ASKS PARALYSIS VICTIMS FOR AID AGAINST DISEASE

Not that an epidemic of infantile paralysis is in any way threatened, but as a preventive measure, and to be of benefit to sporadic cases that break out from time to time in the county, Dr. B. C. Wilson, county health officer, today made the appeal that all persons under the jurisdiction of the health department, having had infantile paralysis in the past five years, communicate with the department as quickly as possible.

The persons having had the disease are in a position to furnish a serum that is beneficial to sufferers of the disease if it is administered during the preliminary stages ranging around three days before actual paralysis begins. The serum is an anti-toxin that is proving successful in many instances.

At the present time there are two cases in the county.
