

Yanks Lose Hope of Capturing Davis Cup From French Team

YOUNG DOUBLES TEAM BOWS TO FRENCH STARS

Cochet, Brugnon Trounce Allison, Van Ryn. 6-3, 7-5, 1-6, 6-2 in Surprise Display of Power.

ROLAND GARROS STADIUM, Auteuil, France, July 26.—(AP)—The French team of Henri Cochet and Jacques Brugnon scored a surprising victory over the American combination of Wilmer Allison and John Van Ryn in the doubles play today of the challenge round for the Davis cup. The scores were 6-3; 7-5; 1-6; 6-2.

The highly favored American youngsters, victors over the French in the challenge round last year and champions at Wimbledon this season, were no match for Cochet's smashing attack and the superb serving of the veteran Brugnon. The French paraded through the first set, found a bit stiffer opposition in the second as Wilmer Allison steadied somewhat after an erratic start, and then dropped the third set when Brugnon weakened. After a ten minute rest, Cochet and Brugnon came back to smash the American opposition with ease.

The victory all but removes any hope the United States had of lifting the cup, lost to France in 1927. The French now lead in matches 2 to 1 with the final pair of singles scheduled for tomorrow.

Strength of First Half Carries On in Second Half—Oaks Drop Out of Leading Tie.

(By the Associated Press) The strength that carried Los Angeles to the top in the first half season of the Coast league was today firmly implanted as a second half threat by virtue of the Angels' 8-0 win over Sacramento last night.

Ed Baecht shut out the Sacs as his teammates slammed Vincel and Gould, while attendance for the week at the Angel park rose to new heights with night ball.

The Missions went on at the top, having downed Portland last night, 5 to 1, with Dutch Lieber blanking the Beavers in all but the second inning.

Oakland dropped out of the first place tie when San Francisco trimmed them, 12 to 6, knocking the Oaks' new star hurler, Henderson, out of the box in the fourth. Elmer Jacobs held the Acorns to two runs until the ninth when the Seals had a safe enough lead.

Hollywood was outfit by Seattle, but made a ninth inning rally good for a 7-to-4 victory, having trailed up to then. Turner was credited with the win, although he blew up in the ninth.

FRENCH TENNIS HEAD SUCCUMBS TO ILLS

PARIS, France, July 26.—(AP)—Albert Canet, president of the French Tennis association, died last night, after a long illness. News of his death cast a gloom over the French tennis players taking part in the Davis cup matches.

Al Slinger, the new lightweight champion, has been fighting only three years ago.

One Hit Game Aids Clark In Choice of Ball Career

William Watson Clark, Brooklyn hurler, recently turned in the best pitched game of the season, by setting down the Pittsburgh Pirates with one hit.

BROOKLYN (AP)—Shaded by the erratic brilliance of other Robins, for a time it looked as though William Watson Clark never could convince the public that he also shone for Brooklyn.

And Clark has tried hard to sparkle in baseball, because he has finished with farming in Mississippi, and he knows that a successful big league career will be insurance that he will remain so.

Clark's pitching has done much this season to put and keep Wilbert Robinson's hand of eccentricities at the top of the National league. At mid-season he had won 11 games while losing 7.

But the crowd could hardly see a work-a-day left-hander, with Herman Bissoneite, Wright and Lopez playing as they were.

Clark, however, did much to change that in one short afternoon at Ebbetts field. Only 28 Pirates faced him in a regulation nine inning game, and but one of them got a hit.

His subsequent shut-out victory was called the best pitched game of the year, and it was recalled that last year he ranked tenth in the National league in the number of earned runs he allowed a game. That his strikeout record last year was greater than that of Dazzy Vance.

His strikeout record is due in a large measure to the fact that he works hard on every batter while in there. If he has an inclination to let up, he has a memory of the Mississippi river rising up and ruining his father's 1,300 acre cotton farm in Mississippi.

This one example of the tribulations of the farmer is sufficient to spur him on to hard work as a ball player.

Clark's baseball career began with the Mississippi university, where he won 32 games, pitched two ties and lost four during four years. Clark is over six feet tall and weighs around 180 pounds. He was born at St. Joseph, La., in 1904.

In the country do not yield early season catches. Though the trip is a hard one, for those who crave much walking, rough life and complete isolation from civilization, it is ideal. There are several routes leading off the Upper Klamath lake past Rocky Point. The first trail, one of the longest of several, leads to the Cloud Lake group.

Lake Gladys, Lake Hanice and ends at Cold Spring. The next trail north leads to Lake Notaha. Heavy only Twins and follows Rock creek in which fishing is also fairly good. A third mountain trail ends near Lake Land, surrounded by a number of smaller bodies of water, crosses Penn creek and is not far from Cherry peak.

Sky Lakes, including nearly ten small bodies of water within a short distance of each other, is reached by a fourth trail, following Cherry creek. A forked trail has the Puck lakes as its destination, not far from Devil's peak and Lion peak. The Snow lakes are several miles farther west. Passing the Three Mile Creek ranger station, a sixth trail leads to local Seven lakes, well known to local fishermen for good angling, but seldom visited. This route follows Three Mile creek and goes through some of the best forest country in the west.

Another trail, several miles farther north, also leads to the Seven Lakes, at the head of the middle fork of the Rogue river. The middle fork and the south fork flow for several miles through the "blow down" area, the boundary of which is only a short distance south of the Seven lakes.

If trips are planned to the lakes, anglers are advised to take the route through Klamath county, as none are permitted to enter the closed area for any recreational purpose. A trip by the "blow down" route is described as much harder than by the trail east of that section. There are more forest trails leading to secluded mountain lakes to be described later, but each one entails considerable walking—more than the ordinary fisherman would care to undertake in view of the fact that auto roads already lead to Diamond lake and Lake of the Woods, two of southern Oregon's best known resorts.

While it does not offer a good route at the best, the closing of the "blow down" area, makes it necessary for anglers attempting to reach the lakes to go by way of Port Klamath or Rocky Point or via Crater Lake and come down the Port Klamath road. The area covers approximately 60,000 acres on the watersheds of the middle and south forks of the Rogue river and is closed to travel during the summer months due to extreme fire hazard, created when heavy windstorms in 1925 and blew down countless numbers of big trees, which have become dry and easily susceptible to fire. Flames, if they ever become started in this region, would be hard to quell. The only other closed area in the Crater national forest covers approximately 13,000 acres and protects the watershed from which the city of Ashland obtains its water supply.

A forest country, dotted with mountain lakes of snow water, akin to primeval ages, in the Crater National Forest, has attracted but few local sportsmen who would have the best in angling and hunting. A long tortuous trip by way of Fort Klamath and then 4 1/2 hours of brisk walking over the shorter mountain trails has made the region unattractive as far as accessibility is concerned. A forest map reveals over 40 lakes in a comparatively small area, located south of the Crater Lake national park and east of the "blow down" area not far from Prospect.

MAIN INTEREST AMERICAN RACE IN "ALSO RANS"

Athletics Widen Gap Over Field As Red Sox and Browns Battle to Escape Cellar.

By Hugh S. Fullerton, Jr. At the rate the Philadelphia Athletics are pulling away from the rest of the American League pack and the spaces between the lower positions in the standing are widening, it won't be long before the only interesting struggle left is the fight between Boston and St. Louis to keep out of last place.

Yesterday the Mackinnon surprised the Cleveland infield with a pair of triple steals to add a couple of runs to their total. In addition to this strategy, the A's made 12 hits, three of them home runs and received ten bases on balls in a 14 to 1 victory.

It was their eleventh victory in 14 games of the current western tour. Washington dropped further back as the Chicago White Sox came along fast in the closing innings and pulled out a 6 to 5 victory in the ninth.

Third place New York Yankees kept pace with the league leaders, nine games behind them, by taking advantage of Detroit's seven errors to win a 14 to 7 decision. Lou Gehrig got his 29th home run.

Down where the league's real struggle is going on, the St. Louis Browns came out on top by a 5 to 3 score and kept the Boston Red Sox in the cellar. Boston, starting to move into seventh place, could not cope with George Elshofder's six hit pitching and Goose Goslin's hitting. Goslin drove in four runs with a homer, double and a single.

Brooklyn and Chicago each won another game without trouble yesterday and are separated by a half game, Brooklyn leading.

The Browns pounded Lucas hard in three innings and accumulated enough runs to down Cincinnati 7 to 2.

Chicago pounded Fenge and Willoughby for 16 hits and defeated the Phillies, 9 to 5 this time.

Jarrett Mitchell's southpaw hurling left Pittsburgh to seven hits while New York gained a 3 to 1 victory. "Wee Willie" Sherwood stopped his former mates, with nine hits and Boston defeated the Cards, 5 to 4.

BLASTING NEEDED AT RAINEY FALLS

Estimates are being made on the cost of necessary labor and powder required to blast a new fish way in the Rainey Falls region of Rogue River. It was announced at the offices of the Jackson County Game Protective association yesterday, and the State Game commission is expected to carry out the work necessary to enable the fish to get over the dam.

At the request of the local association Ralph Cowgill recently made a trip to Rainey Falls below Lake Gabece and reported the water very low and additional work necessary to insure the fish getting over if the water line falls lower. At present the fish are able to get over the dam, but with an additional fall of the water would be barred.

CARNERA LEAVES FOR HOME ON AUGUST 1ST

OKLAHOMA CITY, July 26.—(AP)—Frank Carnera, of the Primo Carnera retinue, announced here the Italian heavyweight and his French manager, Leon See, would sail for Europe August 1 on the Ile de France. Carnera said he had booked passage for the pair.

Immigration authorities recently refused to grant Carnera and See an extension of their six months' stay granted when they entered the country last winter. Carnera has one more fight in this country with George Cook, Australian, at Cleveland, July 31.

Local Swimmer Hailed As Championship Contender Will Try Out Tomorrow

Puppy dogs have been known to swim for their preservation. Young gozzlings are often pushed in the creek by an ambitious goose. And kittens are frequently known to swim out of the pond and progress to cathod after being thrown in when their mothers brought home too many. Humans, however, are seldom put to such a test. And Gordon Turner won't be. That is, his life will not be weighed in the balance when his group of sponsors push the Medford boy in Klamath lake tomorrow to see what he can do.

It will be almost a life and death matter to Gordon, however, for he wants to enter the world championship 15-mile swim to be sponsored by Wm. Wrigley, August 27 in Toronto, Canada, practically as much as the kittens, puppy dogs and gozzlings wanted to live.

No definite arrangement has been made with her, E. H. Hedrick superintendent of schools, who with C. T. Baker of the chamber of commerce and Eve Benson, dancing instructor, is endeavoring to raise funds for the boy's entrance, stated this morning. Mr. Thomas, local swimming instructor, will accompany Gordon to Klamath Falls leaving Medford at 7 a. m. Arrangements for his trout have been completed in Klamath Falls by Paul Gravello, who trained him for entrance in last summer's swim.

The Toronto swim will be based on endurance and speed and the fair haired Medford youth of Nordic ancestry has been training continuously under Dana Thomas, to increase the rate at which he travels in water. He is 28 years old, five feet 10 inches in height and weighs 137 pounds. To his blue eyes and modest character of the Scandinavian, nature has added the agility of the American Indian and all swimming experts, who have watched him swim have listed him as a winner. Lee Fourier, nationally known swimming and endurance instructor, who holds several records of her own and has trained many others, who came in first, last month offered to train young Turner for the contest without remuneration. She saw him perform at Klamath last summer and is willing to gamble on him. "I get many to train," she writes, "but they are not Gordon Turners."

He graduated from the Medford high school in June and was to be entered in the Catalina swim. With the abandonment of that contest type of entering the Toronto race was born. The championship, which he hopes to attain was won last year by E. F. Keating of New York, who made the 18 mile swim in 8 hours, 18 minutes and 13 1/2 seconds.

Gordon makes his home with his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Bailey of 102 Mistletoe street.

LAKEVIEW COMING IN FORCE SUNDAY TO DOWN LOCALS

The Lakeview team of the South Oregon league caravan of boosters for the annual rodeo of that city will arrive in town tomorrow for the game at the fair grounds with the Medford team. It should be one of the best games of the season as the two teams are evenly matched.

The locals will have the services of Cliff Best, southpaw hurler, and pitted against him will be Baker, University of Oregon star. Valencia will return to the game for the locals and play first base, but Chester, the heavy hitting third baseman, is still out with a sore ankle. Half the proceeds of the game will go to him.

One of the largest crowds of the season is expected to see the contest. Eddie Mack, Denver lightweight, carried a recommendation from the governor of Colorado to New York in an attempt to crack the big time.
