting. None can suffer without ALL suffering. The Grange as an organization is devoted to the betterment of one important member of this family. To help the organization in this effort, in every legitimate way as a community, is not any sentimental humbuggerism, but simply enlightened self interest.

We have decided the time to exercise vigorously is twenty years before your old joints start to crack.

MUTT AND JEFF—Big Business On Wheels

Personal Health Service By William Brady, M. D.

Conservative Treatment of Tonsils. Notice I do not call this the conservation of the tonsils. Why conserve the plagued things? I call it conservative treatment, to distinguish it from the extravagant and futile treatment popularly employed for sore throats.

Now you know if I had suggested something like that to the newspaper column, a large body of the brethren would smile on the surface, while gritting teeth underneath and dismiss it as one of Brady's pipe dreams or another wild theory. It seems that some of the boys who have had four or eight years practice like to think my teachings are all theory.

While I was watching my colleague steal tonsils, as I described here the other day, he, a nose and throat specialist, voiced a similar view, somewhat to my surprise. He said he believed that if people would get into the habit of reporting immediately to the family physician whenever a little sore throat or suspicion of tonsil trouble develops, for some such topical treatment, a large share of these patients coming for surgical treatment could be saved all that, and besides they could be saved much of the secondary or focal troubles that are caused by tonsil infection before the tonsils are finally extirpated.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

Insomnia. I have spent weeks of sleepless nights. Have gone to many doctors, but they do not help me. If they give me veronal and other hypnotics I sleep for the time being, otherwise not. Kindly advise me what to do, for I am very distressed over it.—Mrs. D. H.

Give a Lad a Bike He Can Ride. I want to get a motorcycle, but I folks think it would be injurious to the kidneys. Please give me your opinion.—L. A. R., Jr.

One Kind Act a Day. Would you be kind enough to tell me the symptoms of stomach ulcer. —Mrs. G. A. H.

Honestly, I Feel Sorry. Some time ago I wrote for instructions to rid the house of roaches. Your reply was valuable information. Today I have no roaches. I have told several friends about it and they, too, have rid their premises of the roaches. —Mrs. H. T.

THE VISITOR. "We must see her right away. She's due to arrive any minute, but we'll meet her as she is coming in this direction," the Little Black Clock said.

SUNDOWN STORIES

Chicago takes seriously the shooting of a newspaper reporter. But conviction is improbable. The killer, probably, was some youth in his teens, fortified with cocaine. Paid for the job, he did not know the name of the man he killed, perhaps doesn't know it yet.

FARMER TELLS HOW HE GOT RID OF PILES

Suffered 20 Years and Tried Everything. Couldn't Work. SIMPLE HOME REMEDY WORKED LIKE MAGIC. "I suffered with piles for twenty years and could not get relief until I read in the paper about these Colac Pile Pills you take internally. They are marvelous, enthusiastically declared W. D. Fox, a well known farmer of Mt. Jackson, Virginia.

Do You Remember?

TEN YEARS AGO TODAY (From files of the Mail Tribune.) June 13, 1920. Ashland really active, with many buyers from east. Heavy influx of labor to valley. Wednesday Forum luncheon to be free-for-all speaking contest. City water tastes deplorable. San Francisco. — Jury clears Jack Dempsey of slacker charge.

Brisbane's Today

As the young lady retired to her virgin slumber, the gambling house owners called her blessed. For their 2,000,000 francs, if really won, they will get 500,000,000 worth of free advertising. Fools will crowd their tables, and later Miss Dolly will return the $50,000 with interest.

Wall Street continues to worry small fish, and reflect the actions of bigger men. Little ones worry, and sell. Bigger ones, that have been turning out stocks, tens or millions of shares at a time, do not want any "violence," so they let the market slide down a little, then steady it.

Lawrence Tibbett Scores Sensation

The talking picture, with its appeal to both ear and eye, has reached its ultimate development in "The Rogue Song." Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's all-color spectacular now playing at the Fox Craterian theater. Those who love swash-buckling high adventure and romance will revel in its ingenious plot; music lovers will enjoy the songs of Lawrence Tibbett, the famous opera star, who makes his talking debut in the picture, and lovers of art will revel in the color photography and the spectacular ballet, in natural colors.
