

MAIL CARRIERS START MONDAY ON NEW ROUTES

Additional Service For City and Environs Effective—Mounted Service for 350 Families, Twice Daily.

Tomorrow the additional daily mail carrier service to outlying sections of the city both by mounted carrier and extended foot carrier service, in accordance with that has been recently granted by the postoffice department at Washington, D. C., to meet the carrier needs of fast growing Medford, will go into effect. The details of this additional service were published in the Mail Tribune a short time ago.

By this mounted service 350 families in outlying sections, including the Siskiyou heights district, which had hitherto been without carrier service, will begin to receive twice-a-day service, the mail to be delivered in an enclosed mail box placed at the curb in front of each home. Walter Wilson, substitute carrier of the Medford office, will be the mounted mail carrier, using a closed motor car for this delivery.

This mounted service, which makes in Sacred Heart hospital, covers the following streets: Williams and Ashland avenues, Glenn Oak court, the Siskiyou heights territory, the territory north of Jackson street, territory east of Crater Lake avenue, Riverside avenue from the present carrier delivery limits to the Owen Oregon mill, McAndrews road, Kenwood avenue and Western avenue.

In addition there will be an extended foot carrier service taking in 25 additional blocks with 50 families, who have heretofore been without carrier service.

There will also be a seven-hour auxiliary service for a portion of the city.

FEHL SUED BY GAME AIDE FOR RAID ARTICLE

Charging that his reputation was damaged by alleged libelous articles published November 20 in the Pacific Record Herald, Roy M. Parr, Ashland, deputy game warden, filed suit in circuit court late yesterday afternoon for $25,000 damages against Earl H. Fehl, owner and publisher.

In his complaint, the plaintiff set forth that he has been a resident of southern Oregon for the past 25 years and has been a deputy warden for seven years. The complaint hinges around the publication of an editorial wherein the officer is the subject of an attack as a result of his presence at a moonshine still raid in the Reeco creek section a short time ago and during which Everett Daback met death mysteriously when struck by a bullet.

The editorial accuses the plaintiff with being a party responsible for the man's death and insinuates murder, the complaint states. It states further this is a direct falsehood reflecting on the good reputation of the deputy.

The long editorial, covering the attack, is a part of the complaint, which also includes a front page article attacking action of officers during the raid.

The Pacific Record Herald editorially demanded the officer's resignation from the game service on grounds of his presence during the raid.

His presence was explained last night by Allison Moulton, attorney for the plaintiff, to the effect that the plaintiff was present due to a report of a game violation that had been given to him by the sheriff's office. The day before the raid, while the sheriff's office was watching the still, seized during the raid, officers said they saw a man come out of the woods nearby carrying a deer, out of season.

The deputy accompanied the raiding party in connection with the game matter and planned to arrest the poacher. Excitement during the raid delayed the matter and the violator was arrested the next day and fined in the Medford justice court.

LAUD YULE TREE PLAN FOR STREETS

The placing of large Christmas trees at intersections of Sixth street is regarded by city officials as a step forward to conserve small trees usually utilized for decorating streets in the business section during the holiday season. The trees are decorated with colored lights and present a pleasant effect on the street at night.

This method of decoration is deemed to be in keeping with other cities, where it has been successfully placed in effect. The possibility that traffic would be hindered by their installation was carefully thought over before the trees were placed in their present position, the officials said.

FRUIT FACILITIES TO BE INCREASED

Both packing and sales facilities are being increased by the Medford Fruit company, according to a statement which sets forth some of the things for which the management is thankful.

All of the 180's and larger Extra Bartlett's were sold by the Medford Fruit company at 75 cents per box for bare fruit net to grower. Larger Extra Bosc and 165's brought 58 cents for bare fruit to the grower, and Extra Anjou and 165's brought $1.28 per box for bare fruit to the grower, the advertisement in Friday's Mail Tribune stated.

The connections of the Medford Fruit company serve the entire United States, Canada, Europe and South America, and the Growers' Trust Fund distributing officers are bonded for the orchardists' protection.

BOY SAVED BUT SHASTA LIMITED HELD HALF HOUR

A boy's foolishness was cause of a minor accident at the Main street crossing of the Southern Pacific resulting in a minor accident to one of the coaches on the north-bound Shasta train about 7 o'clock last evening, which delayed the train about 35 minutes.

The train was approaching the crossing when the boy, who had been standing there, made up his mind suddenly to dash across in front of the engine.

"Look out! Oh! Githelienententhere!" shouted the alarmed Verne Cannon, President Sproule's local representative at the crossing. Fortunately the fireman saw the boy in time and shouted to the engineer to stop the train quick.

The engineer slammed on the air so suddenly and brought the train to such a sudden stop that just as the engine almost scraped the boy's body, the drawbar of a coach was broken. It took 35 minutes before the train crew could temporarily repair the break with a chain, etc., so that the train could proceed.

BARN REMOVAL TO BE COMPLETE JOB

The remaining six feet of the barn that stood on property owned by Charles A. Wing and D. E. Warren on Eleventh street is to be removed this week and work is to start tomorrow, Mr. Wing said last evening. Mr. Warren had removed over three-fourths of the barn last week, tearing it down to the point where the property line between two adjoining lots struck the building.

The remainder of the structure was left standing, presenting an odd sight to residents of that section of the city. However, it will be replaced by a new family garage as soon as possible for tenants of the house in front.

Mr. Wing is a believer in the removal of old buildings as a further step to beautify Medford and had felt for some time that the barn, used as a garage and storage place, was no credit to the property. He is welcoming its removal.

NANKING, Nov. 29.—(AP)—Beginning next year foreign faculty members of Chinese government colleges must study Chinese politics and history, especially the writings of Sun Yat-sen, "father of the republic."
