The Home of Bread Like Mother Made

Rapid Sales Mean Freshness in Foods

The best food in the world is good only when fresh—Quality means nothing unless goods are properly protected from the elements and sold quickly after delivery from the factory.

Especially is this true of fruits and vegetables, crackers, coffee, cereals and many other foods quickly affected by weather and time.

To insure freshness—buy where sales are greatest—follow the crowds—buy at the Groceteria.

Beside the freshness there is the saving—Bigger volume means lower prices—better quality for less—Try this tomorrow—Buy your week-end foods at either Groceteria—pay particular attention to freshness—price and quality and you too, will join the ever-increasing crowds who know that it always pays to trade at the Groceteria.
