APPRECIATE MEDFORD MORE AFTER LEAVING
WRITES JOHN VELTON
That Medford and the Rogue valley continue to hold a prominent place in the hearts of former residents, is evidenced in a letter just received by H. L. Bromley, Copco advertising manager, from John E. Velton, former district manager of the Metropolitan Life Insurance company. Mr. Velton, who is now district manager with headquarters at Ogden, Utah, writes in part as follows:

"Medford is a wonderful place—like many other fine things, however, you don't really appreciate Medford until you leave and then you sort of yearn to go back and enjoy the nice climate and the atmosphere of fine fellowship of which it abounds."

Mr. Velton sent his regards to his many friends in the vicinity, all of whom will be glad to hear of his continued success with the Metropolitan Life Insurance company.

DRUM CORPS SPORTS
ALUMINUM HELMETS
The Medford Legion drum corps will be equipped with new river helmets when they leave for the state convention at Baker next week.

The helmets which are of light weight aluminum with an attractive silver finish will be made up in regulation design and should add greatly to the appearance of the local corps.

New felt hats of the crusher type have also been ordered for the fatigue, or every-day uniforms which will be worn except for dress purposes.

An important drill session will be held at the high school field tonight and local citizens who wish to see the corps in action are invited to attend.
