Humane Society Cites Auto Law

The local Humane society is calling attention this week to an article recently published in the Morning Oregonian, devoted to items in the state traffic code dealing with the transportation of animals.

"It reads: 'This provision inserted to insure humane treatment of animals, particularly dogs, states that animals shall not be carried on the running board or exterior part of the car unless proper protection is provided.

"Likewise, and more important, children must not be carried on the exterior part of the car. That part of the code dealing with these matters says:

"It shall be unlawful for any person to carry a dog upon a public street or highway upon the hood, fender, running board or other external part of any automobile or truck unless the same shall be protected by frame work, carrier or other device sufficient to keep any such animal from falling from said automobile; provided, further, that it shall be unlawful at any time for any person to carry any child upon a public street or highway upon the hood, fender, running board or other external part of any vehicle."

Court Receipts Heavy in July

Despite the fact that the city court ceased to function for the remainder of the month when Judge Taylor departed on his vacation on July 15th last, that court had a fairly good month in financial receipts, as on the first fifteen days the total moneys collected in the twenty cases totaled $288, far surpassing the total receipts for June, which were but $50.

During July there were eleven cases of intoxication, including one $13 fine and one $10 fine. There were six cases of $10 each forfeited cash bail bonds and three cash bail forfeitures of $5 each.

There were four cases of liquor possession, with one $25 fine, one $50 cash bail forfeiture and two $10 cash bail forfeitures.

Milton, 25, married Wills Sears, 19 of Portland in 1930. Last March he married Kathleen High, 18, of Ashland, a month after he had secured a divorce from his first wife, contrary to Oregon law.

Both the girl-wives were in court yesterday and made pleas for leniency for Milton. They fell on deaf ears, and the court characterized them as "an imposition on justice."

A pathetic feature of the case, is that one of the wives is an expectant mother.

SURPLUS WHEAT TO SAVE CHINA'S STARVING URGED

Ten Million Face Death Before Spring as Result of Floods—Long Term Credit Plan for Supply

SHANGHAI, Aug. 8.—(AP)—Declaring at least 10,000,000 dwellers in the flooded valleys of central China face starvation before spring unless aid is given them, John Earl Baker, outstanding American authority on Chinese disasters, today suggested that part of the United States farm board's surplus wheat be poured into China for relief purposes under long term credit arrangements between the Chinese and American governments.

Baker, who is adviser to the ministry of railways at Nanking, told the Associated Press correspondent that the present floods probably constituted China's most terrible disaster in the present century.

Heavy Damage. Although trustworthy data was lacking, Baker, who directed the international relief work in the Szechuan and Kansu famine region in 1930, said in his opinion a conservative estimate of the property damage of the present floods would total $300,000,000, but he refused to even guess what the death toll might reach.

He said the Nanking government had not begun a serious survey of the disaster which would be necessary before relief could be undertaken on a gigantic scale.

Elaborating his suggestion that American wheat be loaned to China, Baker estimated at least 5,000,000 bushels monthly would be required for a period of six months or more.

Would Save Lives. "Wheat could be shipped to China under credit arrangements between the American and Chinese governments," Baker said. "Some critics may insist the Chinese government's preliminary notes would be of little value, but certainly the wheat farm board is holding a little value to anyone in America, while it would save many lives in China."

"Such relief would should be distributed in the form of wages to the refugee laborers restoring dykes, digging new river channels and perhaps building new roads to traverse the afflicted regions, thus raising the morale of the flood victims besides preventing starvation.

Little Salvaged. "The areas actually flooded embrace a population of 50 millions. I estimate that fully 10 millions of persons escaped the inundation of their homes only with what they were able to carry on their backs, fleeing in small sampans (Chinese boats) or on doors on which they padded away from their crumbling homes.

"These people shortly will be destitute and without food until the new crop can be harvested."

SAMS VALLEY GRANGE PLANS RIVER MEETING WITH ENTERTAINMENT

SAMS VALLEY, Ore., Aug. 8.—(Sp.) The men proved good entertainers with their program under the direction of H. E. Nealon at Saturday night's Grange meeting, when the first program of the men and women's contest was put on. The men's program included strangled music, humorous stories, and ended with a geography contest, in which three members tied for the prize.

During the business session, the chairman of the agriculture committee, R. H. Seemiller, gave a thorough report on the present margin existing between the producer and consumer by butterfat, stating he believed it much wider than justifiable.

In reviewing successful projects that farmer organizations have promoted, Mr. Seemiller cited the Eagle Point cheese factory and complimented the salesman, Harry Ward, for his accomplishments as the grangers' agent to the factory's success.

R. E. Nealon read an article disclaiming some of the false propaganda against prohibition.

The members voted to hold a river party for their next meeting, August 16. The meeting place will likely be on Rogue river behind the Nealon ranch. A definite announcement will be given in the Mail Tribune next week. All members are requested to attend. The ladies of the Grange will serve home-made ice cream and cake.

During the evening the ladies will put on the program assigned by Mrs. Geo. McDonough as a completion to the men and women's contest. Three young men from the Central Point Grange will serve as judges, having witnessed the men's program Saturday night.

Those reported on the sick list Saturday night were Mrs. McKinnis, Mrs. Jim Crawford and Walter McDonough. The lecturer advised that the Kiwanis club of Medford will put on the program at the first regular meeting in September.
