

SMUDGE POT ED DOES NON-STOP CRUISE ON LAKE

Had Ben Hur and his horses moved their famous chariot race into the Mediterranean, a splash similar to that which churned the tranquil waters at Lake o' the Woods last Sunday night would have resulted—but Ben Hur and his horses kept to land and that's what Arthur Perry, U. S. N. R. F., should have done, say seasoned vacationists at the lake.

The Smudge Pot editor, who is enjoying a vacation, left the call of the sea as he did during the late war when he joined the navy. There was no sea, so he chose the lake and an outboard motor. Ignoring the instructions offered by Heine Fluhrer, pilot of the Flying Dutchman, he took to the water. Disappointed with Admiral Perry's over-confidence, Heine gave the boat a push and the columnist, who knows more about Bartlett's than perches, was traveling among the latter.

The motor climbed into high speed and was soon riding the dashing waves created by its own violent disturbance of the water. Roubid and rough the boat in its speed and only the flimsy viewed the frenzied expression conquering Admiral Perry's features.

Heine Fluhrer was oblivious to his plight. The race continued. Perry tried all knobs and levers, but the engine didn't stop. On the verge of establishing a new record for outboard motors, he thrust his hands into the air with a cry for help. The boat tilted, he crouched in the stern and a faint echo of "How do you stop the thing" traveled to shore.

A spectator with kind heart than Fluhrer, rushed into his boat and headed for Perry's dashing craft. After many futile attempts to instruct the delirious pilot had failed, he leaped into the boat and stopped the engine. The frantic Perry only murmured, "What a boat!" and suggested lead for the next issue of the Smudge Pot is: "The race is not to the swift, nor the battle to the strong."—Ecol, 9:11.

ADVENTISTS WILL HOLD CONFERENCE

The Southern Oregon conference of the Seventh Day Adventist church will hold its bi-annual session in Medford July 31 to August 1. It is announced by local churchmen. The opening session will be held at the local church Friday night.

Attending the conference will be many nationally known members, as well as international church workers. President T. B. Westbrook of Eugene will preside. Elder I. M. Langberg, pastor of the local church will be host to the visiting delegates.

Prominent among those to take part in the meeting will be I. H. Evans, vice-president, formerly of Sinaloa, China; and Washington, D. C. Alonzo N. Baker of Mt. View, Cal., world lecturer and traveler. Mr. Baker is editor of the Signs of the Times, leading Adventist publication. Eugene A. Mendenhall, editor of the Pacific Call, and Marshall J. Wallis, president of the North Pacific union, election officers of the ensuing bi-annual conference will be held here.

The southern Oregon conference includes all Oregon, south and east of Eugene. All meetings will be held in the local Adventist church.

The Kermite Metals Corporation, Ltd. was named defendant in a case filed last morning by Carl Fichtner, local garage operator, thru his attorney Ravies Moore. The judgment filed seeks collection of $681.43 plus interest for an account which the corporation is alleged to have owed Mr. Fichtner for several months.

The papers filed state that a summons was filed here April 4 in the same case. Since that time no answer has been received from the Kermite Metals Corporation or from D. Williams, manager of the organization which formerly had offices in the Liberty building here. An order of default was also filed today.

D. Williams, manager of the Kermite Metals Corporation, was arrested in Philadelphia last week and is being held there to answer charges involving money obtained under alleged false pretenses.

EGGS UP A CENT AS QUALITY LAGS IN HOT WEATHER

PORTLAND, July 30.—(AP)—Advances of 1c doz. in the selling price of all grades of eggs is announced by the Pacific Co-ops, effective at once. This is a real advance in the price and not simply a boost in the card values, which has been offset by secret and practically open rebates of the supposed advance.

Betterment in the egg trade follows some improvement recently in practically all dairy products. Storage stocks continue to move out on account of the shortage of quality stuff, due to the hot weather.

Demand for butter continues in excess of current offerings with a corresponding increase in market strength. On the open market cubes are firm to higher in spots, extras especially being keenly sought.

Strength of the butter market is mainly the dominating cause of strength in butterfat, although no change in the price paying limits is confirmed. Most operators are offering top values.

There is a call for young broiler turkeys and practically not enough stuff has appeared in sight to establish prices. The call for hen turkeys is still unfulfilled insofar as fresh stocks are concerned.

Wall Street Report

NEW YORK, July 30.—(AP)—The stock market regained its composure today and prices registered slight recovery in spots from the low levels reached in yesterday's slump.

Trading was quieter, and the price movement was largely narrow, but several prominent issues registered advances of a point or two. Further heaviness cropped out in some of the rail and specialties, however, and the trend lacked uniformity. Sales were well over a million shares. The market closed with a steady tone.

BIRTHDAY DINNER AT DIAMOND LAKE FOR J. A. PERRY

DIAMOND LAKE, Ore., July 30.—(Sp1)—Honoring the birthday anniversary of J. A. Perry of Medford, 22 guests gathered in the dining hall in the lodge Friday evening where a dinner was served in his honor. Guests included the many friends Mr. Perry has made during his vacations at the lake. S. D. Merk of Burlingame, Cal., was toastmaster. A diamond-shaped cake formed the center piece, and the place cards were shaped like rainbow trout.

A party of officials who visited the lake twice last week included Arthur U. Hyde, secretary of agriculture; Major Stewart, chief forester; H. F. Hoffman of Washington, D. C.; L. I. Hughes of San Francisco, chief engineer U. S. bureau of public roads; J. C. Buck of Portland, district forester; Vern Harpham, supervisor of Umpqua national forest; and Hugh B. Rankin, supervisor of Crater national forest.

Among Medford people who registered at Diamond lake during the past week were H. B. James, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Wakefield and guests, Mr. and Mrs. R. G. Vallentyne of Portland; Hester Whitman, Mr. and Mrs. H. V. Laughlin, A. E. Edwards, L. E. Jourman and Mrs. Lewis Ulrich.
