

Local and Personal

Christmas Mailing Becomes Brisk

For the first time since the Christmas mailing period set in, business was brisk at the post-office this forenoon, but not brisk enough for people to form waiting lines in front of the windows with packages destined for eastern and middle west addresses. With the sunshine prevailing the outlook was that there would be a still heavier mailing of Christmas parcels this afternoon. The peak of long distance mailing will probably be on Monday.

Lindsey Church Scene Big Sensation In Week's News Says Journalism Student

Interesting in itself for the sensational element in it, Fred Colvig selected Judge Ben Barr Lindsey's prayer-meeting eruption as the biggest news event of the week; not for that reason, but because it revives the age-old question of "What will we do about the marriage question?"

Colvig was adjudged winner of this week's essay contest at Medford high school, sponsored by the Mail Tribune and the Journalism class. His essay follows:

The greatest news event of the week is Judge Lindsey's flare-up in St. John's cathedral with Bishop Manning, Sunday, December 7. This choice was not made because the account was so sensational, nor because of the exciting mob scene, but because this story portrays the aged conflict between new ideas and the old conservatism.
