HOOVER TO STAND BY INSURGENT

President Instructs New G. O. P. Chairman That if Senator Norris Wins He Will Get Complete Support of Party—Primary Battle On Today.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12.—(AP)—Bolting the party fold in 1928 to support Alfred E. Smith for president will not cost Senator Norris of Nebraska, support of the Republican national machine if he is successful today in obtaining his party's renomination.

This edict was given out late yesterday by Senator Fess of Ohio, the new chairman of his party's national committee, following a conference at the White House.

"The national committee can make no discrimination among candidates," Fess said. "It is interested only in the principles involved. It is the duty of the committee to support the nominees chosen in party primaries."

The statement was made in reply to a question on whether Norris would be supported. At the same time Fess, leaving for a 10 days' vacation on the Great Lakes, said immediately upon his return the national organization would be ready to open a vigorous campaign for the renomination of the party's nominees to senate and house seats.

He outlined as outstanding issues of the general campaign, President Hoover's administration, the tariff and farm relief. He discounted both prohibition and the world court issue as campaign topics, saying both questions cut too deeply into both parties to become a source of conflict between Republicans and Democrats.

(By the Associated Press)

The political fate of national figures hung in the balance today as voters of five states went to the polls to choose party nominees for state and federal officers.

The veteran Senator George W. Norris of Nebraska, faced two opponents for the Republican senatorial nomination in a primary intensified in interest by his defection from the Republican ranks in 1928, to support Alfred E. Smith, the Democratic presidential nominee.

In Arkansas, Senator Joe T. Robinson, Democratic leader, and 1928 vice-presidential candidate, faced primary opposition for the first time in 12 years.

The colorful J. Thomas Heflin, senator from Alabama, was forced to step aside at today's primary by state leaders, leaving the party's senatorial contest in Alabama between John H. Bankhead, of Jasper and Frederick I. Thompson, Mobile publisher. Heflin, however, was urging the voters to stay away from the polls today. He will run against the Democratic winner as an independent candidate in the November elections.

In Oklahoma and Ohio, the Democrats selected candidates to oppose the Republican senatorial incumbents—W. B. Pine and Roscoe C. McCulloch, neither of whom had opposition within their party.

GRECIAN LINES IN WINTER DRESSES

Grecian lines have conquered feminine styles and will predominate during the coming fall and winter in dresses for most occasions, Mrs. Adrienne Steward announced this morning upon return from a three weeks' review of fashion forecasts in the markets and shows of San Francisco and Los Angeles. While in the southern cities Mrs. Steward interviewed numerous New York buyers, who announce the same style trends for the east.

Dresses for street wear will remain three and four inches below the knee while those for formal occasions are allowed to wander over the heels if the wearer so desires. She attended the hat show at the Cocoanut Grove and states that cushions or double brims are favored in chapeaux. Mrs. Steward went on to Tia Juana for a short vacation before returning to Medford.

MAN WHO SLEPT IN JAIL A YEAR AGO, A PRISONER

Jack Goldberg of New York Held for Breaking in Medford Home—Asked for Lodging Last August and Got Two Bits.

He entered the jail by choice a year ago. He is held there today, charged with burglary and bound over to the grand jury with bail set at $1000. He came there to sleep the first time. He has been many places and done many things during the intervening year. But he recognized his old bed when he re-entered the jail a few days ago. He also recognized Ike Dunford, county jailer, and introduced himself as Jack Goldberg of New York.

"You're the man who gave me a bed and a quarter about a year ago," he told Ike as he entered his iron latticed abode.

"I didn't recognize him at first" Ike stated yesterday, "but when he mentioned the bed and quarter I knew he was the same fellow who waked me up last summer.

"My car was parked just outside the jail. I heard someone get in it and grabbed my gun and rushed out. The fellow said he was just looking for some place to sleep so I brought him into the jail. The next morning I gave him a quarter and sent him on his way. He went across the continent, but he's sleeping in the jail again tonight."

Goldberg is charged with burglary of the J. J. Osenbrugge residence.

TRANSIENT HELD FOR HEN HOUSE RAID AT PHOENIX

Tate Edwards' chicken coops at Phoenix are not apt to be molested again as long as Edwards can move about and handle a rifle. Last night he heard a noise in the pen, procured a rifle from the house, secreted himself behind some bushes and took a shot in the general direction of the noise. The disturbance stopped, and a few minutes later W. Rumble, a transient, was captured by Edwards and two or three neighbors. In justice court here today, Rumble was bound over to the grand jury on a burglary charge with bail set at $500.

Since last spring, chicken thieves have been making regular visits to his poultry roosts and 38 chickens were taken. Last Thursday night, seven hens were stolen and last night another visit was being made when Edwards heard the noise.

He took a shot at the chicken pen and for a time thought he had struck the prowler. The shot attracted the attention of passers-by, J. C. Merraug, Emery Layton and W. T. Brown. They came over to ascertain the trouble. They accompanied Edwards, a man past 77 years of age, to the door of the pen. The prowler was hidden in a corner and took a powerful swing at Edwards, striking him in the chest in an effort to make his escape. However, with the assistance of the three men, Rumble was taken in custody and held until Deputy Sheriff Oscar Dunford arrived on the scene.

Edwards said today that he attempted to raise his rifle to shoot at close range, but Rumble's pugilistic activities prevented him from shooting.

MERCURY EBBS TO NEAR ZERO IN MANY AREAS

Frost Reported in New England and Pennsylvania, and Temperatures Take Cool Dive, Generally—Local Temperature 94 at Noon.

(By the Associated Press)

The weather almost all over the country took a long cool dive today, in some places nearly to the freezing point.

In temperatures reported to the Associated Press from all sections of the country there were a number of 30's and most were 50's and 60's. The highest was 85 degrees at Miami and the lowest 34 at Burrville, Conn.

Frost was reported in New England and Pennsylvania and in many places new low records for the date were established. The drop was precipitate in most places from the extreme heat of the past several weeks, in some instances amounting to a degree an hour for the past two days. Rain was reported from some drouth-stricken localities.

In some sections there was crop damage by the sudden cold, but this was less than it would have been if the preceding heat and drought had not already done about all the damage there was to do.

Continued cool was the forecast.

Although there have been a number of thunder or electrical storms high up in the mountains surrounding the valley during the past few days, and threatening storm clouds have been seen on the valley horizon a number of times, making it seem that they were headed this way they have as yet failed to materialize, and the mountain storms having failed to bring a cooler valley atmosphere, the heat spell is still on, with low humidity.

The maximum of yesterday was 99, reached late in the afternoon, and despite a haziness or smoky condition today caused by smoke drifting into the valley from forest fires to the north, indications were for a similar maximum this afternoon. At noon the maximum was 94, two degrees less than the noon maximum of yesterday.

NEW COLLEGIANS GET CREDENTIALS

Those planning on entering colleges and universities for the fall term are urged by Principal C. C. Smith to obtain their credentials immediately. Mr. Smith is now in his office at the high school, having returned from a two weeks' vacation Sunday.

As part of the application must be filled out by the student, it is necessary that he appear at the high school in order to fill out the blanks according to regulations.

Damage in this section was estimated at about $300,000, with much of the destruction beyond reclamation.

E. C. Knowlton, assistant engineer of the state road commission, said the flood was the worst in the history of Davis county, surpassing destruction caused by a similar flood seven years ago when several persons were killed.

Repair work was started today on railroads, communication lines and highways. Those made homeless were being cared for in small towns.

JAIL FLYER FOR BOMBS ON KY. MINE

Paul Montgomery, Whose Plane Answers Description of Raider, Claims He Went Aloft to 'Sober Up' and Tells of Mystery Plane.

MURPHYSBORO, Ill., Aug. 12.—(AP)—Paul Montgomery, local aviator, was arrested here today by Sheriff William Faulagan for investigation in connection with the airplane bombing of mining properties in the vicinity of Province, Ky., yesterday.

Montgomery's arrest followed receipt of a telephone call from Sheriff Overbee of Dixon, Ky., that a warrant for the aviator in connection with the bombing outrage had been issued there.

Three men who came here this morning from the Kentucky coal field conferred with county authorities, advising that they had some evidence on Montgomery. The nature of the evidence was not revealed.

The aviator, who had talked of a Rome-to-Dallas flight this summer, declined to make any statement other than to deny he had flown in the vicinity of Providence yesterday or that he had any connection with the air raid. Immediately after his arrest he asked for permission to engage counsel.

Montgomery's orange and black monoplane answers the general description of the ship that dropped nine bombs in the vicinity of Providence yesterday. He admitted having had the plane up early yesterday when he was first questioned last night but said he merely went up for a brief flight to "sober up" after having been intoxicated Sunday night.

He reported having seen a "strange plane" answering the description of the bombing plane near Pinckneyville while he was flying, but said it was too far away for him to identify. Pinckneyville is near here and Murphysboro is about 90 miles from Providence, Ky.

DIXON, Ky., Aug. 12.—(AP)—The The Webster county sheriff's office today declined to announce the charge designated in the warrant issued here for Paul Montgomery, aviator, arrested at Murphysboro, Ill., as a suspect in the mine bombing at Providence yesterday. It was said nothing would be given out until other suspects were apprehended. Further arrests were expected today or tomorrow, Sheriff R. L. Overby said.
