POSTAL WORKERS START VACATIONS OF 15 DAYS EACH

Simultaneously with the beginning of the fiscal year tomorrow of the postoffice, department the vacation season for the fiscal year of the attaches of the Medford postoffice begins, along with that of all other postoffices of the land, each postal employe being entitled to a vacation of 15 days. Of course all the employes are not off at the same time, but the recreation period scatters throughout the year, one or two employes being off at a time.

The first clerk to take his vacation will be F. O. Nichols, who leaves tomorrow, and the first carrier to go on vacation will be A. A. Neff, starting Thursday.

Chas. P. Silliman, directory clerk, will begin his last vacation as an attaché of the Medford postoffice on July 14, as on August 1, with his family, he leaves for Oakland, Cal., to reside, having been transferred at his own request to the Oakland postoffice, where he will serve as city carrier.

The desire of Mr. and Mrs. Silliman to take advantage of the educational advantages of Oakland and vicinity for their children, led Mr. Silliman to ask for the transfer in the postal service.

Mrs. Vera Plymale, stenographer and clerk of the postoffice, is combining an unused period of this year's vacation with that of the new fiscal year beginning tomorrow. She left a week ago last Saturday for San Francisco, from where, following a visit with relatives, she went on to Red Lodge, N. D., for a visit with an uncle. Mrs. Plymale will return to duty here July 20.

Lieutenant, November 20, 1872, in the 1st Oregon Volunteer Cavalry, in which service he remained until April, 1873, the close of that war. The company was in command of Captain Harris Kelly, and was detailed to service at both Klamath and Siskiyou counties. In one of the important battles, Mr. Reames was wounded, but not seriously.

In 1881, he engaged in the mercantile business in Jacksonville, in partnership with his older brother, Thomas G. Reames, under the firm name of Reames Brothers. This institution became one of the strong mercantile stores of southern Oregon, and furnished the United States revenue at Port Klamath with its store supplies.

Subsequently, about 1884, Reames Brothers established a settlers' store at Port Klamath, as a branch of the Jacksonville store. In 1881, they established a store at Klamath Falls, and Evan Rogers Reames moved there, and conducted the business. Subsequently, they took into partnership, Alvin Martin and Rufus and Charles Moore, and the business proceeded under the name of Reames, Martin and company, until about 1886, when E. R. Reames retired from that business, and engaged in stock raising at Klamath Falls and vicinity. Subsequently, he went to San Jose, California, where he conducted a general merchandising store; afterwards, in 1890, he returned to Klamath Falls, and entered into the general hardware business with George T. Baldwin. The Baldwin store is still a substantial institution at Klamath Falls.

Following that, he went again into the mercantile business in Klamath Falls, and then, with his associates, organized the Klamath County Bank, afterwards the First National Bank, and was the head of that institution for a great many years. These mercantile firms did much to do with the development of Klamath county. They established the Midway Telephone and Telegraph company, which was the first institution of its kind in that county. Mr. Reames was one of the builders of the water system and the electric light system at Klamath Falls, selling those interests subsequently to the present California Oregon Power company.

He never entered politics. However, when Klamath county was cut off from Lake county, he was appointed by the governor as county treasurer of Klamath county and was subsequently elected to that office.

On October 3rd, 1872, he was married to Miss Jennie E. Ross, who was a daughter of General John E. Ross, one of the best known of the Indian fighters of the northwest. The Ross family has always been among the prominent pioneer families of Jackson county, and a large number of the general's descendants are here.

Mr. Reames' great love for outdoor work, both in the fields and in the garden, is perhaps to a large extent responsible for his enjoying through the 81 years of his life, almost always the best of health. He would leave his store or the bank, during the hayning seasons in Klamath county, and work as any other hand in the field. He surrounded himself with all of the comforts for outdoor life, and sports, all of which he enjoyed to the fullest extent. He saw the cheerful side of everything, and closed a very happy and beautiful life.

BAKER, Ore., June 30.—(AP)—Mrs. Emma Fowler, 59, former city treasurer of La Grande, was on the witness stand all day in her trial for the alleged misappropriation of $168,000 in city funds. She denied issuing city checks other than for city obligations and declared she had little property and only three small pieces of real estate and a small amount of cash.

HOW TO WEAR YOUR TRUSS PROPERLY

A great many men and women who suffer with rupture, or hernia, endure needless pain and discomfort and make slight progress toward recovery because of lack of sufficient care in securing the right type of truss and in learning how it should be worn.

Such costly neglect has been more or less unintentionally abetted by the makers and retailers of rupture appliances who have been content to pass over the counter any truss asked for without ascertaining its suitability, or the extent of the patient's knowledge as to its use.

A leading manufacturer of trusses, The Akron Truss Co., makers of the famous Akron Sponge Rubber Pad Trusses, long ago realized the seriousness of such a situation and took steps to correct it through training its dealers in the modern science of correct truss fitting, and to assist the dealer through consultation service of its factory experts, when cases of unusual seriousness presented themselves.

Truss wearers were quick to appreciate the advantages in having the right type of appliance correctly fitted to their individual conditions and to learn how they might best assist nature in its work of repairing the damage.

Mr. Heath of the Heath Drug Co. has qualified as an Authorized Exclusive Akron Truss Fitter and is daily adding to a long list of satisfied customers because of the far superior service and help he is to them. Every rupture sufferer will find it of great benefit to consult this dealer.

SHOCKLEY TAKES ROTARIAN GAVEL IN INSTALLATION

Installation of new officers to guide the destinies of the Medford Rotary club during the coming year occupied the attention of Rotarians at their regular weekly luncheon this noon.

President E. C. Corn presented the incoming president, Ed Shockley, to the members, with an appropriate introduction speech and Shockley in turn introduced the new board of directors as follows: Glenn Smith, vice-president; John C. Boyle, Charles Clay, Hugh Hamlin, John Moffat and Horace Bromley.

Before turning over the gavel, President Corn gave a brief resume of the past year and expressed his appreciation to the outgoing board of directors and various committees for their splendid co-operation. It was interesting to note that the Medford club made a substantial gain in membership during the past year and maintained an attendance record of 83.1 per cent.

President Corn was given a rousing vote of thanks for his untiring efforts in administering Rotary affairs during the year.

Ed W. Shockley, the incoming president is a Rotarian of long standing with a 100 per cent attendance record extending over a period of 4 years, 7 1/2 months in Medford and 2 years and 11 months in Astoria, a total of 7 1/2 years. He has been one of the leading workers in the local club and his administration promises to be one of the best in the history of the local Rotary organization.

In assuming the presidency, Shockley announced his committees for the year and provided each member of the club with an "organization chart," outlining the year's work. Ideas and suggestions were solicited by the new president, who acted every member to take an active part.

Dr. W. E. Lantis newly appointed program chairman, announced his plans for the future weekly programs and stated that Arch Holt would act as chairman of the next meeting Tuesday, July 7. A novel meeting is planned at the Craterian theatre on that date with luncheon to be served on the Craterian stage. Several other unique features are being arranged for.

A financial report of the past year was presented by Orin Schenck, treasurer, and showed the club to be in excellent condition with regard to finances. An invitation was read from the Coos Bay Rotary club, asking local members to attend the 4th of July celebration at Coos Bay next Saturday.

Guests at the luncheon were Miss Sally Butler and Clayton Isaacs.

GOLD BEACH, Ore., June 29.—(Special)—By a vote of 82 to 26 the voters of Gold Beach Saturday rejected a proposal to incorporate the town, with the result that this community retains the distinction of being the only county seat in the entire United States without an organized government. The town will continue to be without established curbs or police or any spectators. Voters feared that if they incorporated municipal taxes would become burdensome.
