

ASHLAND POULTRY RAISERS STUDYING WORK OVER RADIO

OREGON STATE COLLEGE, Corvallis, Dec. 12.—(Sp)—Five hundred Oregon poultrymen, three of whom, Mrs. J. R. McCracken, Stanley Pagel and H. S. Gooding, are in Ashland, are going to college by radio this winter, being enrolled in the largest and most successful radio home study course ever conducted over KOAC, the state college station.

When Professor A. G. Linn, head of the poultry department, calls the roll over the microphone every Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock he can visualize actual recorded "students" extending from Canada to Utah and in 27 counties of Oregon.

Marion county leads in Oregon with 79; Linn is second with 69, Multnomah has 51, Lane 50, Clackamas 45 and Douglas 26. Ten have enrolled from Washington, six in California, two each in Idaho and Utah, and one in Canada.

Four-H club members have become interested and in Portland the poultry club of the Joseph Kellogg school has enrolled as a body.

The course consists of 20 lessons, covering principal phases of poultry management such as breeding, culling, brooding, feeding, housing and disease control. Text assignments are given as well as supplementary reading in college bulletins.

Though the course has been going for several weeks, new enrollments are being received at the rate of 10 to 20 a week.

BLACK LACE GOWN HAS GOLD LACE PANELS

WASHINGTON, Dec. 6.—(Sp)—Mrs. James J. Ament, wife of the president of National Park seminary, has an evening gown of black lace made over gold metal cloth. Insert panels of gold lace are embroidered in colored chenille of coral and blue.

The color motif is carried out in a large bow of coral, blue and gold at the waist. The shoes are of gold embroidered in the two other predominant colors.

With this she occasionally wears a white Russian ermine cape with a high rolling collar.

FRILLY BLOUSES APPEAR IN FIRST SPRING STYLES

PARIS, Dec. 6.—(Sp)—Frilly blouses, made feminine with rows of gathered lace on sheer materials like chiffon and organza are an advance spring trend easily discernible here.

At present a select few dressmakers are showing such blouses for wear with velvet broadtail cloth or dark velvet suits for afternoon wear.

The Wesson Oil people make

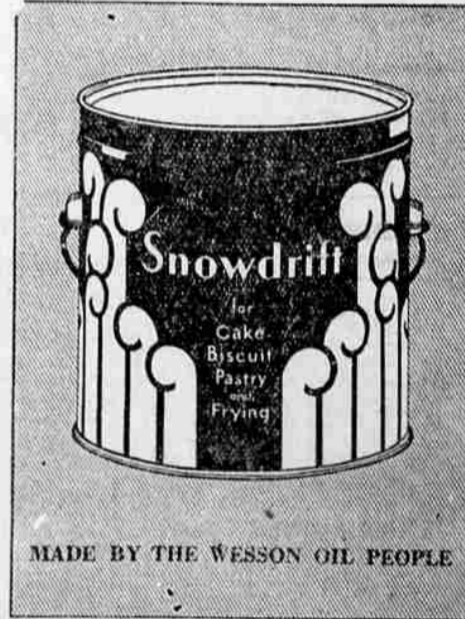

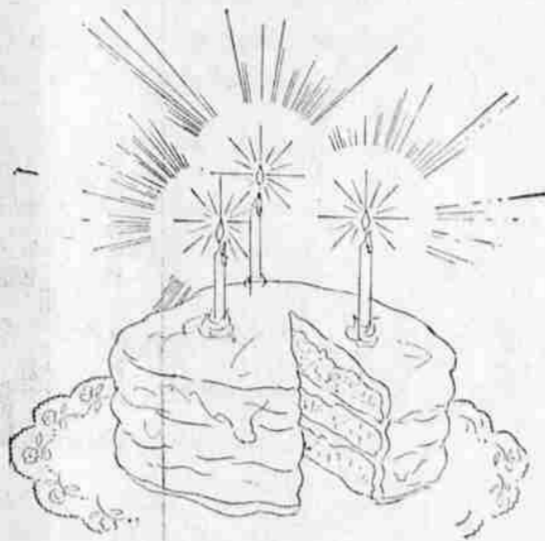

Snowdrift

for the people who want the nicest things to eat

SNOWDRIFT'S creaminess gives all your baking a light, even texture... because Snowdrift comes to you already creamed. It is smooth, spoonable and ready to mix. The Wesson Oil people make it of oil as pure and delicious and good-to-eat as a fine salad oil.

Weather does not affect it. In cold weather it doesn't get hard and in warm weather it doesn't get soft. It's just as friendly and smooth in December as it is in June. Sealed pails bring it to you as sweet and fresh as the day it was made.

Special Recipes

For the Hot Plum Pudding
 1/2 cup butter
 1 cup confectioners' sugar
 1 egg
 2 tablespoons cream
 1 teaspoon vanilla
 Cream butter and add sugar gradually. Add beaten egg and cream. Mix well. Add vanilla and beat over hot water until creamy—and you have a "golden pudding sauce" to serve hot with plum pudding.—By Sarah Field Splint in McCall's for December.

Eggs au Gratin Timely Dish
 Eggs-au gratin constitute not only a tasty luncheon or dinner dish, but one easy and inexpensive to prepare. Furthermore, because the eggs, milk and butter comprising the ingredients are rich in vitamin A, the dish serves to build up the resistance of the body against winter coughs and colds.

The dish is prepared as follows:
 2 tablespoons flour
 2 tablespoons butter
 1 cup milk
 6 eggs
 1 cup grated cheese
 1/2 tablespoon salt
 Make white sauce of flour, butter, salt and milk. Break eggs carefully into buttered baking dish. Cover with white sauce and then with grated cheese. Bake 15 minutes in moderate oven. Six servings.

Apple and celery salad is excellent with eggs au gratin.

Scrambled Eggs and Bacon
 Beat the eggs lightly with one tablespoon of cream or top milk for each egg, and season with salt and pepper. Pour the mixture into a pan containing one tablespoon of melted butter. Cook over hot water, stirring constantly until thickened. Remove and serve at once with crisp bacon.

HISTORIC PEN FOR ASHLAND NORMAL SCHOOL ARCHIVES

SOUTHERN OREGON STATE NORMAL SCHOOL, Ashland, Dec. 12.—(Sp)—The student body of the Southern Oregon State Normal school Monday was presented the pen with which Walter Pierce, while governor in 1926, signed the bill reestablishing the Southern Oregon State Normal school at Ashland. The pen has been in the keeping of O. H. Johnson, mayor of Ashland, since the passage of the bill.

It had been his hope to personally present the pen, but due to illness which recently proved fatal, the pen was presented by his son, Otis Johnson, a former student of the Southern Oregon State Normal school.

The pen was received on behalf of the student body by Wyatt Padgett, president of the Associated students. It will be in the custody of Sigma Epsilon Pi, the women's honorary scholarship fraternity which is the oldest honorary organization on the campus.

PUNCH WORK SMART ON DAYTIME SHOES

PARIS, Dec. 6.—(Sp)—Punch work figures conspicuously on the new daytime shoes and cut-out embroidery plays a part in ornamentation of evening slippers.

The cut-out work is limited to small designs and is executed in fabrics like crepe de chine or faille with insets of brocade or lace.

SPRING STYLES HINT OF LINGERIE COLLARS

PARIS, Dec. 12.—(Sp)—Advance notices of next spring's styles, hinted at in mid winter additions to style collections, indicate a furor of lingerie collars and sleeve touches.

Cushion lace, both white and colored, is seen at one important house, used as edging for slightly starched linen collars and jabots.

DEBUTANTE WEARS OUTFIT OF BLUE

WASHINGTON, Dec. 6.—(Sp)—Miss Margene Musser, a debutante of the season, wore at the first debutante ball a long dress of French blue chiffon with a large taffeta bow at the high waistline.

Long blue crystal ear rings, blue satin slippers and shoes, long blue suede gloves and a short wrap of blue carried out the color scheme to the last detail.

NERVY FUGITIVE AT POLICEMEN'S DANCE

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Dec. 12.—(Sp)—Having had the nerve to go to the policemen's annual ball, Walter Wilby of Rochester, a fugitive, is locked up. He had escaped from the Wyoming state institute. A policeman recognized him at the door.

Yessie! Neck-Ribbons!

PARIS, Dec. 6.—(Sp)—Neck ribbons are back after decades of oblivion. Parisians put a white gros-grain ribbon in the neck of dark daytime dresses. Many sport dresses have velvet ribbon bound necklines.

TO-DAY and TO-MORROW In The Feminine World

Colorful Undies for Little Folk

By EMMA LOU FETTA

HERS at the Home and Fashion Institute we have been wondering just what that old saying meant which said: "Children should be seen and not heard." Gazing at some old pictures of the way children "looked" in the days which gave rise to that saying, we decided that it wasn't fair. No one should be prohibited in doing a normal thing (such as being heard) if the alternative permitted is ugly, awkward, and unnatural. And certainly most of the children in these old pictures were all of that—even admitting that our sense of the beautiful in clothes changes several times with every generation.

Some people think the world is still a long way from being civilized, but certainly children are being given a better break. It must have been pretty awful to have to stand silently outside a circle of conversation, and at the same time look like a bedraggled little cook in an apron; or like any one of the things which most of these old-time pictures reminded us.

Today much attention is being given by children's wear designers to beauty-plus-practicability. No child need look ugly, awkward or unnatural. Moreover, that natural heritage of children—bright and pretty colors—is being deliberately and intelligently cultivated for youthful wear.

This trend has gone as far as the underwear field. We have been inspecting during the past few days some delightful new dainty cotton "undies" for youngsters. They have a sparkle, a smartness and a "color consciousness" all their own.

This "infant lingerie" was so gay that we asked two quite young ladies to put some on and pose for a photograph. They were delighted, despite the fact that the young person on the left got frightfully solemn at the moment the camera clicked. That however was later explained by the fact that the thought had suddenly occurred to her that "p'haps we didn't 'tend" to give her the little panties and vest into which we had intruded her for the picture.

These little garments we found particularly practical. The durable cotton is, as you probably know, a fine porous thread made under standardized sterilizing conditions and almost as durable as silk. Moreover it has a fine, sensible luster—not as sophisticated as silk, but delicate and most appropriate for children.

The little panties, and shirts, nighties, union suits, vests and bands which we saw were all in delicate and appealing pastel shades infinitely more appealing and child-like than dull white. We thought you'd like to hear about them.

REDS PLOTTING DEATH OF CHINESE PRESIDENT

KIUKIANG, Chins, Dec. 12.—(Sp)—President Chiang Kai-Shek left here unexpectedly today for Nanking instead of going to Hankow as scheduled to direct the government's campaign against communists and bandits.

Hankow advisers said authorities there had uncovered an alleged communist plot to assassinate the president upon his arrival in that city.
