

Fireman Frisbie Has Special Hold to Tame Romano Tonight

NEW TOE TWIST ORIGINATED BY LOCAL MATMAN

Big Chance As Main Event Depends On Winning Science and Speed Will Prevail.

Hopeful but not confident, Ray Frisbie, Medford's heavyweight wrestling pride, is ready for his main bout tonight at the armory with Jack Romano, ring veteran, recently back from a successful tour of New Zealand and Australia.

Tonight's affair is the biggest even so far in Frisbie's mat career and it means much to him to show local fans he is in Romano's class. If Frisbie gets by with a draw it will mean he will be able to appear in another main event and would be regarded as an attraction by promoters from other sections of the coast.

Consistent Winner
A defeat would be no disgrace to the local boy—a beating is to be expected some time, especially after having won 95 per cent of his matches since he first began wrestling hardly two years ago. For the past season Frisbie has been including some of the toughest units in the business.

"There's one thing the fans won't see tonight," said Frisbie today, "and that's roughness. I am going to wrestle clean and I expect Romano to do as well. He always has in the past and I figure he will be sport enough to follow the rules of the game. I am going to do my best and think I'll give him a match he'll long remember."

Frisbie has been training with the young giant, Eddie Demmer, weighing 240 pounds, and Eddie for the past week has been suffering from quite a number of bruises and twists inflicted by the local boy. Frisbie has put in hours hitting a heavy bag to perfect the Sonnenberg tackle, with which he has won local matches in the past. He has also placed considerable time in perfecting his own idea, the inverted toe hold. The hold is hard to obtain but if once secured there is only one thing for the opponent to do, and that's to get the mat. Frisbie expects to place it on Romano tonight.

The special event will present Art O'Reilly of Eugene and Bobby Dunn of Echo for a 45-minute battle, or two best out of three falls. The boys weigh 143 pounds and promise an interesting match. Tonight's card will open promptly at 8:30. Women are welcome to attend—they are promised they will find nothing offensive in the entire evening's entertainment.

RIFLE CLUB MEET PLANS COMPLETE

Final preparations have been completed for the annual meeting of the Medford National Rifle club tonight at 7:30 in the basement dining room of the Medford Armory.

Arrangements have been made with the Copco "movie man" for showing some pictures of Copco current events followed by several reels of wild game hunting taken by Grover Young while on big game hunting expeditions in Canada.

Following the business meeting, refreshments will be served after which the indoor rifle range will be opened and all those desiring to engage in target shooting may do so.

With Rod and Gun

By Ernest Rostel and Dick Green

It appears conflict has entered the steelhead fishing situation in southern Oregon, following the arrest of two men on the Illinois river Sunday by Deputy State Game Warden Roy Parr and Ed Walker for having steelhead in their possession.

Due to the inability of the commission to make its decrees a matter of law, no charge could be pressed against the two anglers, the state game code having preference over any move taken by the commission.

However, the next season is apt to see a change in the steelhead question after the legislature takes action on the new game code worked out by the commission for consideration of the state governmental body which went into its biennial session this week.

A former South Dakota resident, Ted Ford, was interested in recent column comments on Chinese pheasant hunting around Redfield and Huron in South Dakota, a short distance from his former home, Mellette.

"They have capitalized such hunting in my section," said Ford yesterday, "and I believe it will only be a matter of time that southern Oregon will be in a similar position. The establishment last year of the game farm on the Crater Lake highway is a good start with its liberation of 1100 birds.

"Back in our country," continued the speaker, "our fishing is hardly an attraction due to the distance from the ocean, but still I know of quite a number of anglers who go to Jim river near Mellette, but their success is varying. If they had this climate and general conditions in the prairie state, the number of tourists attracted into South Dakota would be at least trebled."

Ford, a native of South Dakota, had made his home there up until a year ago and was attracted to southern Oregon, and partly due to fishing and hunting, plans to make his permanent home here.

ALL-AMERICAN IN DEFENSE OF GRID EMPHASIS

Carideo Says Game of Present Day Builds Character, Teaches Discipline, Determination.

By PAUL MICKELSON Associated Press Sports Writer SOUTH BEND, Ind., Jan. 14.—(AP)—If college football is about to be "de-emphasized," the Little Napoleon of Knott Rock's all-conquering armies of 1929 and 1930 is tickled because he became "emphasized."

"I'm only 22 years old—a comparative kid, I realize—but football has done too much for me to let the critics and charges of over-emphasis go by unchallenged. I've had a wonderful experience playing the game. It's taught me the value of discipline, self assurance, training, stick-to-itiveness and determination. They're lessons a fellow can't forget easily.

With that Carideo related some of the "inside" incidents that helped him to scale heights of football few players ever reach.

"On one of the first things I learned was the simple, old-fashioned value of a good, healthy grin. That's a Rockne trait, if you've ever noticed it.

BELANGER VICTOR OVER AUSTRALIAN REFEREE DECIDES

PORTLAND, Ore., Jan. 14.—(AP) Charley Belanger, Winnipeg light heavyweight, landed almost at will on the head and body of George Cook, Australian heavy, here last night for 15 rounds, but did little damage. Belanger was awarded the decision. Cook was slow in getting started in his first appearance here. In the eighth round, however, he clipped Belanger a hard right on the ear, putting the Canadian down, but he was up before a count was started.

Bobby's Stance Before Mike May Be Bit Shaky on Appearance Tonight

ATLANTA.—(AP)—Bobby Jones is afraid of the microphone.

The quadruple champion of the golfing world will not go before the "talker" with the same calm self-assurance that has marked his strenuous contests of the greens.

Beginning January 14, Bobby will begin a 26-week series of 15-minute radio talks over a nationwide network.

"I'll only describe the highlights of his golfing and from time to time add bits of instructive comment upon the game which he has played better than any other person."

He has written a book on golf and has syndicated thousands of newspaper articles about the game he loves, but rarely has he agreed to talk about it in public, much less by radio.

WILLAMETTE HOOPMEN BEAT LINFIELD, 47-23

"You are to be commended for this public service"

Says DR. A. F. ADAMS City Health Officer, Reno, Nevada

CITY BOARD OF HEALTH
CITY HALL
RENO, NEVADA

September 25, 1930.

The American Cigar Company,
111 Fifth Avenue,
New York, New York.

Gentlemen:

Your very effective campaign in the newspapers against "spit-tipping" by some cigar manufacturers is decidedly in the interest of the public health and in my opinion you are to be commended for this public service.

The use of the word "spit" forcibly calls attention to the evils of the "spit-tipping" methods and no other word could as effectively get over your message to the public.

Our health department is interested in those campaigns which tend to improve general health conditions and in our opinion your present campaign comes within this classification.

Therefore since I consider your campaign to be in the interest of public health since it directs attention to a bad sanitary condition in some cigar manufacturing plants, you have my permission to use this letter if my statement is of value to you.

Sincerely yours,
A. F. Adams
City Health Officer.
