City Health Officer Gives Council Plan to Minimize Problem of Septic Tank Overflow, Pending New Plant Installation.

Although it has long been recognized and discussed by city officials that Medford must have a new sewage disposal system within a very few years, and the matter of inaugurating a new one has been deferred from time to time because it will entail a bond issue of not less than $150,000 to defray the cost, the subject was brought up again at the special city council meeting this forenoon by Dr. L. D. Inskip, city health officer, who outlined a plan by which the city could save money gradually to build a new sewage disposal plant and avoid the necessity of a big bond issue.

This plan, if found feasible on further investigation, will enable the city to make use of the present septic tank for several years yet, if the city officials adopt still another plan ventured by Dr. Inskip to daily flush the sewage from the septic tank overflow out of Bear creek north.

Bad Situation

In bringing up the subject, Dr. Inskip stated that the Bear creek situation north of the city's septic tank at the Biddle road crossing is deplorable, due to the occasional overflow from the septic tank into that stream, especially at this time of the year when the liquid sewage putrefies and uses up the oxygen, which kills the fish. In the winter time there is no trouble of this kind, because of the constant flushing out of the creek.

He then outlined a plan of using the overflow and waste from the city's water system (both old and new lines) by conveying it by ditch to dilute the sewage and abate the nuisance in Bear creek north of the septic tank and flushing out the creek once or twice daily. By use of this plan Dr. Inskip held that the present septic tank could be used for several years yet.

His plan provided that the overflow city water could be brought in an open ditch to north of the septic tank and therefore the cost would be little. However, City Superintendent Scheffel declared the plan for an open ditch was not feasible, as such a ditch would have to cross a number of private properties, hence the overflow water must be piped, which would entail quite a cost.

Health Measure

The city officials, deeming that this matter is of great importance to the health and welfare of the city, thought the plan of converting

Captain Hawks in His Flying Torpedo

Capt. Frank M. Hawks, in his specially built "Travel Air" plane "Flying Torpedo," in which he made a new record between New York and Los Angeles, Wednesday in 13 hours, 35 minutes and 53 seconds.

Capt. Hawks is superintendent of aviation for the Texaco company, and is one of the best known fliers in North America. Served in the United States air service during the World War.

The captain superintended the construction of the ship known as "Texaco Number 13," at Wichita, Kansas.

The gas tanks, located between the engine and cockpit, carry 100 gallons of gasoline, sufficient for a crusing range of over 700 miles. The speed of the ship is from 210 to 250 miles per hour, has a 30-foot wing span and is 20 feet over all in length.

The flight was sponsored by the Texaco company, owners of the ship to demonstrate the feasibility of fast coast-to-coast transportation. Texaco gasoline and oil was used on the trip.

Traffic Assn. Discusses Problem of Rail Representatives — Calls Enjoyed in Winter.

The Rogue River Traffic association, at its noon meeting today met up with a diplomatic problem via placing of restrictions upon the calls of traveling representatives of the 200-odd railroads of the nation, upon the grounds that shippers during the fruit movement, are too busy to meet and greet. No action was taken until data can be gathered upon the closed season for traveling railroad representatives, in the Yakima and Wenatchee districts.

A shipper testified that he had passed upon a sign in a Yakima packing house, which read: "No traveling railroad representatives until February."

It developed during the discussion that the traveling representatives were generally clever conversationalists, with appealing personalities, bearing better than the average cigars, and the latest rib-tickling joke, and that the shippers enjoyed a call from them in the winter, but during the shipping season, it was something else again.

Shippers testified that railroad traveling representatives, always travel in droves, and swooped down upon their offices in mass formation. No one volunteered an explanation of this trait of the craft, but it was agreed that if one called, on a given day, they would all call that day.

The first weekly report of the shipping season showed that so far this week eight cars of Bartlett's had been shipped from this valley to eastern ports.

Today's session was the shortest in many months, as the members were in a rush to get back to their desks.

SCOUT TROOP BOASTS FAST MOVING TURTLE

Perhaps "Come on 7" is the turtle that escaped accidentally on purpose from Fred Collier's collection the other day, or stir up things among the other turtles in Jackson and Josephine counties. But whether he came from the drug store or some other shop, he is now in possession of the American Legion Boy Scout troop, No. 7.

These scouts have started a turtle race, at least they have issued their challenge to Scout troops in the Jackson and Josephine council defying anyone to surpass the galloping turtle "Come on 7."
