Hot in Washington.
 A Father's Day Wish.
 The President's Big News
 We Are Getting All the Gold.

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 20—It is hot, in this beautiful city, official temperature ninety six at one p. m., ninety eight at two o'clock, and the temperature going up.
 President Hoover is in town, too busy to get away for the week end, and all of his working household is obliged to stay and work with him. Ask them if they have been working since President Hoover came in, and they say "yes" unanimously.

The stories have pictures of "father" sitting back with a gold crown on his head. Father's day comes tomorrow. Here, father has his coat off, his collar loose, and does not care whether son and daughter give him socks, ties, cigars or a hat. He would like to have son and daughter listen to his advice, just this one day as though they thought he knew something. But that is asking a great deal, in these days.

Washington, like all the rest of the world, is deeply interested in President Hoover's intention that something is to be done, financially, of great importance, along the lines of stimulating world prosperity, including our prosperity, and preventing any deeper depression. Europe's big cities and their newspapers and public men have discussed the announcement all day.

Wall Street responded to the news as enthusiastically as a small boy at the mention of Christmas. Stocks went up, without waiting for details. No one knew what the plans were, but it was generally understood that they would help world business. That was enough—There is no doubt that this country, like a wise storekeeper, interested in customer-welfare, should do all it can, legitimately, to help trade conditions throughout the world.

A merchant cannot prosper with his customers bankrupt. Uncle Sam cannot prosper, with the rest of the world flat on its back.

It is believed, President Hoover feels that Germany must have relief from the present crushing burden of reparations. The Germans cannot forever go on buying hundreds of millions of foreign currency, to pay her war fines.

FRANCE KEY TO SUCCESS DEBT PLAN

Great Britain, Germany and Political Party Leaders of U. S. Favor Proposal—Believe France Kindly Disposed to Debt Holiday

WASHINGTON, June 22.—(AP)—It was said on the highest authority tonight that President Hoover's proposal for one year's suspension of war debts and reparations payments were designed to include the unconditional annuities paid by Germany.

BERLIN, June 22.—(AP)—Chancellor Brüning today characterized President Hoover's war debt plan as "an historic event of the greatest significance" and expressed the German nation's thanks to the United States.

The chancellor's comment came in a discussion with a small group of American newspaper men of the president's proposal that war debts and reparations payments be postponed for one year.

WASHINGTON, June 22.—(AP)—Secretary Stimson said today an international conference was out of the question if President Hoover's debt moratorium proposal was to have the desired effect.

The secretary said speedy acceptance of the proposal by Germany's creditor nations was necessary if it were to have the desired effect and there was not time for an international discussion of the proposed one year moratorium.

He added that all interested nations had been informed through diplomatic channels of the president's proposal.

WASHINGTON, June 22.—(AP)—Upon France's response, more than any other one thing, rests the future of America's offer for a one-year holiday from war debt and reparations payments.

Great Britain is sympathetic to the plan; Germany is appreciative; republican and democratic party leaders forecast that the next American Congress will pass the necessary legislation, worldwide reaction, for the most part, is favorable. So, diplomatic circles in Washington believe, responsibility for the next step is with France.

France May Favor
 President Hoover has reason to think the French attitude will be favorable. Secretary Mellon, now in England, has conferred informally with French representatives as well as those of other European nations, and it is reported these discussions brought encouraging comment from all involved.

At his Rapidan camp, where he went for the week-end after announcing his proposal which he described as designed to speed world economy recovery, President Hoover learned with gratification of the generally friendly comment. Additional reports today elaborated the meagre information telephoned to him at the Rapidan.

Action This Week
 Although Great Britain's general attitude was well understood here, Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald's elaboration of that position to the house of commons was awaited eagerly. But Washington is most interested in the French cabinet meeting which it was informed will consider the question this week.

Specifically, it wants to learn how France will view a moratorium on German reconstruction payments. While President Hoover declared reparations was wholly a European problem and war debts owing America were settled upon a basis not contingent upon reparations, he made his one year moratorium offer condition upon suspension of payments on reparations and other inter-governmental debts. The president said:

Consistent Policy
 "Subject to confirmation by congress, the American government will postpone all payments upon the debts of foreign governments to the American government payable during the fiscal year beginning July 1 next, conditional on a like postponement for one year or all payments on inter-governmental debts owing the important creditor nations."

The president said his course of action was "definitely consistent with the policy which we have hitherto pursued."
 "We are not involved in the discussion of strictly European problems, of which the payment of German reparations is one," he said. "It represents our willingness to make a contribution to the early restoration of world prosperity in which our own people have so deep an interest."

A moratorium on all debts would cost the United States about $245,000,000 during the year, and France in the neighborhood of $100,000,000. Germany's payments ordinarily would amount to about $425,000,000.

MEDFORD LAD SHOT IN FACE BY CAP PISTOL

Donald Snyder First Victim of Fourth of July Equipment—Police Issue Warning Against Sale

Donald Snyder, 11, who resides at 247 Beatty street, was shot in the jaw between the eye and ear late Saturday night by Lawrence Grantham, another youth living at 518 Beatty, who fired a cap gun at him from across the street.

The Grantham boy had loaded a blank shell with small shot and fired it from the toy gun.

An attending physician said today that because of swelling, it was not known yet whether any of the lead had lodged in the jaw.

Chief of Police Clatus McCredie was today checking the sale of all cap pistols, which is against the law, as is the firing of guns and fireworks within the city.

ACTRESS' SPINE FRACTURED BY FALL ON HIKE

Evalyn Knapp, Beautiful Blonde, Near Death Following Plunge Off 15-Foot Embankment

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., June 22.—(AP)—Her spinal column fractured and two ribs broken in a fall over a 15-foot embankment, Evalyn Knapp, 23, featured screen actress, was making a light for life in a hospital here today.

Miss Knapp, who came here last April from appearances in George White's New York "Scandals," was hiking in Hollywood heights yesterday with her mother, Stanley Knapp, 35. She had climbed from Hollywood what is known as the lower road, a narrow highway circling Hollywood lake, to the upper road, when she lost her balance and fell back. She was unconscious and bleeding when young Knapp reached her.

Miss Knapp's rise in the films has been almost meteoric. "Sinner's Holiday" and "River's End," among other films, and was given the feminine lead with George Arliss in "The Millionaire." She is unmarried.

DOG POISONERS REPORTED BUSY TWO PETS LOST

Dog poisoners are again at work in this vicinity, as a result of which recently a number of dogs have been killed, including pets owned by Otto Heckert and Dwight Phipps. The former's dog was poisoned in Jacksonville, and the latter's in Medford.

The method of the poisoner or poisoners, is to put strychnine on pieces of bread or meat and toss them into yards or places near by, either during the night or in the day time.

This is the first time for many months, so far as can be learned, that dog poisoning has been reported, the vandals evidently having been deterred from such work by the general public indignation and the fact that a reward for information leading to the arrest of a dog poisoner had been offered by the association of dog owners.

Cases of such poisoning should be reported to the police and the Humane society.

Woman Pioneer Leader Of Pacific Northwest Goes To Final Reward

THE DALLES, Ore., June 22.—(AP)—Mrs. Lulu D. Crandall, 77, outstanding Pacific Northwest authority on pioneer history of the Oregon country, and nationally known for her contributions on Indian history, died at a hospital here last night. She had been ill for some time, but her death was so sudden as to shock her friends, who knew of her condition.

Mrs. Crandall was a native of Brownsville. She came here with her parents in 1858 at the age of four. Her father, James Donnell, operated a stock ranch, ranging horses and cattle between the Deschutes and John Day rivers. He was a leading Republican of the early days when the community was largely Democratic, and was a territorial legislator.

SHARES IN WILD LEAP SKYWARD

Debt-Moratorium Proposal Brings First Sunshine in Months to Wall Street—Profit Taking Unable to Halt Stock Buying Drive

NEW YORK, June 22.—(AP)—An enormous volume of buying orders, released by the news of President Hoover's plan for helping Germany, sent stocks soaring today, but new life into the bond market and gave a substantial boost to many commodities.

Although final quotations of active shares listed on the New York stock exchange were a little below the best levels attained earlier in the final hour of the exciting session, net gains ranged from $1 to $10. Total sales approximated 4,600,000 shares.

By John L. Cooley
 NEW YORK, June 22.—(AP)—Caught up by the spirit of optimism that swept the world's markets today as a result of President Hoover's proposal, Wall Street celebrated in characteristic fashion the appearance of the sunshine through the clouds of gloom.

Stocks boomed lustily, stopping now and then for a bit of profit-taking, but coming out of each recession with renewed enthusiasm for the advance and hundreds of shares touched quotations that were $2 to $10 a share above the Saturday close. Bonds, particularly those of German origin, were buoyant. Cotton, not to be outdone, soared $2.50 to $3 a bale. Other commodities responded with less spectacular gains.

Wall Opening
 It was a wild opening on the stock exchange. Shorts had been pinched by the feverish advance with which last week's trading was concluded, were thrown into renewed confusion by Mr. Hoover's weekend announcement. Blocks as large as 20,000 shares changed hands at advances running up to $15 and there was no letup in the pace until the first half hour had been passed. The turnover during that period was a million shares. Not in a long time had the market begun a trading day with so violent a rally.

When the first frenzied demands of the shorts had been satisfied, profits began to be taken quickly and reactions of a dollar or two from the early highs developed. However, the momentum of the advance was not so easily lost and by early afternoon another upward drive was in progress, although this, too, encountered a reaction as traders hastened to accept fat profits.

The quick change that had come over speculative sentiment was reflected in a rise in the price of stock exchange memberships. Sale of one seat was reported at $225,000, an advance of $25,000 over the previous transaction.

OREGON'S SOLONS FAVOR HOLIDAY ON WAR DEBTS

McNary, Hawley and Martin Voice Approval of Hoover Plan As Salvation for World Depression

PORTLAND, Ore., June 22.—(AP)—Three of the five members of the Oregon congressional delegation have expressed full approval of the year's moratorium on war debts and reparations proposed by President Hoover.

Senator Charles L. McNary and Representative Willis C. Hawley, said they talked to Hoover about the plan Saturday night.

"I immediately assured the president of my support," Hawley said. "I do not necessarily advocate modification of the Young plan. I believe that if Germany could regain the economic stride she attained in 1928 and 1929 she could afford to pay reparations promptly."

McNary Favors
 McNary, at his summer home near Salem, said:

"I am opposed to cancellation of war debts, but I believe forgiveness of the debts for a year would be a good move at this time. Such a plan would aid Germany in regaining her economic position and would revive the spirits of the nation."

Major General Charles H. Martin, congressman, said he believed "we should come to the rescue of Germany. I have always felt the treaty of Versailles is entirely unfair to Germany. . . . I would welcome any move to reduce that burden."

"I will do everything in my power to assist the president in his effort to get congress to approve his proposal."

SUICIDE SLASHES GIRL 'ERE DEATH

PORTLAND, Ore., June 22.—(AP)—Crased by poison, Frank Accardi, 55, yesterday severely slashed Rosie de Francisco, his 16-year-old niece, and then went to his own room where he fell dead.

As police and deputy coroners reconstructed the story, Accardi rose from bed about 2:30 a. m., took a poison drink and retired. Two hours later the girl awoke to find Accardi standing over her bed in the front room. He slashed at her with a razor.

BIRDWOMAN ENROUTE TO SAINT JOHN

Ruth Nichols Takes Air at New York On First Leg of Flight Across Atlantic—for Favorable Weather

PORTLAND, Maine, June 22.—(AP)—Ruth Nichols in her big monoplane circled the Seaboard airport at 4:25 p. m. E.S.T., today and continued on to Portland.

NEW YORK, June 22.—(AP)—In the white and gold monoplane in which she hopes to make the first feminine solo flight across the Atlantic, Ruth Nichols took off from Floyd Bennett airport at 2:22 p. m. (E. S. T.) today for St. John, N. B. Miss Nichols started her flight last Thursday, but only got as far as the New York municipal airport from Jersey City, N. J. In landing at the New York field the tail skid was sheared off and a bulkhead in the fuselage was broken.

The society girl flew expected to stop at Portland, Me., for fuel and then to continue to St. John, N. B., where she will probably spend the night, going on to Harbor Grace in the morning.

HARBOR GRACE, N. F., June 22.—(AP) Otto Hillig, Liberty, N. Y., photographer, and Holger Hoibus, pilot, landed their monoplane "Liberty" here at 6:15 p. m. Newfoundland daylight saving time.

Hillig, a Liberty, N. Y., photographer and owner of the plane, and Hoibus, his pilot, flew here from St. John, N. B.

They planned to start their flight across the ocean as soon as they received favorable weather reports.

NORMAL NEEDS BUILDING FOR STANDARD RATE

PORTLAND, June 22.—(AP)—More money must be available for additional buildings, equipment and salaries for the faculty before the normal schools of Oregon can meet the standardization requirements of the American Association of Teachers' College, the state board of education was told today.

It was explained that the three schools, at Monmouth, La Grande and Ashland, are well up in the line as far as general requirements demanded from an educational or instruction standard are considered, but are lacking in equipment, buildings and in some faculty personnel demands.

This shortage must be overcome, it was said, before these institutions can be admitted to membership in the association.

President J. A. Churchill of Ashland said his institution would be required to have an auditorium for teacher training classes and work, a gymnasium, library and dormitory before it could meet the demands of standardization. This would require an undetermined amount of money.

WILL ROGERS SAYS:

BEVERLY HILLS, Cal., June 21.—Mr. Hoover is stealing my act. He wants to postpone international debts for a year. Two weeks ago I had the same scheme, only I took in more territory. I wanted to cancel everybody's, and every nation's debt, and the only persons that fell for my plan was two guys that owed me. They immediately agreed and cancelled. It's not government's debts that's worrying us. Ramsay MacDonald, Hindenburg and Andy Mellon are the only ones worried about government debts (and we pay them to worry). Its individual debts that's got the $19 million by the nape of the neck. Interest that hurts.
