

LEGIONNAIRES OF OREGON TO OPEN MEET THURSDAY

CORVALLIS, Ore., Aug. 5.—(AP)—Legionnaires of Oregon turned toward Corvallis today where what promises to be the largest annual American Legion state convention will open tomorrow for a three-day session.

Streets of the city were gaily decorated and all arrangements for the meeting had been made today. All state officers and hundreds of delegates and visitors were in the city.

The Legion committee on credentials met during the day, and this session was to be followed by the meeting of the committee on committees. The executive committee will meet tonight prior to the first entertainment feature, a dance.

The Legion and Auxiliary sessions will open at 9:00 o'clock tomorrow. Business meetings will occupy most of the morning, although time has been allowed for a number of stunts, band concerts and an excursion trip.

Much of Thursday has been given over to 40 or 42 festivities, to include the grand promenade, the parade, wrestling matches and the customary 40 or 42 "wreck."

Two major athletic events will be held tomorrow. The first of these, at 2:30 p. m., will be the first game of the junior American Legion baseball championship on the college field between Portland and Salem. The other event is the open air wrestling card at Bell field.

Golf and bowling tournaments will start Friday, and the second baseball game will be on the same day. If a third game is required to decide the state championship, it will take place Saturday afternoon at 1:00 p. m.

One of the highlights of the convention will be the address of Ralph T. O'Neil, national commander of the Legion.

The drum corps contest in which more than 300 trumpet and drum artists will compete Friday, will include entries from 11 posts of the state. Competition will be for the championship trophy and, perhaps, a trip to the national Legion convention at Detroit.

Salem won the drum corps contest last year.

...ferring to the Medford situation, "and we think that considering the urgent necessity of taking remedial measures to do away with the worst features of the present septic tank until a new disposal system can be built, the plan we have suggested despite the fact of the city lacking ready funds for the purpose, is possible."

"Most any person or organization can do a thing in an ordinary way, but this is an extraordinary problem and there is a way out, as we have outlined. Sufficient money can be borrowed from the banks to employ a specialist engineer and get rid of the worst features of the present septic tank system, until an entire new sewage disposal plant can be constructed."

In the informal talk that followed on the suggested plan between members of the citizens' committee and city officials, it was finally tentatively agreed that the citizens' committee would enlarge its membership from 12 to 16 members, which enlargement would be reported back to the city council meeting tonight, and that the latter committee would co-operate in selecting an engineer specialist and also in the future in solving the sewage problem.

Adoption Forecast

The outlook is that the city council tonight will formally adopt the citizens' committee proffered solution plan.

The proposed enlarged citizens' committee is as follows:

...The plan calls for putting this temporary solution in effect pending final decision of the question by a board of arbitration. The price would remain at $2.17 1/2 during the negotiations and subject to further change by the arbitration board.

Inasmuch as distributors are contracted to April 30, 1932, to buy some milk from independents, these contracts would be carried out until that date, after which all milk would be obtained from the co-operative.

Block Deliveries

It appeared today that the farmers and their association had effectively blocked delivery of the usual supply to the group of independent distributors they are fighting, necessitating importation of milk from Washington and California. This milk is not inspected by the city and therefore can not be sold as grade A or B.

organization, appeared in prospect today.

Will Henry, spokesman for the Dairy Co-operative association, who earlier declared his organization would not arbitrate, said he is willing to place all facts before the board appointed by Mayor George L. Baker. A. M. Work, representing the distributors, agreed to arbitrate the controversy.

Demand Better Price

The dairymen demand a price better than the average of three cents a quart the distributors have been paying them. In an attempt to force the higher price a strike was declared last Friday. Thousands of gallons of milk consigned to distributors was destroyed and trucks were unloaded and dumped, forcing distributors to import milk from outside the state.

The "fact finding" commission appointed by the mayor was to meet again this afternoon. At yesterday's session the two warring factions took under consideration the commission's proposal that the distributors begin buying their milk from the co-operative at a price of $2.17 1/2 per 100 pounds.

Make Compromise

This is a compromise as against the $2.10 offered by the distributors, and $2.25 demanded by the association.

The plan calls for putting this temporary solution in effect pending final decision of the question by a board of arbitration. The price would remain at $2.17 1/2 during the negotiations and subject to further change by the arbitration board.

BARRELED BERRIES ARE DECLARED UNFIT

SALEM, Aug. 5.—(AP)—The first food condemnation hearing under the new department of agriculture yesterday afternoon it was announced here, B. F. Emery company of Lebanon has been cited to appear before J. D. Mickle, chief of the division of food and dairy products, to show cause, if any, why 13 barrels of frozen raspberries found to contain heavy mold and dirt deposits should not be destroyed as unfit for human consumption.

TICKETS TO TANK ROTARY'S GIFT TO BOYS AND GIRLS

An announcement of keen interest to the boys and girls of this community has just been made public by the Medford Rotary club. The local Rotarians have purchased 1000 swim tickets from Merrick's natorium and will distribute them to deserving children who are unable to pay for swimming privileges. The tickets will be distributed through the Medford Chamber of Commerce on the basis of 50 a day. Each ticket entitles the child to not only a free swim but a suit and towel as well. No tickets will be given adults.

This novel plan was worked out by the "Community Service" committee of the Medford Rotary club to provide swimming advantages for local kiddies during the rest of the hot weather this season. The Rotarians have been working on a plan for a community swimming pool for some time and hope to be able to put over this worthy project next year. For the time being however the free swim tickets should take care of all worthy youngsters who want to swim and lack the necessary funds. Local citizens are urged to co-operate with the Rotarians in recommending only worthy cases. The plan is now in operation and tickets are available at the chamber of commerce building.

Footstore Maidens Wait Home Funds As County Guests

Marjory Phillips, 13, and May Dunn, 15, two mild-mannered maidens, whose parents reside at Los Angeles, Calif., are detained in the women's ward of the county jail, awaiting funds from their home county, so they will not have to depend on walking, and kind-hearted motorists, to get back to the parental domicile. They were found by police early this morning, hungry, chilled and footsore from walking most of the way from Portland.

The two young ladies left Los Angeles two weeks ago "to see the world," and have no further arduous travel by reason of hardships endured. They missed many meals, and had no funds.

Today in the women's ward they were busy sleeping and eating.

The Arctic circle dawn as the holidaying Lindberghs made their landing. They had flown thruout the short night in the land of the midnight sun, tracing their route along the upper rim of Canada's mainland in a straight-line flight from Baker lake, off the west shore of Hudson Bay.

Never before had the northwest territories been spanned in a single jump, even by the fearless northland fliers whose livelihood is made in flying over the lake-dotted tundra country. The takeoff was made at 6:35 E. S. T. last night, after the outside world had come to the conclusion that the Lindberghs would spend a second night at Baker lake.

Along the edge of the Arctic circle the daring flight of the trim plane had been directed, but not a word of the progress of the top-of-the-world dash was received by radio stations listening eagerly in the north. Aklavik lies 130 miles within the Arctic circle, while Baker lake is a similar distance outside.

At Aklavik, the Lindberghs have completed more than 3000 miles of their 7000-mile tour from New York to Tokyo. They have completed five hops in as many days, resting overnight after each jump. But the Baker Lake-Aklavik trip was the first to extend through the night. While the Lindberghs appeared fresh after their long flight, it seemed certain they would rest here overnight before pressing on to Alaska.

ANDREN ROOF BLAZES FROM STRAY SPARK

LOW PRICES SEEN AT FASHION SHOW FRENCH DICTATORS

By Adelaide Kerr.

PARIS, Aug. 5.—(AP)—Prices described as lower than those of pre-war days were announced last night at a brilliant fall fashion opening displaying practical modes for daytime wear and ruffe, swishing trains of the eighties for evening.

Jacques Worth, claiming the house of Worth had not stinted in the quality or quantity of materials, workmanship or embroidered details, said he had met the demand of economic conditions with a price cut of 25 per cent under last season, resulting in prices materially lower than in 1914.

Even the hoops of grandmother's day entered the style picture. One black lace evening gown, designed with full skirt, was hooped at the hips and edged at the square décolletage with a standing narrow black net frill. Gowns which followed the modern line were pale mauve satin silver and white brocade violette marquisette, designed with skirts of flowing soft folds around the insteps.

Day coats based on a slim, semi-fitted silhouette buttoned around the figures, indicating the passing of the wrap-around coats which must be clutched at the waist. They were often uncollared and designed with round necks.
