TAXPAYER VOTE LAW ATTACKED IN NEW APPEAL

Cottage Grove Man Challenges Validity of Limited Election On Refunding Bonds.

SALEM, Ore., June 25.—(AP)—An appeal in the case of O. O. Veatch against the city of Cottage Grove, another suit to test the constitutionality of the Eddy Act of the 1929 legislature, requiring that only taxpayers may vote on questions involving bond issues of special tax levies, appeared in the supreme court today. There are two Eddy acts, one applying to the state and other subordinate political divisions, the other applying to cities and towns. The first is held unconstitutional by the supreme court in the case of Loe vs. Britting, appealed from Multnomah county, and the case now on appeal from Lane county applies to the act relating to cities and towns. A similar appeal from Pendleton, known as the Johnson case, is held insufficient to cover the case which was confined to the Pendleton city charter. Veatch challenges the validity of an election at Cottage Grove in which $35,000 refunding bonds were voted on grounds that persons who were not taxpayers were allowed to vote. The city's defense is that the Eddy act is unconstitutional. A demurrer by the city was sustained by the circuit court and Veatch appealed.

AMNESIA BLAMED BY PORTLANDER

PORTLAND, Ore., June 25.—(AP)—Harold Barrett, 25, special agent for a railroad company, for whom police have been searching for more than two weeks, returned to Portland today and explained his absence by "lapse of memory." With a week's growth of beard on his face, 40 cents of the $105 he took with him and pistol strapped to his waist, he appeared at his home and immediately communicated with his employer. Police said Barrett told them he awoke Monday in a Seattle rooming house. He said he could remember nothing after June 15.

Seven others of the 32 convicted furnished $1000 appeal bonds. They were: Paul Miller, Jack Chisholm, Matt Burckovich, Nick Pavlich, Tony Ament, Joseph Carboneau, and A. B. Lieb.

CHINESE PIRATES KILL PASSENGERS

HONG KONG, June 25.—(AP)—Fifty buccaners wearing soldiers' uniforms, pirated a Chinese steamer near Kowloon, 40 miles south of Canton, shot several passengers, kidnaped 180 Chinese for ransom, and took loot valued at $20,000. The passengers were shot when about 20 of them jumped overboard and started swimming toward the shore. The pirates shot most of them, only a few escaping.

A NICE GIRL COMES TO TOWN

By Mayale Greig. "Won't that cover the cost of this night?" Mary Lou questioned. Tony shook his head. "Not nearly. There'll be heaps of expense in connection with it. I'll have to hire a mechanic. I'll have to pay him and insure him, too, in case there's a wife and kids. I do hope Aunt Ethelberta will come across. I'm crazy to do it. Well, here we are. Hope you haven't been bored?" "Bored? Of course not!" Mary Lou told him. Secretly she was delighted that Tony should have chosen to tell her so much about his family and his past. Declining her request that he come in, Tony said he must be "pushing home."

Chapter 10 TONY'S HOPES TONY did not tell Mary Lou that his real object in taking her to visit his aunt was the hope of persuading her that he was rushing a really nice girl for a change. Instinctively, he felt that Aunt Ethelberta would like Mary Lou. Once, he remembered, he had taken Gwendolyn down for a week-end. The experiment had almost finished him for good with Aunt Ethelberta. Gwendolyn had smoked one cigarette after another, laughing at Aunt Ethelberta's objections. And on Saturday night, when they were about to retire, Aunt Ethelberta had suggested a cup of tea to Gwendolyn. "Tea? No thanks," she had answered, "but a good stiff bracer of whisky and soda would do her the trick."

"Boys, here's a new girl for you," Lorna announced. Brynmor first had met Clarice at one of these parties. It was her sort of atmosphere. There always was a stir when she arrived after her last dance at the Emerald Dragon. Occasionally, when Clarice wished to impress some man who was present, she would consent to dance. Lately she had danced to please Brynmor. It was not surprising that Brynmor should be at Lorna Gray's party that night. Young stock brokers, like himself, thought themselves no end of a devil when included in these shows. The party was well under way when Mary Lou and Tony arrived. Lorna greeted them by clapping her hands to command the crowd's attention. "Boys, here's a new girl for you—Mary Lou Leslie," she cried. "Someone bring her a drink."

A week ago no one would have noticed Mary Lou at any party. Two nights with Tony, however, had given her fresh confidence in herself and a semblance of sophistication. And Jay had put on the finishing touches with clothes of the smartest cut. A dozen men crowded around Mary Lou as Lorna introduced her. Tony had told her that she looked "subtly mysterious" in the black velvet tea gown which Jay had lent her. Brynmor was standing moodily in one corner apart from the crowd. He had been waiting expectantly for Clarice to appear. When she came, he would share the glory of her popularity. The one girl Brynmor didn't expect was Mary Lou. Tony was the first to spot him. Brynmor, at the sight of the new arrivals, had half turned away from the dancers to talk with a vivacious brunette. "Love," Tony exclaimed, "are my eyes deceiving me? Or is that the dear old chap we left lying on the dance floor of the Emerald Dragon the night of the raid?" Mary Lou was startled. She looked in the direction Tony had indicated. "Why, it is Brynmor, to be sure," she laughed. "What a lark!"

Brynmor's pride is thoroughly squelched—in tomorrow's chapter. ANSONIA, Conn., June 25.—(AP)—Full military honors today were accorded Raymond C. Spang as the demented World War veteran was buried in Mount St. Peter's cemetery with his wife and four children, whom he flung to their deaths from the summit of West Rock, New Haven, Saturday, before ending his own life with a suicidal leap.

S. F. GAS DEALERS IN DRIVE TO END CUT RATE SALES

SAN FRANCISCO, June 25.—(AP)—With gasoline prices ranging from 15 to 13 cents per gallon in San Francisco and the East Bay region, members of the Retail Service Station Dealers' association, last night decided on a campaign to maintain the 17-cent level. A committee was appointed to attempt to swing independent dealers now selling at 13 cents, into line in maintaining a 17 cent price with a 4-cent "differential." Failing in this, the association decided it would seek cooperation of major oil companies and go on record as favoring 15-cent gasoline with a 2-cent differential. It was pointed out the wholesale price to dealers is 13 cents and those selling at that level are doing so without profit.
