NEW COUNCILMEN WATCH TECHNIQUE OF VETERAN DADS

One city councilman-elect who takes his coming entrance into city administration circles seriously and curiously is C. C. Furnas, who in the way of seeing how city business is transacted and to better inform himself as to future duties, has attended three recent city council sessions, the last time the adjourned session of last night.

When he attended the first meeting the councilman-elect from the third ward, the newspaper men and city officials thought he was present out of curiosity, and Charles' second appearance threw all city hall attaches up in the air, but when he attended last night's session, again as an onlooker, the newspapermen decided that he was a student for punishment.

After the session closed Mr. Furnas was seen in earnest consultation with his fellow councilman, J. O. Gray of that ward, and Mayor-elect E. M. Wilson. The interest of Mr. Furnas in city affairs is all the more noticeable as the new council does not assume office until January 6th. Bob Hammond, Charley Wins, Jim Collins and Gene Thornbyke, outgoing councilmen, simply can't get it thru their heads why anyone should attend a council meeting who does not have to, and hence deem Mr. Furnas' conduct as strange. Curtis Darby, councilman-elect from the first ward, was present at last Tuesday night's city council meeting as an onlooker and to get somewhat of a line on the duties of councilman, outside of receiving abuse cheerfully from the public. The outgoing councilmen, and even some of the hold-overs, just can't understand it.
