Byrd Lecture Profitable to Local Legion... In addition to doing a community service in having Rear Admiral Richard E. Byrd stop in Medford Saturday for two lectures, the Medford American Legion post also realized a profit as a result of his visit, which demanded a cash guarantee of $1250. The lectures and motion pictures of the south polar explorations attracted people from all parts of southern Oregon and some from northern California.

The Byrd party left by airplane yesterday afternoon for San Francisco, where the admiral is to appear tonight in a lecture at the civic auditorium and is to make only one or two stops before reaching Los Angeles.

Admiral Byrd was pleased with his stay in Medford and was gratified that no special reception had been planned in his honor, giving him an opportunity to gain some much needed rest. The number of local residents who greeted him personally was limited.

Upon the close of his lecture Saturday night, Admiral Byrd was given an honorary membership in the Oregon Covenants of Grants Pass and was presented the membership card by Neil Allen and James Bromley.

The appearance of Admiral Byrd was made possible through the Medford post of the American Legion as a part of its community service program, giving Medford the distinction of being one of the three places in Oregon where the aviator-explorer stopped to lecture. The committee in charge was made up of C. T. Baker, chairman, E. C. Ferguson, H. L. Bromley, Ted Semmon, Dan Howard, W. S. Baker, Ray E. Wright, A. H. Hamwell, John Holmer, post commander, ex-officio.
