WILD BEAUTY

by MATEEL HOWE FARNHAM

SYNOPSIS: Ever since Fanny Frost's married friend Pearl she has been subjected to the advice of her mother-in-law. Lucian tells the rider Mrs. Frost to David's parental home only makes their classes more frequent and intense. David, preoccupied with his work in his uncle's bank, is blind to Fanny's distress. So she develops a strong friendship with Bob Daniels, married unhappily to Leila, David's cousin. David knows this, but trusts Bob, not suspecting he is deeply in love with Fanny. Bob has told Fanny he plans to run away and leave his unsympathetic wife on Hollister's yacht. David and Fanny go to a costume party that evening, but a quarrel over money starts their evening off wrong.

Chapter 24

A MOMENT OF WEAKNESS

WHEN the party was at its height, Bob Daniels appeared suddenly at Fanny's elbow, dressed in a shapeless white gown and completely masked with a grinning death's head. Fanny did not recognize him until he whispered his identity to her.

"You didn't think, did you, that I would go away without a good-by?" he asked while they were dancing.

"I didn't know. I felt dreadfully abused. Are you actually going tonight?"

"I actually am. My car's outside with my trunk strapped on the back. Leila got suspicious—kept such a watch on me I had to let it down out of my window by a rope—and shin down myself." He laughed gleefully.

"Are you actually going tonight?" Fanny asked Bob as they danced.

"I ought to scold you," said Fanny, "but I can't. I don't believe you are much over seven years old."

She was immediately happier, now that Bob had not gone off without a word of farewell. Her black depression, which she had been fighting hectically all evening, showed a silver edge; at least she was of paramount importance to someone.

A passing waiter cached a tray of glasses filled with champagne behind a palm and Fanny drank one glass, then two. It was such a good joke on the waiter. A little later she made no objection when Bob guided her through a side door, down the steps and along the path to the sunken garden.

The little garden might itself have been a ghost in the moonlight—the ghost of a more romantic, more tactful, more mettlesome age. An ancient figure of Pan played on his pipes and watched them covertly. To Fanny he seemed to be laughing to himself, mocking their youth and dreams and trivial gropings after the stars.

"Do you know what that old boy is saying?" asked Bob, taking Fanny's hand.

"Tell me."

"He says that he is incredibly old and incredibly wise; that he has outlived all the old gods and will outlive all the new. His message to us is to snatch at the rosebuds as they come our way—to eat and drink and laugh and love our fill, while there is still spring in our heart; for autumn is just around the corner—and our backs soon will be bowed and our blood run cold."

"My blood's running ice this minute—and I don't like your old friend Take me back," said Fanny.

"In a minute—do stay a minute," Bob coaxed.

She could never recall very clearly that quarter of an hour. There was a haze over everything—she had no right to find her thoughts, to speak clearly. But it did not matter; Bob would take care of her. The truth is—there is no use beating around the bush—that Fanny had had too much champagne.

When Bob assured her that she loved him—loved him without knowing it—she accepted it as a fact. Isn't she been wretched, desolate all evening? Undoubtedly, as Bob said, it was because she had never expected to see him again. It was true too, as Bob pointed out, that David did not love her, that neither he nor she was happy; that their marriage was one long mistake. She began to cry.

Bob covered her hand with kisses, comforted her—weeping with pity for David—murmured endearments, dried her tears and drew her close, assuring her gently that if she loved him, loved him even a little, there was no shadow of a reason why everyone should not be happy. Leila's and David's pride might be a little hurt at first, but Fanny could not imagine that either would be hurt deeply.

All the time there was beating, beating through Fanny's mind, just below all these other thoughts, the thought of Sheila her baby. She did not want to face it, but it was there like heartbeats.

Bob went on urging. Tomorrow a ship sailed from New York for Mexico. And in Mexico anyone could be divorced in two weeks. In two weeks they would be free—everybody free, everybody happy. As Bob told it, it sounded extremely simple and reasonable. By going to Mexico with Bob, Fanny could make David happy—set him free.

"But of course, there's Sheila," Fanny protested.

Bob argued that only by summoning courage to break away would Fanny ever be able to give Sheila the happy childhood which was her due. When Fanny was free Sheila's life would no longer be poisoned by the breath of strife and the tyranny of David's mother.

Now Fanny listened with a new sense of Bob's wisdom; she followed his words as in dreams we accept some formula that seems to explain the universe. Bob had thought of everything. He told how, once he and Fanny were married, he would come back, steal Sheila and spirit her over the border to Canada. Fanny insisted that they take Sheila along in the first place, but Bob said firmly that was impossible.

Fanny still hesitated, held even in her befogged state by the dread of separation from her child. Bob asked her curtly if she did not love Sheila enough to run a little risk for her? Or was she willing that Sheila should spend all her young formative years hampered and hedged and curbed by a thousand ancient prejudices, by petty stifling regulations? Heavens above, did she want Sheila to be a Brownbeck?

That was the final argument. Fanny did not want Sheila to be a Brownbeck. She would free David, rescue Sheila, make Bob happy—everybody happy, except herself. But what did it matter about herself? David didn't love her, David didn't want her. Nobody wanted her but Bob. Bob led her to the car sobbing and clinging wildly to him.

Five minutes later, wrapped to the eyes in furs, they were speeding down the long white track of the state road. It was glorious—Fanny laughed out loud. Forty, 50, 60 miles an hour—bathed in moonlight, between walls of black and leafless trees which lined the way solidly. What did anything matter but this? This was love. She was in love with Bob—and had not known till now. She wanted to scream aloud that she was free, free of the Brownbecks. Forever and ever! Faster, faster! Seventy miles. Oh, the fun of running away!

ORDINANCE NO. 2636

AN ORDINANCE declaring the assessment on the property benefited for the cost of constructing a sewer in the alley between Jeanette avenue and Louis avenue from West Main street south to city boundary; and directing the Recorder to enter a statement thereof in the Docket of City Liens and to publish a notice thereof as required by the Charter

THE CITY OF MEDFORD DOTH ORDAIN AS FOLLOWS:

Section 1. WHEREAS, the City Council did heretofore by ordinance declare its intention to construct a sewer in the alley between Jeanette avenue and Louis avenue and from West Main street south to city boundary, and to assess the cost thereof upon each lot or part thereof adjacent to and benefited by such improvement, its proportionate share of the cost of said improvement, and did fix the time and place for hearing protests against the construction of said sewer, and the assessment of the cost thereof, as aforesaid. And

WHEREAS said Ordinance was duly posted and published as required by Section 70 of the Charter of said city. And

WHEREAS a meeting of the Council was held at the time and place fixed in said Ordinance for the purpose of considering any such protests, but no protests were at such time, or at any time made to, or received by the Council to the construction of said sewer, or the assessing of the cost thereof, as aforesaid, and said Council has considered the matter and deeming that said construction of said sewer was and is of material benefit to said city, and that all the property to be assessed therefor will be benefited thereby to the extent of the probable amount of the respective assessments to be levied against said property, did order the construction of said sewer. And

WHEREAS the cost of said sewer has been and hereby is determined to be the sum of $7213.84.

NOW, THEREFORE, it is hereby further determined that the proportionate share of the cost of constructing of said sewer, on each parcel of property adjacent to said improvement and benefited thereby, is the amount set opposite the description of each piece or parcel of land below, and that each piece of parcel of land is benefited by the construction of said sewer, to the full extent of the amount so set opposite such piece or parcel and that the respective amounts represent the proportional benefits of said sewer to said respective parcels of property, and the Council does hereby declare each of the parcels of property described below, and each of the same is hereby assessed the amount set opposite each respective description, for the cost of construction of said sewer.

ORDINANCE NO. 2637

AN ORDINANCE declaring the assessment on the property benefited for the cost of constructing a sewer in the alley between Chestnut avenue and Jeanette avenue from West Main street south to city boundary; and directing the Recorder to enter a statement thereof in the Docket of City Liens and to publish a notice thereof as required by the Charter.

THE CITY OF MEDFORD DOTH ORDAIN AS FOLLOWS:

Section 1. WHEREAS, the City Council did heretofore by Ordinance declare its intention to construct a sewer in the alley between Chestnut avenue and Jeanette avenue from West Main street south to city boundary, and to assess the cost thereof upon each lot or part thereof adjacent to and benefited by such improvement, its proportionate share of the cost of said improvement, and did fix the time and place for hearing protests against the construction of said sewer, and the assessment of the cost thereof, as aforesaid. And

WHEREAS said Ordinance was duly posted and published as required by Section 70 of the Charter of said city. And

WHEREAS a meeting of the Council was held at the time and place fixed in said Ordinance for the purpose of considering any such protests, but no protests were at such time, or at any time made to, or received by the Council to the construction of said sewer, or the assessing of the cost thereof, as aforesaid, and said Council has considered the matter and deeming that said construction of said sewer was and is of material benefit to said city, and that all the property to be assessed therefor will be benefited thereby to the extent of the probable amount of the respective assessments to be levied against said property, did order the construction of said sewer. And

WHEREAS the cost of said sewer has been and hereby is determined to be the sum of $2256.32.

NOW, THEREFORE, it is hereby further determined that the proportionate share of the cost of constructing of said sewer, on each parcel of property adjacent to said improvement and benefited thereby, is the amount set opposite the description of each piece or parcel of land below, and that each piece or parcel of land is benefited by the construction of said sewer, to the full extent of the amount so set opposite such piece or parcel and that the respective amounts represent the proportional benefits of said sewer to said respective parcels of property, and the council does hereby declare each of the parcels of property described below, and each of the same is hereby assessed the amount set opposite each respective description, for the cost of the construction of said sewer.

ORDINANCE NO. 2638

AN ORDINANCE declaring the assessment on the property benefitted for the cost of constructing a sewer in the alley between Columbus avenue and Chestnut street from West Main street south to city boundary, and directing the Recorder to enter a statement thereof in the Docket of City Liens and to publish a notice thereof as required by the Charter.

THE CITY OF MEDFORD DOTH ORDAIN AS FOLLOWS:

Section 1. WHEREAS, the City Council did heretofore by Ordinance declare its intention to construct a sewer in the alley between Columbus avenue and Chestnut street from West Main street south to city boundary, and to assess the cost thereof upon each lot or part thereof adjacent to and benefited by such improvement, its proportionate share of the cost of said improvement, and did fix the time and place for hearing protests against the construction of said sewer, and the assessment of the cost thereof, as aforesaid. And

WHEREAS said Ordinance was duly posted and published as required by Section 70 of the Charter of said city. And

WHEREAS a meeting of the Council was held at the time and place fixed in said Ordinance for the purpose of considering any such protests, but no protests were at such time, or at any time made to, or received by the Council to the construction of said sewer, or the assessing of the cost thereof, as aforesaid, and said Council has considered the matter and deeming that said construction of said sewer was and is of material benefit to said city, and that all the property to be assessed therefor will be benefited thereby to the extent of the probable amount of the respective assessments to be levied against said property, did order the construction of said sewer. And

WHEREAS the cost of said sewer has been and hereby is determined to be the sum of $1286.99.

NOW, THEREFOR, it is hereby further determined that the proportionate share of the cost of constructing of said sewer, on each parcel of property adjacent to said improvement and benefited thereby, is the amount set opposite the description of each piece or parcel of land below, and that each piece or parcel of land is benefited by the construction of said sewer, to the full extent of the amount so set opposite such piece or parcel and that the respective amounts represent the proportional benefits of said sewer to said respective parcels of property, and the council does hereby declare each of the parcels of property described below, and each of the same is hereby assessed the amount set opposite each respective description, for the cost of the construction of said sewer.
