Hoover and Morrow? A Million Dollar Man. Wall St.'s Old Home Week. Making the World Small.

Copyright King Feature Synd., Inc.
 The New York Evening Journal has a story about "Herbert Clark Hoover for President; Dwight Whitney Morrow for Vice-President on a Republican ticket."

Morrow was Coolidge's classmate in college. That was something.

Morrow ran and was elected in New Jersey as a wet. President Hoover ran as a dry, and will undoubtedly run again as a dry.

A Republican ticket with a "dry head and a wet tail," might worry the Democrats.

Having a secretary of the treasury a man who has known how to collect at least ONE BILLION DOLLARS FOR HIMSELF is not a bad idea, and that is the sort of a secretary that Uncle Sam has.

When Mr. Mellon talks to the French about cooperating with President Hoover in his plan to avert world-wide collapse, the French will realize that they are talking to a man who knows his subject.

French objection to President Hoover's plans threatens to upset them, for the President demands that all the "important" nations agree to the suggested moratorium. Mr. Mellon perhaps will make the French take the President's view of the situation.

Whatever may happen later, Wall Street is having a cheerful "old home week" now. Yesterday 900,000 shares of stock were sold in half an hour, and the price of a seat on the stock exchange went up $79,000. Stocks were going up. "Biz Steel" early in the day climbed above 102 to look around and see who is left alive.

Happy times in Broad Street near Wall, but if you gamble you will have yourself to blame.

London stocks went up, even after the French had sent their discouraging message about the moratorium, and that rise is a good sign.

The English understand the French better than we do, having treated or fought for them for hundreds of years.

The airplane and courage are making the world smaller than it used to be. Post and Gatty, thirty-five hours after they started from New York to fly around the world, were telling on the radio from Berlin about their crossing. They are "doers of the world," not talkers, and said little. At 5:30 yesterday afternoon, Russia.

MEIER PANS HAL HOSS IN STATEMENT

Failure to Get Special Number Auto Plates As Personal Courtesy Riles Governor — Refuses to 'Trade' Vault for License

SALEM, Ore., June 26.—(AP)—Governor Julius L. Meier today issued a statement in which he assailed Hal E. Hoss, secretary of state, for suggesting to "trade the taxpayers' money for a small personal courtesy." The "trade" referred to, the governor stated, was the construction of a fire-proof vault which the governor rejected, for special automobile license plates requested of the secretary of state by the governor.

The governor's letter to Hoss follows: "I am in receipt of the following extraordinary memorandum on the letterhead of the department of state and over your signature: 'Please give me an answer on the vault construction today before you leave and I will go ahead with selecting your special number. Vault bids will be much lower than the estimates and we can't afford to be without the protection.'

"In reply let me say that I refuse to trade the taxpayers' money for a small personal courtesy which I thought you would be glad to grant the governor, a courtesy which is granted to governors in other states, and one which, in the words of your own employes, is being granted other citizens of Oregon. In view of the fact that you have attempted to use my request as the basis of political trade, I am proceeding to secure my license plates through the regular channels and am asking that the entire incident be closed."

Governor Meier requested special numbers of the secretary some time ago, shortly after Hoss issued a statement that no special numbers would be given out this year. The governor was then upon issued regular license plates which he refused and returned them to the automobile department and requested his check.

Hoss stated the governor again requested numbers 100,000, and the next two following numbers for his three cars. Hoss again refused. To date the governor has not been issued any licenses.

During the controversy over the special licenses, the governor refused to approve the construction of the fireproof vault for the state capitol, for which $25,000 was appropriated by the state legislature. His action came as a surprise, as both Rufus C. Holman, state treasurer, and the governor had signed contracts for plans and specifications for the building. Political observers interpreted his action as a result of being refused license plates. Holman voted with the governor in rejecting the vault construction, for which bids had already been called.

SHIEK BANDITS STAGE SECOND STICK UP HERE

The Midway service station, located near the junction of the Pacific Highway and the Table Rock highway north of the city, was visited by two young men about midnight last night, who robbed the attendant of $15 at the point of a gun and departed in an "auto larger than a Ford but which made just as much noise."

The holdups are described as about 21 years of age, of the "shiekish" type and accompanied by a young woman.

A search of the district within 15 minutes of the robbery failed to reveal any clues or traces of the pair, who are believed to have a "hide-out."

FIND BODY LOCAL MAN IN BOX CAR

Discovered When Railroad Employees Open Van in Antelope, California—Car Sealed Here June 20—Gun Found Near Remains

SACRAMENTO, June 26.—(AP)—The body of a man about 50 years old, a bullet through his head, was found in a sealed box car when it arrived at Antelope from Medford, Ore., yesterday. The body had not been identified today.

Reports received this afternoon through the Southern Pacific office in Sacramento indicate that the body found in the box car at Antelope was that of a man who entered the car here some time prior to June 20 and committed suicide. No reports of a missing man have been received by local police or the sheriff's office, but Coroner H. W. Conger announced this afternoon that Mrs. A. R. Jones of Route 4, Grants Pass, has been inquiring into the whereabouts of a brother, Clarence A. Harris, 50, from whom she has not heard for many months.

No description of the body found at Antelope was given other than that the man had obviously been dead eight or 10 days and was about 50 years of age.

The box car in which the body was found was sealed in Medford June 20 and shipped south Sunday, June 21. It had arrived in this city filled with bananas about June 9, and following unloading had remained open until sealed last Saturday.

The man had to enter the car before it was sealed and the condition of the body leads authorities to believe he had taken his life before the car left Medford.

The gun by his side also indicates that he entered the car with the intention of committing suicide. He was obviously out of work and hungry and chose this location to conceal himself from the public in his last attempt to end the struggle.

The box car was not visited following unloading until it had been thoroughly cleaned and no particular attention was given the interior.

Mr. Jones notified Mr. Conger of his disappearance when a miner of the same name was recently found dead in this locality. She expected to recognize her brother but the body proved to be that of another man.

Mr. Harris is said to have a large scar in the middle of his forehead and one leg which is considerably smaller than the other below the knee.

EFFORTS TO HARMONIZE DEBT VIEWS

Secretary Mellon and French Officials Talk Moratorium Proposal — France Approves 'High Sentiments' President Hoover's Plan

(By the Associated Press) France and the United States worked together today to harmonize their views of President Hoover's proposal for a one year suspension of war debts and reparations payments.

Secretary Mellon and Premier Laval, together with Ambassador Edge and French officials, will discuss the view of the two countries at the ministry of the interior in Paris tomorrow.

Preliminary talks were held today at a luncheon given by the French premier.

Debate on the American proposals meanwhile started in the French chamber of deputies with the expectation that the French reply suggesting changes in the Hoover plan will be accepted by the chamber.

The French reply made public today expressed cordial approval with the "high sentiments" inspiring the president's proposal, but expressed opposition to deferment of the unconditional annuities.

The French proposal suggested that sums equal to the shares of the year's non-postponable annuities to be placed in the Bank for International Settlements by the nations concerned to be used for improving the credit of Germany and the countries of central Europe.

WASHINGTON, June 26.—(AP)—The willingness of the United States to compromise with France on a war debt and reparations moratorium plan, was indicated today by Secretary Stimson in a formal statement.

The suggestions in the French counter-proposal to President Hoover's one year moratorium plan do not accomplish the full measure of relief contemplated by the president and must therefore be

CALIFORNIA CENTER OF TORRIDITY

Two Dead, Many Prostrated by Temperature in South Pacific Coast Area—Boys Burned When Bolts Hit Tree—Dead Air Blamed

The climatic desirability of Medford and the remainder of Rogue River valley as a good place to live was never better exemplified than in the past few days because, while the people of the eastern and other parts of the nation have been suffering from an intense heat wave, which was especially severe yesterday and today, causing many deaths, the local climate has been comfortably warm during the day and delightfully cool during the night, with the highest maximum at 89.

A drizzling rain, which brought a still lower temperature, and showers are forecast for tonight and tomorrow.

GRANTS PASS, Ore., June 26.—(AP) Rain which started falling here during the night continued during the day.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 26.—(AP) Prostrating temperatures had taken two lives in the Pacific southwest today.

Four boys were burned by lightning and several persons fainted from the heat which was part of a motley assortment of weather on the Pacific coast yesterday, none of which was normal for June.

The dead: Joseph Dreaner, 60, who collapsed in a Los Angeles glass factory where he was employed.

Raymond R. Hopland, 33, Hoover dam worker, who died of heat prostration on the dam site near Las Vegas, Nev.

The boys who were burned were riding bicycles around a tree in front of the Y. M. C. A. at Pomona, Cal., when lightning struck the tree, severely burning all four of them and knocking one of their numbers—Eugene McCann, 14—unconscious.

Faint in Los Angeles. Several persons in Los Angeles collapsed from the heat.

Abnormal temperatures were general throughout California, Nevada, southern Oregon and much of Idaho. Thunder and lightning storms punctuated the southern California heat wave, where unforcal temperatures readings were as high as 110. Northern Oregon and Washington experienced a cool day with frequent showers, which in places increased the already unusually high precipitation.

Federal weather observers here explained the hot spell was brought on by stagnation of the air, which resulted in each day becoming warmer than the preceding one until temperatures yesterday suddenly jumped to their high marks and later in the day fell as abruptly.

Relief Forecast. The forecast for today and tomorrow was "not so warm" in the southern part of the Pacific coast, with thunderstorms in the more southerly mountainous regions. Showers were predicted for the Pacific northwest.

The highest official temperature was 108 at Yuma, Ariz., and Las Vegas. It was unofficially reported even hotter in nearby Boulder Canyon.

WILL ROGERS SAYS:

BEVERLY HILLS, Cal., June 25.—I never saw a man jump into a hero's berth as quick as President Hoover did. Why this time last week he was in as bad as a Democrat. Now he is proposed for the Nobel peace prize. Wall Street has broke out on another rampage. Course the unemployed here ain't eating regular but we will get around to them as soon as we get everything else fixed up. O. K. I still claim, as I did a month ago, that all debts should be cancelled but my scheme didn't hit the international banking group with the same gusto that Mr. Hoover's did. I was appealing to the wrong class.
