TOGGERY BROADCAST MONDAY TO BE SONG REVIVAL

Moonglight nights fifteen years ago will be recalled in this week's Nunn-Bush program over station KMED on Monday night, July 7th, from 6:30 to 7:00 p. m., with Miss Ruth Lyon's interpretation of "Underneath the Stars." In this number she will be assisted by the Nunn-Bush Ladies' Trio, who will sing "By the Light of the Stars," as an interpolation of Miss Lyon's selection. The Nunn-Bush orchestra will introduce a touch of summer with the singing of the birds and the budding of flowers, in their interpretation of LaCombe's "Spring Serenade." The third selection on this program will be the ever popular "Missouri Waltz," as presented by the Nunn-Bush singers. Program: "Liebestraum," Liszt; Nunn-Bush Singers. "Underneath the Stars," Miss Ruth Lyon, lyric soprano. Interpolation of "By the Light of the Stars" by Nunn-Bush Ladies' Trio. "Spring Serenade," LaCombe, Nunn-Bush orchestra. "Missouri Waltz," Logan; Nunn-Bush Singers. "Liebestraum," Liszt; Nunn-Bush Singers. Walter Stevenson, one of the Nunn-Bush Singers, familiar to many radio listeners, will be heard in a real musical treat, "The Big Bass Viol" which has long been a favorite, not only of singers, but listeners as well. Further more "The Big Bass Viol" has a real significance in this number, as the instrument is played by one of the most famous bass players in this country, Mr. Shumukovsky. Mr. Shumukovsky, who is the first bass player in the Chicago civic opera, is not only one of the greatest artists on this instrument, but in addition, has written an instruction book that is universally used by teachers. Another number of special interest on this program will be Schubert's "Serenade," one of the greatest serenades of all times, which will be sung by William Pohlmann and Rollin Pease, assisted by the Nunn-Bush Singers. The third selection will be Tschakowsky's delightful "Waltz of the Flowers," played by the Nunn-Bush orchestra. Program: "Liebestraum," Liszt; Nunn-Bush Singers. "Waltz of the Flowers," Tschakowsky.
