Sheriff Ralph Jennings returned late last night from an all-day hunt in the Lake o' the Woods country for Jack Wells, 30, resident of the Pelican Bay district, alleged to have gon on a rampage Thursday with a black-handled knife. Klamath coun-ty authorities were also hunting for Wells, sought for alleged assault with a dangerous weapon.

The hunt was characterized as part "false alarm, and part wild goose chase," owing to the fact that some of the women residents of the Pell-can Bay camp, near where Wells re-sides, exaggerated his tantrums. He is alleged to have been intoxicated and flourished the knife, more in bluster than in seriousness.

First reports of the affairs were received from a ranger station near Pelican Bay, and the impression was gained that a serious situation ex The fact that the law was hunting

JACKSON COUNTY MAP TO INCLUDE DETAILS

Charles F. Metsker, mapmaker from Portland, has arrived in Medford to do preparatory work upon a proposed map of Jackson county. Mr. Metsker has just completed a map of Lane county in the Willamette valley. Eighteen Oregon counties have been mapped by the Metsker system in the past few years. The map of Jackson county would be more desaled than any now made, Mr. Mets-ker states. It would include all farms, roads, paths, donation land claims, streams, towns and many other interesting details. Maps made of other countles of the state have proven of much value to many per-sons. Nearly every Washington coun-ty has also been mapped.

New Thrill Serial Starts Rialto Run

Paul Lukas has been placed in the most significant role of his career in "Women Love Once," the romantic drama which opened at the Fox Rialto theatre today for a two day

Lukas is seen as the artist husband who, with his wife, Eleanor Board-man, and their four-year-old daugh-ter, Marilyn Knowlden, live a peaceful existence in a big city.

But the screnity is jarred when Juliette Compton, wealthy society patroness of things artistic, persuades Paul to go to Paris to Improve Als technique so that he can qualify for the higher forms of the daubing

Miss Boardman has no misgivings about the trip; in fact she urges Paul to go, making this sacrifice in the hope that it will result in a richer future for them all.

But when he returns, Paul is a changed man.

Marie Dressler Is Star At Craterian

In "Polities," starting Sunday at the Fox Craterian, for a three day and abetted by Polly Moran, romps through screamingly comical situa-tions, and into the bargain gives the audience a taste of the character work that she displayed in "Anna Christie" and "Min and Bill."

The new picture is a hilarious story of Marie as a feminine candidate for mayor, with the agile Polly as her campaign manager. She harangues the woman's vote, conducts torchlight processions, handles political railies and even calls out the women of the town on a strike against their hus-bands for the sake of civic purity.
