SHORTEST TRIAL TAKES 40 MINS.

One of the shortest civil trials in circuit court for years took place this forenoon when an entire action was consummated in 40 minutes, including the selection of the jury, presentation of evidence, arguments, jury instructions and return of verdict. The case concerned a suit of Simon Nickerson of The Dalles, Ore., against J. G. Sumner of Bend for the collection of $60 claimed to be due on a loan.

The jury returned a verdict in favor of the defendant after less than five minutes' deliberation. Sumner, present at the trial, making a special trip to Medford from Bend, claimed he had never received the sought after amount as a loan.
