President Extends Hospitality To Boardman And Polando At Famous Byzantine Health Resort.

By Priscilla Blag
 ISTANBUL, Turkey, Aug. 1.—(AP)—Russell Boardman and John Polando, American trans-Atlantic aviators, left Istanbul today in President Mustapha Kemal's launch for Yalova, famous Byzantine thermal resort made into a modern spa by the Turkish president last year.

The president rarely receives visitors, but has made an exception, in the case of the aviators and will entertain them and decorate them with medals from the Turkish aviation league.

Premier Ismet Pasha and Foreign Minister Tewfik Ruzbek Bey will be present at the ceremony as well as American Ambassador Grew, C. Howland Shaw, councillor of the embassy, and the governor of Istanbul.

See Non-Stop Glides

Before much longer, people will be flying around the world in airplanes without a single stop, John Polando predicted today.

"It will be done," he explained, "by refueling in the air. The real question is the important thing. The greatest problem we faced in our flight was getting off the ground with enough gasoline to bring us here."

In addition to meeting the president, the fliers' program for the day included a ceremony at which they were to receive gold medals, encrusted with precious stones; a call on the governor of Istanbul, and visits to the military commander and the president of the Turkish aviation league.

Plans Indefinite

Both aviators were enthusiastic about the future of flying. Boardman declared that within a few years it would be easier flying from Paris to New York than it is now to travel from Paris to Istanbul by train.

Their plans remained indefinite today. Asked whether he would like to fly back to New York without a stop, Boardman said:

"No, I would certainly want to stop off and see some of those pretty European cities we glimpsed from the air."

Aviation authorities here agreed the Cape Cod's mileage was 4,984, which would easily give her the world's distance record.

SHEEPMEN CLAIM GRAZING RIGHTS

An answer and cross-complaint was filed here yesterday by a large group of Jackson county sheep raisers to the case recently instigated against them by Ralph Phelps, Chester Phelps and other cattlemen. The protesting sheepmen contend that unless the restraining order issued against them is removed they will suffer irreparable loss and damage.

The cattlemen brought suit alleging that the sheep were being allowed to pasture on land which they were using for their cattle. They further contended that the sheep were ruining the pasture and the sheepmen's effort was being made to keep them off the land although the sheepmen had no right to it.

In the answer filed yesterday, it is denied that the government land involved in the dispute is for exclusive use as cattle range. The land is in the Greensprings district. They believe that the plaintiffs have no exclusive cattle grazing right to the pasture.

The 20 sheep owners involved include Lewis White, Manuel De Sousa, Caroline Cooley, J. L. Cooley, A. B. Chaple, E. B. Baer, Claude Lang, Ed Baer, J. R. Bell, Herman Holscher, George D. Williams, Herman Kist, C. J. Nulton, Fred Moore, Elmer Hopkins, A. B. Madego, Louis Miller, Charles Leskey, and A. J. Cooley.

A restraining order was issued July 19 which has prohibited holders from grazing their sheep on the sections in question.

Edward G. Morrison at Holly Wednesday

The fans who have been clamoring to see Edward G. Morrison in another role after his sensational work in "Little Caesar" will doubtless flock to the Holly theatre to see "Smart Money" when it opens its engagement at the Holly Wednesday.

Robinson plays a small town barber, but also a gambler willing to take a chance on anything. James Cagney is also featured. Two great stars in a picture said to be one of the finest of the year.

LOCALS

Closed for Repairs
 The Rex cafe, at 121 East Main street was closed yesterday for repairs. The establishment is expected to reopen some time next week.

Policeman Here 10 Years
 On the thirty-first day of July, Joe Cave completed ten years as a member of the Medford police force. He has the record of having been on the Medford staff longer than any man now employed there. This record also holds true in the county, as no other police officer now working with any town or city in the county has put in ten years of service with them.

Boy, Nine, Attended 15 Schools
 MEMPHIS, Aug. 1.—(UP)—John Hatton Digbee, III, nine, has attended 15 different schools while advancing six grades. His father is a traveling man and takes his family along. The boy's schooling so far, has embraced four different states.

CONSTABULARY CHIEF STARTS LOCAL DUTIES

Headquarters Either At Court House Or City Hall To Co-Operate With Medford Authorities.

State police officers for the southwest district yesterday conferred all afternoon with the newly appointed captain, Lee Bown, who arrived in this city Friday evening, and work was started on details of schedules and other matters under their jurisdiction, according to the state law which went into effect August 1.

The district office will be located in either the city hall along with the city police officers, or in the county court house Bown stated, but definite arrangements have not been completed. At the present time, until the headquarters are definitely established, the state patrolmen may be reached at either of the offices named.

Here to Co-Operate

"We are here to co-operate with local authorities and to eliminate any duplications," the captain said. "Our work is to be organized in such a way that it reduces cost to the taxpayers."

The work of the newly-appointed police is to enforce all of the state laws. Their duties, however, deal especially with violations along the state highways and main thoroughfares, and includes rulings by the state fire marshal, and the enforcement of the prohibition law.

A twenty-four hour patrol will be conducted out of Medford, under the new organization, which takes in seven counties and Lakeview. No officer will be stationed at Ashland at the present time, but will work directly from Medford. Hubert Hoxie and Tom Sheridan, who were formerly with the state traffic department in Grants Pass will continue in that city as state policemen.

Definite arrangements have not been made as to where B. M. Bantom, Joe B. Folsom, James O'Brien and Elwyn Van deWalker, other police in this district, will be stationed. O. O. Nichols was named lieutenant at Klamath Falls by Charles P. Pray superintendent of the police, and Clarence C. Williams chosen sergeant at Coquille.

Work With Bureau

A bureau of identification and investigation as well as information will be conducted in connection with Pray's offices in Salem, and the local headquarters will receive information direct from the capital and carry out instructions from there. The Salem bureau will be in charge of George C. Alexander, who has been head of the state prohibition department for the past four years.

Assistant Superintendent Harry M. Miles is expected in Medford soon to conduct a school of instruction for the personnel. He was selected from the Portland police department to assist in perfecting the organization.

"There are a few recruits," Bown stated, "and they will undergo a course of schooling previous to their assignments."

Bown expressed his appreciation in receiving the appointment to Medford, and his wife and child are expected to arrive here soon to make their home. Bown was formerly deputy sheriff of Lane county, and resided in Eugene.

Missionary Groups

Meet on Tuesday

The Woman's Foreign Missionary society and the Woman's Home Missionary society of the First M. E. church will meet in joint session, Tuesday afternoon, with Mrs. C. W. Whillock, 714 West Tenth street, Mrs. I. A. Dew will lead the study. Mrs. Cora Carder will lead the devotions. This will be mite box opening of the foreign society. Mrs. Riley D. Hemson will conduct this service. Assisting hostesses are Mrs. B. J. Palmer, Mrs. R. A. Koppes, Mrs. Cora Carder.

APPLE PROMISES DOUBLE CROP FOR MEDFORD OWNER

A freak apple crop may be in store for James C. Murray, for in the yard at his home at 734 West Fourteenth street is an apple tree four or five years of age, which is in full bloom for the second time this fruit year, and for that reason is attracting wide attention and arousing much curiosity.

This tree of an early variety, bloomed last spring like others of its kind, and the blossoms gradually grew into small, well formed apples, which sight caused Jim to rub his hands frequently in misery glee at thought of his harvest later on, until suddenly the crop began dropping off the tree.

Now that the tree is blooming again, the perplexed Jim is scratching his head this time, instead of rubbing his hands, and knows not what to expect.

When the second blooming of the tree was described to County Agent R. C. Fowler yesterday he was much interested and said that the tree's conduct was very reprehensible to say the least, and that such second-blooming was very unusual in the fruit world. He said that he would view the curiosity as soon as possible.

In the meantime Jim Murray is scratching his head deeper daily, for in these hard times he does not like to spend any money massaging the tree with the various sprays prescribed to bring apples to maturity for harvest free from blights and disease, unless he has to.

The cost of even one such spray might buy more shells for his gun during the fall hunting season, but a comforting thought to him is that apple trees are going to sport apples by winter, the Chinese pheasants and quail may possibly be wingless and the deer legless this fall. One can expect most anything.

APPLGATE FIRE IN JOSEPHINE CO.

Word was received here late yesterday afternoon at the Crater national forest office that a forest fire of considerable dimension was burning in brush on state protected land one mile north of the Applegate postoffice. No other details had been received here by early last evening.

Although on state land this fire is in the territory of the Josephine county state-land fire patrol, which is fighting it, and neither the Crater national forest nor Dwight Phipps, district state fire warden of Jackson county, contribute to the fire fighting unless some great emergency should arrive.

CHANGE RADIO CHURCH PROGRAM FOR TONIGHT

Plans announced in yesterday's paper for the services of the Valley Radio church have been changed. The subject "Are We Accountable for Our Actions?" will be postponed until a later date.

Some very talented men and women visiting in Medford have consented to appear on a special program tonight between eight and nine over KMBD.

Mrs. W. C. Thompson of Eugene will sing a song and Mrs. George Bigler will occupy the story period.

A mixed quartet will sing and J. L. McConaughy, missionary volunteer secretary will give a solo. "Because He Loves Me" will be presented by Mrs. W. W. Walker of Grants Pass. The sermon will be delivered by Pastor Meade MacGuire of Washington, D. C.

WOMAN BREWER PAYS $15 FINE

Ethel Jones, 805 West Second street, who was arrested Friday night when 12 gallons of beer were seized at her home, was fined $15 in justice of the Peace Coleman's court at Jacksonville yesterday. George Stepp, who was also arrested Friday night, and was bound over to the grand jury, and was bound over to the grand jury. Twelve pints of moonshine whiskey were taken at 729 West Second street where Stepp was arrested.

Fred Rudy is scheduled to appear in court Monday morning, charged with possession of 28 pints of beer. Police officers were called to the Rudy home on North Riverside by neighbors, who said that Rudy was drunk, and was beating his wife.

Warrants for the arrest of Ethel Jones and Stepp were obtained from the Jacksonville official.

ALL FEET FITTED With M-M Shoes

No matter how large their feet, or how hard they were to please, customers at the M. M. Department store's basement sale yesterday had plenty of shoes to choose from. Friday afternoon an entire truck load of low-priced shoes was received for the big sale event which started Saturday.

A large number of southern Oregon mothers and fathers took advantage of this opportunity to purchase children's school shoes. Due to the special shipment unusually low prices are offered to M. M. basement shoppers.

LARGER PARCELS MAY BE MAILED

Beginning with yesterday the new postoffice department rule governing parcel post packages, by which one can send larger packages in girth and weight to all the various zones went into effect.

The size of the packages now allowed is increased from 84 inches maximum to 100 inches, length and girth combined, and the weight limit is increased beyond the first three zones from 50 to 70 pounds. The first three zones remain as heretofore, and parcel post rates unchanged except that parcels exceeding 84 inches in combined length and girth and not exceeding 100 inches, but weighing less than ten pounds, will be charged for at the 10 pound rate.

AUTO REGISTRY OFFICE MOVING

Offices for registration on non-resident autos will be moved today from the Chamber of Commerce building to 35 South Riverside, L. C. Garlock, local manager of the Oregon State Motor association announced last night.

Offices have been established in the front section of the Public Market building affording a splendid location for tourists traveling the Pacific highway.

The rear of the building has been rented to J. J. Osenbrugg, Nash dealer.

210 PENNSYLVANIA FARMERS COMING

A party of 210 Pennsylvania farmers and their families on an American, Canadian, and Mexican tour will spend a few hours in Medford, August 9, according to advice given the Chamber of Commerce and Ministerial association by A. S. Rosenbaum, district agent for the Southern Pacific Co.

The special train consisting of a club car, eleven sleepers, two diners and a New York Central observation car will arrive here at 10 a. m. Sunday, August 9. Local members of the various churches and others co-operating with the Ministerial association and Chamber of Commerce will meet the party at the station, taking them to the various churches for Sunday school and church service after which they will be taken for a short ride around the valley and possibly inspect some of the packing houses. The train is scheduled to leave Medford at 1:30 p. m.

PICTURE LOCALS IN NATIONAL MAGAZINE

"It was a long journey, but the one" is the heading for the page display of pictures taken out of the United States when good-will fleets toured the continent to Seattle for the convention.

Included in the group is a pair of two of the cars taken in the Medford Elks temple when fleet visited here. A number of Elks are also shown in the graph.
