Students Honored at Large Meeting Jr. High P.-T. A.

One of the largest audiences of parents for the school year greeted the officers of the Junior High P. T. A., Friday afternoon when they met to honor the eighth grade students who have completed the junior high school work.

These young people, 75 in number, constitute the largest class that has ever entered the high school at mid year.

Mrs. G. I. D'Albini, president of the association, opened the meeting with all singing "America." This was followed by the Flag Salute.

During the business session the president read a petition for "Free Text Books in the Schools," copies of which will be presented to each of our three members of the legislature. This petition received the signatures of practically every one present confirming the position of all parents and teachers on the question.

Several delegates were named to attend the County Council of Parent-Teachers held yesterday in Central Point.

Parents of the new pupils from the grades entering junior high next semester will be guests of the association at the February meeting.

During the social hour four of Miss Arnold's pupils executed a very unique puppet show, "Carmen," in four acts.

Miss Arnold also presented the student class in school songs.

Mothers from the Roosevelt school served refreshments and the association provided ice cream for the graduating class.

Helen Norris' Plays Please Radio World, "Fog" Is Acclaimed Favorite

Admirers of radio drama were especially entertained on Monday evening when "Fog," Miss Helen Norris' most recent and most enthusiastically received radio dramas, was broadcast by station KNX, Hollywood, Monday evening.

The work of the local authoress was presented under the direction of Miss Georgia Fifield, who also the leading role of Sal.

This character conquered the radio audience with her expression of rebellion against the drab life she was leading with her husband, Dan Loomis. Her effort to escape with his younger brother and all the events which followed held the radio audience intrigued until the close of the drama.

Critics of the coast, who have heard "Fog" broadcast by other stations, describe it as Miss Norris' greatest radio production.

The number of plays written by the Medford artist and accepted by leading stations of the coast has increased greatly this winter. Few weeks pass by without at least one Norris drama in the air.
