Dr. Heckman will also leave at that time for a trip to the eastern states.

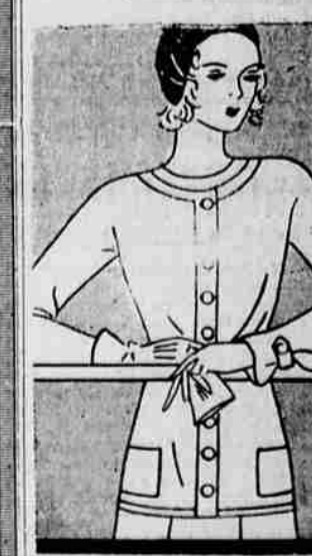

Miss Helen Pollock of Salem, who is returning from a several weeks' tour of the east, having spent the major part of the summer in Minneapolis, is also expected to be a guest at the Heckman home this week.

FOR CAMPUS AND CLASSROOM

College-bound—bag and baggage! The most important incident of each college year is timed before the academic portals gape wide for their annual influx—the incident is choosing the college wardrobe. Sophisticated or ingenuo, fraternity woman or non-frat, this shop helps them all find the smart yet practical togs that will "see them through" the college year. And helps to keep within allowances, too.

The girl who desires to be completely "enshelled" will be certain to schedule a four-piece costume of top-coat, often fur trimmed, and three-piece two-d jacket. A two-piece jacket-blouse dress with a smart belt, or a coat dress. And even the most sophisticated will lend her support to the "little girl" fashion for sportswear—the sleeveless jumper frock worn with separate blouses. . . . Then there are dance frocks, and active sport things for whatever you choose to go out for. Mother will appreciate authoritative advice on what is and what isn't. At your service!
