LOCAL PAIR RUSH BACK TO LONELY LAKE HERITAGE

Rudolph Leuck and Gordon Warner, employes in the store keepers' department at Crater National park, who are living by themselves this winter at government camp, and arrived in the city Friday afternoon from the park with their inventory of park property, and who could have enjoyed a two or three days' vacation before returning, were so eager to get back to their work that they departed for this Saturday morning via Fort Klamath.

It was snowing hard at Crater park when the boys left government camp on their skis Friday morning to make their way over the deep park show to Union Creek, where Superintendent Solinsky was to meet them with an auto, and continued to snow so hard that they were covered most of their long hike with two and one-half inches of snow.

Therefore they were glad to find on reaching Whiskey creek, five miles or so, the other side of Union Creek, the car waiting them, as it had ben found it could travel as far as Whiskey creek.

The boys are delighted with their lonely life at government camp, and one factor for this is that when not working night or day they are able to keep in touch with the daily affairs of the world through their radio. They can hear all stations on their set evenings, and much of the day, except KMED. Because of some unknown geographic or amospheric condition they are unable to get Medford.

However, they can get Portland stations, even in the day time, and get the news of the day, concerts, lectures, addresses and the like from eastern, even New York and middle west stations, as well as all Pacific coast stations.

When the boys left the park Friday morning there was about seven feet of snow at the rim, five feet at government camp, and 4½ feet at Anna Spring camp, with two feet or more at the Medford park entrance.

Civil War Photo Of Self, And Copy Of Union Soldier Paper, Relics Owned By Resident Of This City

Lieutenant Harry C. Applegate at the Age of 21

The picture above may not look remarkable but it is. For it is a reproduction of a photograph taken 66 years ago, which has not faded, and is in an excellent state of preservation in every way.

L. I. Prince of 112 and 8 St. Charles Streets, New Orleans, La., was the photographier and Harry C. Applegate of Medford the subject. At the time Mr. Applegate who has lived in this city since 1916, was first lieutenant of and quartermaster of the 11th Missouri regiment, infantry, and was en route from Vicksburg to Mobile, Alabama. The company stopped in the metropolis for a time, camping on the Gene Jackson battlefield near the Jackson monument and the young man decided to have his picture taken, the date being October, 1864.

It will be noted that they placed his head in one of these vice like tripod supports, the base of the support being seen behind the young army officers shoes.

An interesting incident of this subsequent march occured at Selma, Alabama, which was burned by the confederates when they abandoned the city. The Union soldiers took over the wrecked newspaper and proceeded to issue a journal of one sheet entitled the "Selma Federal Union." Mr. Applegate has a copy of this paper dated April 28, 1865, following the close of the conflict and the assassination of President Lincoln. The issue was on a portion of the burned newsprint stock, the edges still showing scorch marks, but the printing, though small, is still remarkably legible.

Among the interesting items are the following:

"We congratulate the Southern people on the prospect of peace. The North does not seek, and will take no pleasure in the humiliation or dishonor of the South. But it wants the South to be obedient to the laws and to do away with slavery—the evil that has caused so much misery. With slavery there can be no peace.—Especially do we exhort the ladies of the South, they who have been the bitterest rebels to manifest a generous spirit and to help in the great work of restoring peace and union on a permanent basis."

"We have not all been brutalized by the war. The wounded and sick of General Wilson's command left at Selma and Cahawba report they have been treated with kind attention by the citizens."

"We are under obligations to Capt. H. Sturges, 61 U S C I for valuable assistance in getting up our paper."

"Jubilee Am Cum: All along the banks of the Alabama river crowds of colored people appeared at every two or three miles, and manifested the greatest joy at the sight of Gen. Steele's troops."

"The full correspondence between General Lee and General Grant negotiating for the former's surrender is then given, filling up over one column of the 3 column sheet."

"Jeff Davis is said to be at Macon, Georgia. At Savanah a bank officiat declares Davis has a deposit there of $30,000 in gold."

"Booth, the assassin of President Lincoln, and Sarvats, the alleged assailant of Secretary Seward, have not yet been arrested."

"General Frederick Steele now in command in Selma is as brave as he is courteous and able. In conclusion we may say to the ladies in parenthesis — General Steele is a bachelor."

Mr. Applegate is 87 years old but looks and appears much younger. For nearly 30 years he made his home in Seattle, coming to Medford with his wife about 15 years ago. He is the father of Mrs. Ed White of this city.

After being mustered out with his regiment at Demopolis, Alabama, Lieutenant Applegate returned to his home in Sumner, Illinois where he remained for 15 years. Then in 1879 he went in a covered wagon from West Union, Iowa, to South Dakota, settling near the present town of Mitchell. From there he moved to Seattle, arriving in the Puget Sound metropolis just before the big fire. Here he was elected commander of the G. A. R. post several years —this post being abandoned when the membership was reduced to Mr. Applegate and one other Civil war veteran. Mr. Applegate is still active as a member of the local K. P. lodge and a real estate "trader". He ascribes his long life and remarkable health to his regular life, and the fact that he isn't now and never has been a drinking man.

ROOSEVELT AND JACKSON SCHOOL FIRST IN TESTS

Marching tests were given in the physical education departments of the four Medford grade schools during January, with Jackson school making the best record.

The best room averages were:

1B room at Lincoln school, Miss Abbott; 1A and B room, all four schools the same; 2B room at Jackson school, Miss Nerison; 2A room at Washington school, Miss Noyes; 3A and 3B room at Washington school, Miss Gregory; 4B room, Jackson, Lincoln, Roosevelt, high (tie); 4A room, Jackson, Lincoln, Roosevelt, high (tie); 5th grade room, Jackson, Lincoln, Washington, high; 6th grade room, Jackson school, Miss Smith.

Posture tests were given in all grades of the elementary schools of the city at the beginning and end of the semester just finished. The second test showed an improvement in the posture percentage (per cent of pupils in good posture) in three of the schools and the percentage the same in the fourth school. The school averages for the two tests were:

Jackson school	67.4%	72.5%
Lincoln school	68.7%	69.6%
Washington school	68.8%	68.8%
Roosevelt school	70. %	73.3%

In both tests Roosevelt school held the highest average for the school. By grades, the best records made in the January test were as follows:

1st Grade — Washington school 76%.

2nd Grade — Jackson and Lincoln school, 75%.

4th Grade — Washington school, 69%.

5th Grade — Roosevelt school, 84.6%.

6th Grade — Roosevelt school, 84.7%.

The school averages in the elementary schools were all higher than those in the junior and senior high schools. The junior high was lowest with an average of only 50.9% and the senior high school next with 63.6%. At the junior high school the 8th grade averaged slightly better than the 7th and at the senior high the upper classes better than the freshmen, although the one class with the highest rating were freshmen. At the high school the teats were given to girls only.

GUARDIAN STOCK MADE AVVAILABLE FOR INVESTMENT

Jacob Dobrin, representing the Guardian Group of Building and Loan associations, arrived here Thursday from Seattle, Washington, to supervise the sale of $50,000 in Mortgage Investment company stock which is now available.

Success of the Mortgage Investment company is evidenced by the phenomenal growth of the entire Guardian Group. When the Mortgage Investment company purchased the Southern Building & Loan association and an interest in the Medford Investment company in October, 1930, the assets of the entire Group totaled nearly $3,000,000. Now, in less than three months, the assets have more than doubled and now amount to $6,628,495.01. Mr. Dobrin pointed out in an interview yesterday.

The Guardian Group organization now operates in Oregon and Alaska. Activities will soon be extended to include Washington and Idaho in the near future, and arrangements are being completed by the officials.

Oregon communities in which the Guardian Building & Loan association maintains offices include the following: Portland, Medford, Klamath Falls, Malin, The Dalles, LaGrande, Eugene, Oregon City, Astoria, Salem and Aloha.

"Sons of the Gods" State's Sunday Hit

The celebrated gambling hall of Monte Carlo have been reproduced with fidelity for "Son of the Gods," the First National and Vitaphone production starring Richard Barthelmess now running at the State theatre.

The Monte Carlo scenes of "Son of the Gods" are also interesting because they introduce Constance Bennett who plays the feminine lead opposite Barthelmess. It is here that Miss Bennett as Alanna meets Barthelmess in the role of Sam Lee, an American boy raised in the belief that he is a Chinaman.

The large cast supporting Barthelmess includes Mildred Van Dorn, and Dorothy Matthews.

RUSS SHERWOOD IS WINNING HONORS IN HIS CALLING

Dr. Russell R. Sherwood, osteopathic physician and surgeon of Los Angeles and familiarly known to his many old Medford acquaintances as "Russ," has been making remarkable progress in his chosen work in the southern California metropolis as evidenced by reports in the December issue of "The Western Osteopath." Dr. Sherwood, who has been an intern in the Osteopathic unit of the Los Angeles County General Hospital where he is laying the foundation for his future professional career, has received an advancement to the position of resident physician.

The new position will carry with it a large measure of responsibility and his promotion was made possible by a fine record as intern. Dr. Sherwood's advancement will be good news to many Medford people as Russell was associated with the California Oregon Power company in this city following his graduation from Medford high school. While in school here, Russ was prominent in Medford high athletic activities.

In the same issue of "The Western Osteopath" appears an item in which Dr. Sherwood was selected to head the January education meeting of Eta Nu Chi fraternity. At this meeting, Sherwood will deliver an address on the interesting cases in the County Hospital.

Dr. Sherwood is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Dick Sherwood of 1019 West Main street, Medford.

COUNTY SURVEY SHOWS DIFFICULTY FEEDING FAMILY

Difficulties found most common by Jackson county homemakers in feeding their families, according to a survey made through the home demonstration agent's office preparatory to the opening of the Homemakers' Economic conference, were told yesterday by Miss Lucy Case, nutrition specialist from Oregon State college, who met with a special group of farm women at the city library Friday and Saturday.

Those which were reported by the majority of women were: vegetables not available, cost of foods, family likes and dislikes, and planning of meals.

Sixty two percent of the Jackson county families who answered the questionnaires, reported sickness or physical defects in their families, directly or indirectly connected with feeding. Of these defects, defective teeth and frequent colds were in the highest number.

The next in percentage were constipation and over weight and head aches. Underweight and indigestion were also reported by 10 per cent.

The preliminary conferences were completed yesterday at the city library and Miss Madge J. Reese, national field agent in home demonstration work; Miss Claribel Nye, state leader of the home economics division; Mrs. Harriet Sinnard, clothing specialist; Mrs. Zelta Rodenwold, home management specialist, who have also been in this city, and Miss Case left to return to Medford February 6th for the opening of the county conference.

TIME TO SPRAY FOR CURLY LEAF ON PEACH TREES

Peach trees should be sprayed with Bordeaux mixture 6-6-50 within the next three weeks, states L. P. Wilcox, county agent, if growers desire to control curly leaf.

Peach leaf curl or curly leaf is caused by a fungus disease that attacks small leaves and shoots at the first growth in late winter and early spring. Later on these diseased parts become thickened and distorted, taking on a whitish bloom or pubescence; and finally turn brown, dry up and either fall off or hang on throughout the season.

Bordeaux mixture6-6-50 applied in late January or early February is the surest means of controling this disease. If you are not familiar with the mixing of Bordeaux, consult your county agent. Apply this spray thoroughly and a vigorous, healthy peach tree will be your reward.

RED CROSS ASKS DROUTH DONATIONS

The United States Senate has just, passed the Food bill appropriation of $25,000,000.

The local chapter of the Red Cross wishes to call attention to the fact that this appropriation is not for drouth only but for general relief including unemployment in all big cities throughout the United States.

Obviously this bill cannot possibly replace the necessity for the Red Cross ten million dollar relief fund which is restricted to drouth relief only. Communications from the drouth area bring further reports of unusual suffering and hardships.

Donations may be made at the First National Bank in Medford and at the G. W. Godward store in Jacksonville as well as at the several locations listed several days ago.
