Thrift Shops Needs Clothes
While the Red Cross Thrift Shop is grateful for all donations, which are clean and will give some good service to someone, its management requests donors not to send dirty or moth-eaten goods that are fit for no place but the garbage pile. Those kind of donors are the exception rather than the rule, the management says. Anyone having bundles is asked to either call 456, or deliver them to the Thrift Shop over the Woolworth store. It is explained that clothing donations must be clean or nearly so, as the shop has no way of laundering them. They must also have some wear left in them, else they are worse than worthless and fill up space. RAIN COMES TO RELIEVE MID-STATES

Wisconsin and Illinois Enjoy Abatement in Heat Wave—Torturing Torridity Continues Unabated in Other Areas.

CHICAGO, July 26.—(AP)—Rain over most of Wisconsin and northern Illinois brought some relief from the heat wave in the north central states today, but abnormal heat continued in the southwest.

The showers dropped the temperature in the southwest from yesterday's high at 96 to the seventies. In Chicago at 9 a. m., the reading was 75, while Milwaukee reported 68. It was 70 in St. Paul and Minneapolis, where another shower was centered.

Kansas, Nebraska, Missouri and Iowa seemed destined for another day of extreme hot weather with prospects of equaling yesterday's 100 degree temperatures.

By 9 a. m., the mercury had mounted to 89 in Kansas City and it was 92 in St. Louis. There was no relief in sight over this area and the forecast was for continued hot weather.

NEW YORK, July 26.—(AP)—Seventy-five thousand fugitives from New York's newest heat wave took refuge in Central park last night and slept on lawns and benches.

Despite tempering mid-week showers the city was confronted today by another blistering week-end. Yesterday's high was 90 degrees and at 8 o'clock (E. S. T.) this morning the thermometer started upward from 78, with mounting humidity threatening to make the heat more oppressive than yesterday's.

Three deaths and three prostrations were reported in twenty-four hours.

Noted Animal Importer at Fur Ranch Near Prospect; Author Evarts Will Arrive

It may not be where east meets west, but it is where the district attorney of Peoria has met the greatest wild animal importer in the world. And although just what the district attorney, Frank Pratt, said to I. S. Horne, benefactor of circuses, managers and zoos, is not known, it is known that the wilds of Africa and India figure in the conversation at the Northern Pacific Fur and Trading company ranch beyond Prospect, this week.

Mr. Horne, better known as "Madren Trader Horn" doesn't confine his trading to muskrats, although the latter are in the majority at the ranch where he is visiting. C. E. Gilliland, president of the Northern Pacific Fur and Trading company, stated in Medford this morning.

He handles the wild ones before Ringling Bros. train them. He has a contract with that circus and others which show in London. He supplies the zoos and menageries and many individual collectors in addition to the traveling circuses. He rounds up the animals for Mr. Hearst and hosts of other people, whose collections are not so well known. This week he is enjoying the "great outdoors" of Oregon where there are no lions to eat him.

Next week Hal G. Evarts, author whose wild life articles frequently appear in the Saturday Evening Post, will join the group of celebrities at the 320-acre ranch. He will be accompanied by Hal Walsh, motion picture producer, with whom he is now working on a picture in Wyoming.

Frank C. Jordan, secretary of state of California will add a political strain to the group. Mr. Gilliland was in Medford today conferring with officers of the Jackson County Game Protective association in hope of bringing in more fish for them to catch. He intends to restock Buck creek, which is one of the most beautiful little fishing streams in the state.

Speaking of the commercial interests of the ranch, Mr. Gilliland stated that work on the construction of a log lodge and cabins will begin in the early fall. There are many mistakes at the ranch now, and it will be spotted with silver and red foxes within a few months.

HUNTER ARRESTED IN GRIFFIN CREEK AREA FINED $25 PLANNED FOR AUG.

W. C. Fields, former Jacksonville resident, but who for some time past, has lived in a cabin in the Griffin creek section, was found in the woods last evening with a rifle in his hands, and Roy Parr and Fred Brown, county game wardens who happened to be in that vicinity placed him under arrest, as they were of the belief that Fields was hunting deer out of season.

This impression was an erroneous one, quite so, according to Mr. Fields, who said he was only hunting non-game animals, and never thought of such a thing as hunting deer.

The crestfallen game wardens then arrested him on the charge of hunting wild animals without a license, and in Judge Taylor's court here this morning, Fields reiterated this statement and told how he had felt that the wardens should so unjustly think he would hunt a deer out of season, even if the beast was attacking him.

Judge Taylor was so touched by the tale that he passed the touch along to Fields by imposing a fine of $25 and costs on him on the charge of hunting wild game animals without a license.

Two other violators of the game and fish laws came to grief in the justice court at Ashland last evening because a game warden never forgets. They were H. A. Feldt, a resident of Klamath Falls, and his half-brother, G. F. Meeker, of the same city. The latter was fined $25 for fishing without a license and Brewster the same amount for "aiding and abetting him" in the offense.

It seems that Meeker was arrested in the net of fishing last Sunday without a license by Parr and Brown, and that Brewster who was with him had no fish pole at the time. The two promised the wardens that if allowed to return home they would communicate with the Ashland justice court next day and turn over to the court the amount of their fines. After waiting until Thursday and no word having yet been received from the two men, the game wardens brought them into court.

It seems that anyone with a person who is fishing without a license is guilty, under a state law of aiding and abetting him in the offense, and this charge was brought against Brewster.

OLD INTAKE SITE OF FOREST FIRE

A forest fire yesterday afternoon near the old city water works intake on the north fork of Little Butte creek, five miles east of the Lake Creek postoffice, burned over 100 acres of grass and brush, and to the edge of good timber, by 11 o'clock last night when it was gotten under control by eleven fire fighters working under District Phipps, district fire warden. Little damage was done.

The fire was caused by a spark from the chimney of the dwelling house at the intake, about 30 feet distant, at 12:40 p. m., while the family were dining, and spread through the brush and grass rapidly.

Two-thirty was announced as the hour Monday for the funeral of Wm (Billy) Lyman, prominent Civil War veteran of this city, who died Wednesday in Portland. The service will be conducted by Rev. A. G. Bennett in the First Methodist Episcopal church, preceded by a brief service held by the Medford Post, G. A. R. of which Mr. Lyman was commander for eight years.

Names of pallbearers have not been announced. A firing squad will be present from the American Legion and National Guard and the Masonic lodge will hold a ritualistic service at the mausoleum. The funeral arrangements are in charge of the Cozier funeral parlors.

BEST EGGS TAKE HIGHER VALUATION

PORTLAND, Ore., July 26.—(AP)—Fresh extra eggs have been advanced 2 cents to 26 cents and standards 1 cent to 24 cents, according to announcement of the Pacific Co-operative poultry producers, who are said to control about 60 per cent of the output. This advance follows the stiffening in price which has characterized the top grades for several days. Some independent dealers, it is reported, have not observed such an advance.

The butter market was barely steady under liberal receipts.

Such pool favorites as Case and Vanadium rose about 5 points. Earnings statements coming a hand continued to show numerous exceptions to the downward trend. The rails were irregular. Radio just all of an early rise of a point. The close was firm. Sales aggregated 200,000 shares.
