BAKER RETURNS FROM STANFORD TRAINING CLASS

Plans for active participation of business men in a program for vacation adjustments composed the leading topics discussed at the meeting for chamber of commerce secretaries conducted at Stanford university, C. T. Baker of the local chamber announced this morning, following his return from Palo Alto.

In the east the chambers of commerce are instrumental in effecting many taxation bodies in necessary adjustments and the suggestions presented at the Stanford school will be considered by the taxation committee of the Medford chamber, Mr. Baker stated. The local committee is headed by W. H. Gore and at a recent meeting decided to sponsor several investigations in Medford.

Eighty-six representatives of western states attended the Stanford school and Mr. Baker was awarded first prize in the public speaking contes, conducted. Mrs. Baker, who accompanied him there, also participated in the various activities offered in connection with the course for secretaries.

2991 AT CRATER OVER SUNDAY IS OFFICIAL REPORT

CRATER LAKE.—(Special.)—Travel over Sunday brought 880 cars and 2991 visitors into the Crater Lake National park, bringing the total of visitors for the 1931 season up to 86,840 visitors, as compared to 74,911 for the same time last year. The total of cars for this year is announced at 24,470, or 4191 ahead of last season.

Every state in the union has been represented by visitors, with quite a number noted from Ohio, Illinois, Michigan, Pennsylvania, New York, Wisconsin, Iowa, Minnesota and Indiana. Travel from California continues heavy as in previous seasons as well as local travel from Oregon.

Motorists have made their appearance in the park from different foreign points, including a tourist from Haiti, several from Brazil, Alaska, Canada and Mexico. Stage travel has brought visitors from England, Germany, Cuba Japan and other foreign countries.

J. T. Lorange Here For Session With Breier's Manager

J. T. Lorange, merchandise manager for the C. J. Breier stores, is in Medford this week, conferring with Gene Powelson, manager of the Medford Breier store. While in this city Mr. Lorange is checking over the merchandise of the local store with Mr. Powelson.

Prevailing business conditions have not seriously affected the Breier stores, due to the added merchandising efforts put forth by the Breier organization, according to Lorange.

ROADS WILL SHUN TALK ON SEWAGE

Although tonight's meeting of the city council is the first to be held by that body since the recent election, at which the septic tank and sewer bonds were defeated, as far as could be learned today the future of the septic tank situation will not be up for discussion, except perhaps in an informal manner.

"The septic tank situation will be discussed tonight, so far as I know," said Mayor E. M. Olsen this noon, "and will not be taken up in a formal way until we hear from the state board of health in regard to that situation." It is said tonight's meeting will be devoted mostly to consideration of routine matters.

SMALL BLAZE AT OWEN-ORE. MILL

Fire was discovered late yesterday afternoon in the garage at the Owen-Oregon mill on North Central avenue, resulting in little damage. The blaze started when an overflow from the carburetor of a carrier dripped on the exhaust and ignited.

The conflagration was placed under control by the local fire department, assisted by mill employees. Five carriers, two trucks and 40 barrels of gasoline were stored in the garage.

WARNS AGAINST NEGLECT OF HERNIA

Many cases of hernia, or rupture of the abdominal walls, begin in such a small way as to seem unimportant. Sometimes a rupture occurs without the victim being immediately aware that he is so affected.

Serious consequences almost invariably follow when even the smallest rupture is neglected and uncared for. It is a fact established by experience that a ruptured person is actually taking his life in his own hands when he ignores the symptoms of a rupture and neglects or refuses to have it cared for. Pains in the back, stomach, groin or legs are symptoms which may indicate a rupture.

That every ruptured person, no matter how seemingly slight the hernia appears, should consult his physician as quickly as possible is the advice of Mr. Heath, of the Heath Drug Company, who has given special study to the relief of ruptures through the correct fitting of the proper truss. He is the exclusive representative in this city of the famous Akron Sponge Rubber Pad Trusses and provides for those who must wear trusses expert fitting service with the guarantee that every truss he sells will hold the rupture.

Consult your physician immediately, even if you only suspect you are ruptured. Then, if a truss is advisable, see this expert fitter. —Adv.

$25,000 DOG OF NION TUCKERS IN DISAPPEARANCE

Larry Larter, clerk at Hotel Medford today reported that he had found the Schnauzer terrier belonging to Mrs. Nion Tucker. The dog followed him to his home, 107 Mistletoe from Main street Sunday.

Claus von Fuerstenwall, who represents just $25,000 worth of dog, is still missing from the Nion Tucker lodge on Rogue river today. And the caretaker, who failed to lock up the "six times international champion Schnauzer" is ready to pack his grip.

The Tuckers are in the east. The caretaker is in a sad state of mind and nobody knows where Claus is. Policemen of Oregon and California are joining the search for the beautiful Schnauzer, who belongs to Mrs. Nion Tucker of Burlingame.

Claus was vacationing at "Tuckaway," river lodge of the Tuckers when "he up and went away" Friday.

He's a versatile and much traveled dog, but a true pacifist. He doesn't like guns and when target practice opened on the hill neighboring 'Tuckaway" Friday, he started from the grounds at high speed and hasn't been seen since.

No reports of the returning date of the Tuckers have been received, but the caretaker is praying that Claus will come home first.
