

WORLD FLIERS BEHIND RECORD OF POST, GATTY

Herndon and Pangborn Hop for Irkutsk 17 Hours Behind Time Trail Blazers—Abandon Long Hop Plan

MOSCOW, July 31.—(AP)—Hugh Herndon, Jr., and Clyde Pangborn, flying around the world in an effort to lower the mark set by Wiley Post and Harold Gatty, hopped off late today toward Irkutsk. They got away at 5:20 p. m. (9:20 a. m. E. S. T.).

The American airmen landed here from Berlin today at 11:52 a. m. (3:02 a. m. eastern standard time).

They were approximately 17 hours behind the trail blazers by Wiley Post and Harold Gatty, but they still believe they can make up the time they lost and lower the round-the-world record.

The flight from Berlin required a little more than 10 hours and the first thing they did upon arriving here was to arrange for refueling so they could resume their long, hard journey within three hours.

Abandon One-Hop Idea
Pangborn said they had abandoned their original plan to make the Pacific crossing in one long hop from Tokyo to Seattle, and instead will follow the Post-Gatty route across Siberia and the Bering Sea to Nome.

They believe they have an excellent chance to beat the mark set by their predecessors because they intend to make fewer and shorter stops.

They had excellent flying weather from Berlin, although there were some headwinds, and when they landed both said they were feeling fine, although they were looking a bit worn.

After the customs formalities at the airport they went to luncheon at a hotel.

One advantage of their stop is that they can relieve each other at the stick while the ship is in the air. Post handled the controls throughout the earlier flight, Gatty serving as navigator.

your bones or teeth. Hence the saying that a nursing mother, for each baby, loses one tooth.

For further information about protecting the teeth by calcium lactate, Mr. Rosenwald might consult the distinguished New York physician, Dr. Leopold Stieglitz, whose brother is a professor in the University of Chicago.

The solemn Smithsonian Institution condenses to notice magicians, hoodlums, clairvoyants, and fortune tellers, said to extract more than $100,000,000 a year from the American gullibility.

The boldness of predictions made publicly is interesting, the predictor knowing that a coincidence may bring glory, while failure means nothing, the prediction forgotten.

At a dinner party, recently, entertained by a clairvoyant, Walter Chrysler, automobile man, heard these predictions:

"The Kaiser will die on August 3." "Our most distinguished aviator (meaning Lindbergh) will meet with an accident in September, serious but not fatal."

"In October, Calvin Coolidge will announce his intention to run for the presidency in 1932." "In November, President Hoover will appear before congress to request a change in the prohibition law."

And for a windup, in December there will be a great earthquake, with great destruction. But it will reveal "a magnificent diamond mine."

Walter Chrysler remarked: "If he will answer a question about what is going to happen in Wall Street, I'll give him enough to buy himself a couple of diamond mines."

To the gullibility of the public there is no limit.

But our capacity to believe what is not true, especially about ourselves, accounts for 90 per cent of our happiness.

Money can do a great deal and even help the police of New York to discover the gangsters that shot down five children recently in a "beer war."

The New York American has offered $10,000 for the arrest and conviction of the guilty. Anywhere you can hire a man to commit murder for $5000 and much less. Some killer might betray his associate to the electric chair for $10,000.

In these bootleg killings, and accumulations of large sums, including the open operation of a big brewery in New York, the question is, unfortunately, "Are the public authorities trying to find the criminals, or engaged in shielding their associates, with whom they divide profits?"

You learn in the papers what happened to Alphonse Capone, biggest of all "big shots" in the new industry. Judge Wilkinson, before whom he appeared yesterday, seemed to know nothing of any agreement to limit Capone's punishment, spoke of him as one accused of "five thousand offenses against the prohibition act, and evasion of income tax on an income of more than $1,000,000."

According to Chicago reporters, Capone, who did not like the judge's remarks, changed his mind, pleaded not guilty and will stand trial.

It was said that Capone finds the racketeering industry not what it used to be and thinks seriously of giving it up.
