ADVANCE IN EGGS EARLY THIS WEEK TALKED BY TRADE

PORTLAND, Ore., July 13.—(AP)—Talk in the egg trade today indicated an advance in the market was expected early this week. Conditions throughout the Pacific coast indicate a rise here. Other markets moved higher last week while this one remained steady.

The Portland market, however, advanced two cents the previous week while the others on the coast were not so strong.

Weather conditions have been favorable in this particular locality for production, but local conditions have very little to do with the market here as this is a heavy exporting center and Portland prices are pretty well governed by what the surplus will bring on the outside markets.

The butter market opened the week fully steady. Weather conditions, with the exception of the first two days of last week, have been very favorable for production. The market is holding in spite of this, however, and an advance might easily follow any less favorable production circumstances, talk in the trade indicates.

The first carload of California Gravenstein apples of the season arrived today. These apples are of good quality and move to the trade at $2.50.

Weakness developed in virtually all sections of the melon market. Quotations dropped generally around 25 cents. Turlock cantaloupes replaced Imperial valley and Delano offerings in many instances. Top quotations on these are $2.50-2.75. Delanos had been moving at a top of $3. Honeydew melons were quoted at $1.50 for large flat crates. Watermelons were off a quarter at 2 1/2 cents a pound.

Wall Street Report

NEW YORK, July 13.—(AP)—Although Germany's financial crisis gave the New York stock market a flurry in the early trading today, prices rallied sluggishly from the lows during the ensuing hours and closed with moderate net declines.

After its initial decline the market took a more optimistic view of the German situation, apparently confident that the reich would receive aid through the auspices of the Bank for International Settlements. Decision to extend the $100,000,000 credit granted the reich a month ago was expected here.

Final quotations were slightly under the highs attained on an early afternoon rally, but were well above the forenoon minimums.
