

STATE COPS START DUTY TOMORROW

First Warning From New Constabulary Head for Tardy Auto Owners—Baucom Only Local Officer Retained On Force

The uniformed field force of state police operating out of Medford headquarters is expected to arrive in Medford late this afternoon and will tomorrow take over official duties in the southwest district, enforcing the state law.

Lee Bowen, formerly deputy sheriff of Lane county, will be captain here. Location of headquarters has not been announced, and definite information will not be available until Bowen arrives in the city, local officers said today. Bowen is the son of Sheriff Harry Bowen of Lane county, and has been deputy in Eugene for the past two years. Previous to work as an officer, Bowen operated a hardware store in San Diego, Calif., and later in Eugene. He is a cousin of Mrs. Arthur Bowen of this city.

In the southwest district, Olin O. Nichols of Klamath Falls was appointed lieutenant, and Clarence C. Williams of Coquille, sergeant. Those working from Medford will be B. M. Baucom, only member on the present local force retained, Jas. S. Folsom, James O'Brien and Elwyn Van de Walker.

Charles P. Talent, who was formerly captain in southern Oregon, will take a vacation when he completes his duties at midnight tonight for the state. He has been in the service of the traffic department for the past seven and a half years, and has traveled 284,000 miles during that time in his official rounds.

Herb Moore, state traffic officer stationed at Astoria will start to work in the morning operating the new General Petroleum service station at Main and High streets at the end of the boulevard in that city. The $20,000 station was completed about a week ago, but will not open until tomorrow morning.

SALEM, Ore., July 31.—(AP)—The new state police will become operative at midnight tonight, and Charles P. Pray, superintendent, announced his force was all set. Organization has been perfected, and with his formal statement of policies, issued last night, Pray announced the patrolmen of the force. Commissioned officers and sergeants had previously been announced by Pray.

"Strict impartiality in the enforcement of the law, dignity in the performance of the public duty in dealing with the public, and loyalty to the ideals of the department, will constitute the policy of the new state police," Pray said in a formal statement of policies.

Points Duty of Public
"The regulations and instructions incorporated in this state police manual have been formulated with the conviction that an officer can render service with courtesy and helpfulness to the public and at the same time be efficient in the performance of his duties. In this connection, I want to add that it is as much the duty of the public to observe the law as it is the duty of an officer to enforce it, and it necessarily follows that to bring about satisfactory law enforcement, any police system must enjoy, to the fullest extent, the cooperation of the public."

"The utmost care has been exercised in the selection of the personnel of the state police staff, and a majority of the members thereof are experienced men, selected from the various law enforcement units which have been merged in the state police system. A limited number of recruits will be given thorough instruction in police work at our police school."

Would Make Oregon Proud
"It will be my ambition, and I am sure it is also the ambition of every officer and patrolman, to create for the new department a standard of efficient and courteous law enforcement that will make Oregon justly proud of its state police."

"One of the purposes of the act creating the state police was to afford the rural communities of Oregon better police protection. Another was to provide more efficient law enforcement generally by coordinating the various separate law enforcement units. Among the other units which have been merged in the state police department is the prohibition department, and this law, as well as all the other criminal laws of our statute books, will be strictly enforced."

Must Get New Tags

"In conclusion, I want to add that the 30-day moratorium to obtain automobile licenses will expire on the first of August, and I want to urge all owners who have not yet obtained licenses for this year to secure them immediately."

The uniformed field force and the points out of which they will operate were announced by Mr. Pray as follows:

ENGINEERING COLLEGE GRADUATES SUCCEED

A recent survey discloses the fact that notwithstanding the recent economic depression, an unusually large percentage of graduates from the Polytechnic College of Engineering in Oakland, California, are now holding good positions, a record attributed to the following causes:
The policy of eliminating non-essentials, concentrating effort on only those subjects which will be necessary in standard engineering practice and giving "every boy a chance" has attracted young men who have a definite idea of what life work they want to do and why they want to do it. Thus the student body of the Polytechnic College of Engineering is made up of a more than earnest class of men than will usually be found in the ordinary institution where a large percentage of time is devoted to culture and social activities.

DAVIS DONS NEW CHEWING OUTFIT

Yesterday was a day of record smashing—Pangborn and Herndon aroused the world with their hop to Turkey, and Earle Davis the city of Medford with his jump from an old to a new set of uppers.

Fifteen minutes after the local comedian said farewell to the moccasins, biplane and cetera, that made up the flashing row of antics he exhibited to his public, Little Earle donned a brand new plate and resumed his smile. He wore the new teeth all afternoon, and slept with them last night. Today he's trying his—eat to eat with them.
Dr. R. Ralph Dippel did the pulling and Dr. B. L. Lagson the center work and both report Earle a tough customer with a yen for fancy eye teeth.

MAN MADE FIRES NOT DECREASING AVERS FORESTER

CRATER LAKE.—(Special.) Altho the public is gradually becoming more educated in the ways of caution with fire when camping or traveling through timber lands, the number of forest fires in the nation, as a whole, has shown no appreciable decrease, Major R. Y. Stuart, Washington, D. C., United States chief forester, said in an interview given during a visit to the Crater Lake National park this week.

While campers follow forest rules prohibiting the leaving of live camp fires or the throwing away of cigarettes, good roads and automobiles have so increased the travel that fire protection education loses some of its benefits because of the increased number of travelers, he said.
Major Stuart placed the acreage of national forest lands in the western states in excess of 150 million acres in comparison to six million acres in the east. However, efforts are being made to increase the eastern acreage as much as possible to protect the large areas of timber land still existing to the east of the nation.
W. H. Lynch, Portland, district engineer for the federal bureau of public roads, Dr. L. I. Howes, San Francisco, deputy chief of the bureau in charge of the western district, C. J. Buck, Portland, regional forester, Hugh Rankin, Crater national forest supervisor, and John R. Sargent, resident engineer, bureau of public roads composed a party which accompanied Major Stuart to Diamond lake and other sections of the Crater national forest inspecting road work and other activities.

CRATER VISITORS SET NEW RECORD

CRATER LAKE, July 31.—(Special.) The 100,000 attendance mark was passed in the Crater Lake national park Wednesday, July 29, fully a week ahead of last year, when that total was reached August 5. With the travel holding up to the average of the past summer, the season's total is expected to be in excess of 180,000, compared to 157,000 for 1930. The travel season ends October 1. Daily attendance averages 1100 and on Sundays is in excess of 3000. The biggest day so far this season came July 4, with 4334 visitors, followed by over 3000 people on the following day. Travel for the past week had a total of 10,928 people, of whom 4736 came from California and 4676 from Oregon.
Californiaans continue to head the list for park visitors, followed by Oregon and Washington. Quite a number of cars have been making their appearance the past month from eastern and middlewestern states, with visitors from Pennsylvania, New York, Ohio, Indiana, Wisconsin, and Illinois noticeably in evidence.
