Concerning the life of a dancer the managing editor writes: "Look at Madame Anna Pavlova! Although in her fifties she is still dancing to capacity houses wherever her company appears. Her dancing years have already numbered more than thirty. But St. Denis has been in the public eye for the past twenty years, and Los Angeles is right now agog over the possibility that she may return and dance this spring. She is in her sixties, it is said, and yet she does not look to be a day past

D. A. R. News

National Defense Committee
This committee promotes and encourages the Boy Scouts, the Girl Scouts, reserve and citizens' training camps and all other efforts, which tend to further good citizenship. At the last national continental congress of the organization it was voted to give to this work fifteen cents per capita.

The chairman of this national committee with her associates, has assembled and distributed exhibits of literature to prove the wide extent of communism in the United States and elsewhere.

All such literature is kept on file and is available for those doing research work. Speakers and others interested are provided with such material upon request.

In fact this committee encourages an understanding of American principles of government.

It does not dabble in politics but when American ideals are at stake it is ready to stand behind every true American principle.

Mrs. William Walker of Washington, D. C. is the national chairman of this committee. Mrs. M. T. Johnson of Corvallis is our state chairman and Mrs. M. J. Norris is chapter chairman for Crater Lake chapter.

Dues Will Be Paid

Dollars have been tightly grasped in America this year. Economies have been practiced by the majority of American women and expenditures have been examined for a true estimate of their net return. Perhaps that is one of the reasons why so many more women than ever before have paid their dues in the American Legion Auxiliary. No item of expenditure in the family budget brings greater returns than the dollars paid for Auxiliary membership.

If the Auxiliary member, or the eligible woman who is planning to come into the Auxiliary this year, keeps a budget the Auxiliary dues should be divided between several budget allotments. Part might well be taken from the allotment for entertainment for, while the Auxiliary is not a social organization, its activities do have their social side which go far to increase the enjoyment of life for its members.

Part of the Auxiliary dues might be assessed against the improvement fund in the budget as the Auxiliary meetings often are of a nature which help members improve their knowledge of national and local affairs and better fit them to carry out their responsibilities as wives, mother and citizens of the United States.

The Auxiliary dues might also be listed in part as a charity expenditure for the Auxiliary annually makes a vast contribution to the welfare of the disabled veterans and the destitute families of the dead and disabled. Women whose soldier sons, husbands, fathers and brothers returned safely from the war should, if for no other reason, enroll annually in the American Legion Auxiliary as a thanks offering for the aid of less fortunate women.
