Georgian Landing Leading Weapon With Power and Precision—'Pa' Stribling Vetoes Clinching Style

By Edward J. O'Neill. (Associated Press Sports Writer) GEAUCA LAKE, O., June 27.—(AP)—The polishing of Bill Stribling's left hand for 15 rounds of jousting against Max Schmeling's right in the Cleveland municipal stadium next Friday night entered the final stages today.

Only twice more is the challenge for the heavyweight boxing throne certain to pull on training gloves—tonight and again tomorrow night—in the open air arena in the center of an amusement park 27 miles outside the city.

In his workout Thursday night, Stribling's left was a perfect weapon. The tall, lean Georgian jabbed to the head with it, hooked to the chin and body, with speed and precision that demoralized his sparring partners.

Among the things noticeable by their absolute absence in Stribling's workouts are the clinching tactics that have spoiled many of the southerner's most important engagements. Every time he falls into a clinch with a sparring partner, "Pa" Stribling, his father-manager, promptly shoos him out.

With Rod and Gun

Six steelhead were caught last week in the Rogue near Weasaku Inn. Rainbow Gibson, proprietor and prominent southern Oregon angler, announced yesterday. The river is expected to be in fine condition tomorrow if there is not an excessive rainfall tonight.

Diamond lake is also expected to offer good fishing tomorrow. The rain and cloudiness have concealed the moon to such an extent that the fish have not enjoyed much night feeding and should be ready to take advantage of all offers tomorrow, according to theories of local fishermen.

Fish lake is low and will probably close about July 4. Good reports have come in from Squaw lake, where several fine catches were made last week.

Most of the salmon being hooked are found in the upper river, many above the racks near McLeod bridge.

The highways will be in fine condition for travel tomorrow and the weather forecast is fair and warmer with occasional cloudiness.

Visitors Held to Five Hits, While Beavers Hammer Three Huriers—Angels Take One From Stars

(By the Associated Press.) PORTLAND TROUNCED OAKLAND 7 to 2, despite three Acorn hurriers and all that the rest of the team could do, at Portland last night. The Beavers were able to hit 14 times while Mails held the Acorns to five connects. One Acorn run was forced in the seventh when Mails walked a man with the bases full.

Hollywood lost its chance to make it four straight over the Angels last night when the Los Angeles team came through to take a 10 to 5 victory.

Seattle and Sacramento resumed playing after being rained out twice in the northern city, and the Indians won, 3 to 0. Sacramento errors helped promote a Seattle victory. The Senators gathered 10 hits but couldn't make them count for runs.

The Seals beat the Mission Reds 6 to 5 and squared the series at two-all in a 10-inning game.

Jimmy Caveney, San Francisco second baseman, was given a lot of congratulations and $500 in gifts marking his 18th anniversary in professional baseball, but the play-off had a bad night. He made three errors, one of which netted a Mission run, and hit only once in five trips to the plate.

SHASTA SNOWMEN HOSTS ON HIKE TO MOUNTAIN SUMMIT

MOUNT SHASTA CITY, Cal.—(Spl.)—With the program of summer hikes in full swing, the Mount Shasta Snowmen are making extensive plans for the largest hike of all, the climb to the summit of Mount Shasta (elevation 14,162). Parties will leave Mount Shasta City July 4th, Saturday, for the Alpine lodge at the 8900 foot level, where they will spend the night.

BROWNS WORRY LEADING TEAMS WITH COMEBACK

'Giant Killers' Win Eight of Last Nine Starts—White Sox End Losing Streak to Defeat Washington

By Hugh S. Fullerton, Jr. (Associated Press Sports Writer) After playing nearly half a season without showing any signs of getting anywhere in the American league standing, the St. Louis Browns seem to have nominated themselves as the giant killers of the circuit, if nothing else. The Browns skidded badly after the first week of the campaign, dropping into a nine game losing streak, and never recovered from it.

Yet in the past week the Browns have electrified the fans by winning eight out of nine games. They finished a second nine-game string of defeats just after they returned from the east, then turned around and won three from the New York Yankees and four out of five from the champion Athletics.

Win From Boston. St. Louis took a tight game from Boston in the series opener yesterday, 6 to 4, in a two-run lead in the first inning, they were tied in the seventh when Jack Rothrock hit a homer, but came back in the same inning to win their fifth straight game, 3 to 2.

In the only other American league game yesterday, Chicago beat Washington, 4 to 3. Pat Garaway broke the White Sox five game losing streak by holding the Senators to five hits, two of them home runs by Joe Kuhel. The defeat dropped Washington to 1 1/2 games behind the Philadelphia Athletics, who were kept idle by rain at Detroit. The weather also stopped New York and Cleveland.

Upsets in National. A pair of upsets provided the feature of the National league's day. The Brooklyn Robins handed the league leading St. Louis Cardinals a sound trouncing, 16 to 5, while the Boston Braves made it two straight over Chicago by a 7 to 3 count.

The Robins started off with eight runs in the first inning against Burleigh Grimes and never stopped hitting.

The New York Giants regained the game they lost to St. Louis the day before by beating the Cincinnati Reds, 2 to 0.

The Phillies outdid Brooklyn in hitting, collecting 18 blows off Pittsburgh pitching, but could not equal their run total. Philadelphia won by a 13 to 2 count, giving the Pirates their 13th defeat in 16 games.

and U. S. Ambassador Edge and continued the discussion of President Hoover's proposal and the French reply," the communique said.

"Foreign Minister Briand, Finance Minister Flandin, Budget Minister Pietri, and Andre Francois-piaget, under secretary for finance and economy, were present at the conversation.

Meet Again Soon "There will be another meeting soon."

The premier explained that all present at the conference would get together again Monday.

After Secretary Mellon, Ambassador Edge and the other members of the American party had left the ministry of the interior, where the conference was held, Ambassador Von Hoensch of Germany arrived and was received by the premier.

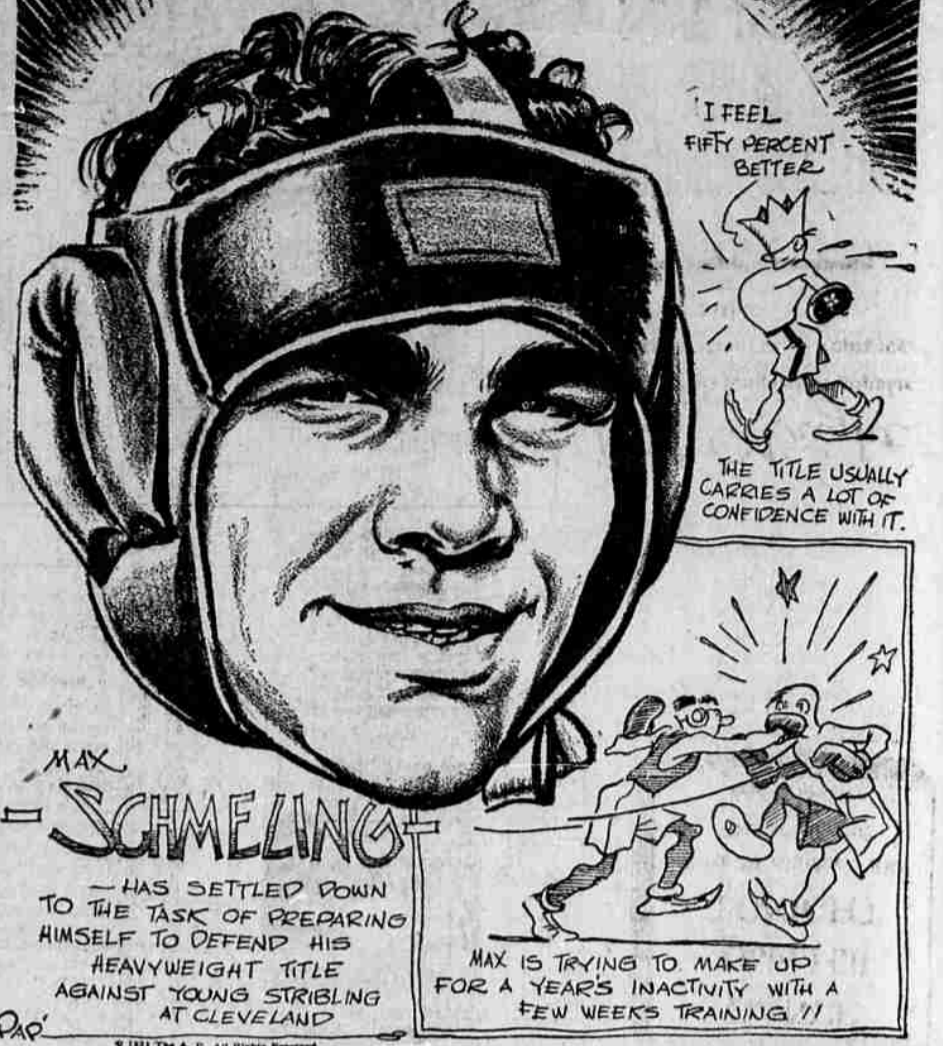

The arrival of the German ambassador, coupled with the statement by the premier that the negotiations would be resumed Monday, gave rise to new optimism, although it was evident that the details of applying the Hoover proposal had not been agreed upon by Mr. Mellon and M. Laval.

NEW YORK, June 27.—(AP)—Secretary of State Henry L. Stimson was optimistic concerning an international agreement on the proposed debt and reparations moratorium as he sailed today on the liner Conte Grande for a European vacation. During his trip he is expected to join forces with Secretary of the Treasury Andrew W. Mellon in urging Europe to accept the Hoover plan.

"I have been asked to comment on last night's vote of the French chamber of deputies and I decline, except to say that I am very optimistic as to the ultimate result," he declared.

Guards Statements This statement was the only one the secretary would make to a large number of reporters who boarded the liner to question him, although earlier in the day he had been quoted as saying last night's vote of confidence by the French legislators was a clear indication that France and the United States would reach a satisfactory agreement on the debt and reparations moratorium.

No Holds Barred In Match Between Huge Cougar and Wrestler In Deep Forest

LONGVIEW, Wash., June 27.—(AP) A wrestler credited his mat training here today for his escape from the claws of a seven foot cougar in the upper Toutle river section last night.

The wrestler, Charles Mattern, assistant woods superintendent for the Weyerhaeuser "Timber" company, was traveling to headquarters on a company speeder. He stopped to get water for the engine.

As he stooped to fill a bucket he heard a disturbance in the brush. He looked up to gaze into the shining eyes of a crouched cougar.

When the animal sprang Mattern, agile because of his mat work, sidestepped the plunge and kicked the cat a glancing blow with one foot.

Mattern then grasped a big rock and threw it, striking the cougar in the mouth. Another rock and a third was thrown, hitting the cat in the eye and another in the forehead, temporarily stunning and cowering it.

The animal retreated into the brush. Mattern journeyed to camp and returned with a rifle. After a short hunt the cat was treed and shot.

The Americans said they expected to reach Khabarovsk easily, and if weather reports were favorable would refuel and take off immediately for Nome, Alaska, a tremendous feat.

The fliers said their plane was in perfect condition.

On arriving at Khabarovsk, they said, they hoped to receive Japanese meteorological reports.

If these reports were favorable, they expected to take off without delay on the flight of more than 2000 air miles to Nome over the Sea of Okhotsk and the stormy Bering sea.

Their flight is considered one of the most dangerous in the entire trip around the world.
