

OREGON IN LEAD OVER NORTHWEST

Final Census Figures Place Oregon First in Ten-Year Gain — Second in West Only to California — Official Revision Shows Reduction in Totals.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 8.—(AP)—Population of the continental United States for 1930 was announced today by the census bureau as 122,698,190, an increase of 16,987,570, or 16.1 per cent over 1920.

Adding in the total inhabitants of the possessions and territories of the United States, the bureau found the total population of the United States for 1930 was 124,848,899, or 16.1 per cent over 1920.

This was 31,282 under the compilation made on the basis of preliminary official figures from supervisors by the Associated Press. The figures have been under revision by the census bureau since they were received from the states.

The bureau said the figures announced today also were subject of considerable change was expected. The population for the various states in 1930, as compared with 1920, includes:

	1930	1920	Increase	Pct. Inc.
Montana	536,332	548,889	12,557 (dec.)	2.3 (dec.)
Idaho	445,837	431,866	13,971	3.2
Utah	502,582	449,396	53,186	11.8
Washington	1,561,976	1,356,621	205,355	15.1
Oregon	952,691	783,389	169,302	21.6
California	5,672,969	3,426,861	2,246,108	65.5

SPEND $25,000 ON CRATER LAKE ROAD IN FALL

Horace M. Albright, Director of National Parks, Gives Good News to Medford—Call for Bids in Fall—Spend Million Eventually.

By S. S. Smith.

"In all my visits to Crater Lake I was never so impressed with its scenic grandeur and with the importance of the park in the chain of national parks as I was on this trip," said Horace M. Albright, director of the National Park Service, on his return Thursday evening from a two days visit to the park, in company with Superintendent E. C. Solinsky.

"Since my last visit here eight or nine years ago, when I was assistant to the late director, Stephen A. Mather, there have been wonderful improvements in the roads to the park, trails, landscaping, in camp grounds, lodge, the addition of a cafeteria store and the information bureau, in charge of Chief Ranger Godfrey and his pleasing assistants, all of which adds to the pleasure and comfort of the people, who in reality own the parks.

"I also want to compliment the state highway commission for the wonderful work they have done and are doing in keeping up the highway to the lake, and with the clean-up of logs and brush along the highway. The park service is cooperating with this work in the park and it is now a pleasure to drive along the scenic route to the lake.

"Construction of a new road to encircle the tip of the gigantic volcanic cup—Crater Lake—which will cost in the neighborhood of a million dollars, will commence early next year. There is a quarter of a million already available for the work, and we will pre-empt this fall for the 35-mile drive, which will be one of the most outstanding scenic highways in the world."

Mr. Albright was delighted with the big increase in attendance at Crater Lake and predicts this will continue from year to year.

"Other improvements at the lake," said the director, "will include a lookout on Victor Rock, to cost about $10,000, extensive landscaping along the rim of the lake, which is now in progress, and the extension of walks and trails."

Mr. Albright has been in the National Park Service for ten years, was superintendent of Yellowstone and assistant to Director Mather until his death, and a year and a half ago when he was chosen to take the place of the deceased.

Mr. Albright is a warm friend of the former superintendent of the park, Alec Sparrow, now county judge, visited the lake several times when Mr. Sparrow was in charge, and a representative of this paper had the pleasure of a short visit with both of these men last evening.

Mr. Albright was taken out to the Kirtland farm, for a short visit, by Mr. Sparrow previous to his leaving for San Francisco. From the latter city Mr. Albright will go to Glacier National park, where he will meet President Hoover for a tour of several parks. Owing to limited time, the president will be unable to visit Crater Lake.

ROUGHAGE IN DIET NEEDED IN REDUCING

Kelogg's ALL-BRAN Eliminates Danger

Are you one of those who are reducing by diet? If so, there is one important thing you should know—diets that do not include roughage cause constipation, often with serious consequences. Guard against it!

Kelogg's ALL-BRAN contains the roughage needed to insure regular elimination. It is guaranteed to relieve both temporary and recurring constipation or your money will be refunded. Two tablespoons daily—in serious cases, with each meal.

Kelogg's ALL-BRAN is not fattening. But it does add valuable iron to the blood which helps prevent anemia (another dieting danger) and being a glowing, healthy color to the complexion.

You can enjoy Kelogg's ALL-BRAN in many delightful ways. As a ready-to-eat cereal with milk, honey, sprinkled over cereals and salads, in soups and soaked in fruit juices. It is appetizing in cookies, food. Your grocer has Kelogg's ALL-BRAN in the red-and-green package. Made by Kelogg in Battle Creek.

CHAMPION DEAF HITCHHIKER ON VISIT TO VALLEY

Wandering for the past seven years from state to state and country to country, Ralph K. Bradford, 32, self-proclaimed champion deaf mute hitch hiker, arrived in Medford yesterday, en route this time from Paris, France to San Diego, Calif., and return to New York City, selling cards along the way to defray expenses.

He is capitalizing on a notice he recently received in Robert Ripley's "Believe It Or Not" columns, recognizing him as a person unusual in the present day. Bradford claims to lost his speech and hearing 29 years ago as a result of an attack of infantile paralysis. He took up hitchhiking in an effort to regain his health and so far has been successful.

He will be in Medford until tomorrow. He has been attracting considerable attention on the streets because of a blue French war helmet he is wearing.

of flying time the great distances of the old world no longer exist. Nations and races are not separated by the traditional obstacles of carthbound travel. There are no inland cities of the air and no natural obstructions to his movement.

Col. Lindbergh told his listeners all over the world if the principle he accepted that life today is preferable to that of ancient times then it is logical to assume that any future improvement in transportation

LOCAL HUNTERS SHOOT HAWKS TO SAVE PHEASANTS

The war is now on between local sportsmen and hawks at the southern Oregon branch of the State Game farm, where 1200 young pheasants, hatched by domestic hens, await their fate in ignorance. If the hawks don't get them now, the sportsmen will get them later. But the little striped fluff balls, just out of the eggs, the awkward young birds, who are developing most unbecoming wing and tail feathers; and those who are learning to fly, are unaware that they are being raised for future frying.

They flee to the shelter sponsored by the Jackson County Game Protective association when the ambitious birds swoop low over the field near Rogue Lands.

The hawks are getting numerous and sportsmen don't want to be deprived of the opportunity to shoot at the 1200 birds they are raising to restock southern Oregon to game.

Mr. Lindbergh said that the population will result in a corresponding advance in methods of living.

Asks Uniform Flying Rules

Saying the distances of places has been judged by their accessibility, Col. Lindbergh expressed the belief aviation would replace former false impressions of geography with a true order of location.

"The ease of travel between Canada, Mexico, and the United States, for instance," he said, "will undoubtedly bring about still closer cooperation between them."

He closed his address with a plea for uniform air regulations among nations, saying that one of the most important factors contributing to the rapid expansion of airlines in the United States had been our federal supervision and consequent freedom from local restriction.

★ WHITE STAR ★ TUNA

CAUGHT in the cool clear depths of open waters, this tender, flavorful sea delicacy has a distinctive appeal. Put up in spotless kitchens by the largest canners of tuna in the world. Reaches you fresh as when packed, ready to serve.

TOASTED TUNA SANDWICHES

1 can White Star Tuna
1 cup mayonnaise
1 teaspoon salt
dash cayenne
1 tablespoon lemon juice
6 slices toasted bread

2 tablespoons anchovy paste
2 tablespoons butter
8 ripe olives
1 large tomato
1/2 head lettuce
2 dill pickles

Mix Tuna, mayonnaise, salt, cayenne, and anchovy paste and spread this on slices of toast. Add Tuna mixture to half the toast slices, cover with remaining slices, garnish with lettuce, slices of tomato, sliced pickles, and olives.
