

PETROLLE THREAT IS WIPED OUT BY DECISIVE BEATING

Fargo Express Holds Irish Jimmy Even In Only Two Rounds—Fans Gain Mild Thrill In Uneven Match.

By Alan Gould (Associated Press Sports Editor.) NEW YORK, Aug. 21.—(AP)—The clan of McLarnin can rest easy today so far as the threat of battle-scarred little Billy Petrolle, the one-time Fargo Express, is concerned.

Chunky, pink-faced Jimmy McLarnin, the pride and joy of the clan, settled the matter quite convincingly last night before a small and only mildly aroused crowd at the Yankee stadium. Jimmy whipped and battered Petrolle so decisively, in ten rounds, that it became quite monotonous before the formality of raising the glove by the referee.

Before receiving the unanimous decision, McLarnin did everything but spit his own blood. He was far the more decisive of the two and altogether wiped out the stigma attached to the McLarnin scutcheon by the slugging Jimmy absorbed one night at Madison Square Gardens last winter.

McLarnin was too strong, fast and clever for Petrolle. Jimmy had a 7-pound pull in the weights, scaling 166 to Billy's 139, and used it to good advantage.

Petrolle's best rounds were the third and fifth. He held McLarnin even on points in these two, landing effectively to the head and body. He cut Jimmy's lip in the fifth. McLarnin carried the remaining eight rounds by good sized margins. He was seldom in danger from Petrolle's crouching lunges, and gave the crowd his old somersault after the final round.

MAX ADVISED TO TAKE VACATION

BERLIN, Aug. 21.—(AP)—On the advice of his physicians, Max Schmeling, world's heavyweight champion, will do no boxing until November, his manager, Joe Jacobs, said today. After some preliminary gymnasium work, the champion will appear in exhibitions in London and Paris, Jacobs said, with an eye to the possibility of a title match with Mickey Walker, either at Miami, Fla., or Atlantic City, N. J., in February.

Jacobs also foresaw the possibility of a match in time with Jack Dempsey. On the basis of cablegrams he has received from the United States, Jacobs said, he felt confident Dempsey would make a determined effort to get in shape in an attempt to regain the title.

About this season of the year the perennial stories of the alleged "slaughtering of game birds by hunters" begin to make their appearance. Always exaggerated, they apply to but rare and isolated cases. A thorough study of where game birds go and by what enemy they are killed proves interesting to most of us.

A conservative survey made by game protective organizations all over the nation has revealed that only about eight per cent of the game birds killed each year are shot by hunters. This in itself proves alarming and starts one to wondering just where they do disappear.

Here's the answer as set forth by the survey: Most pheasants and other of the birds are killed by mowing machines, snakes, cats, hawks and enemies of this kind. And of course it is difficult to count them. Mowing machines, it is found, run over the nests and smash the eggs or injure and kill the young birds. The farmers make every effort to avoid this, even to mowing around next when they have been discovered. But nests are carefully hidden and are seldom seen until the damage has been done.

Stray cats, however, could be done away with to a great extent. The cats which are abandoned along country roads and must hunt for themselves are the ones that kill most game birds.

And while on the subject of cats, a law has been passed in Pennsylvania which requires all cats to wear bells. Strays are shot by state officers. Killing of birds is greatly reduced, it is found, although the bells in no way interfere with the cats as mousers. That's an extreme example.

Hawks, snakes, squirrels—all feed on young pheasants and quail and are not adverse to eating a grown bird providing they can catch one. So it seems that the game associations are stocking the fields with birds and attempting to increase game while natural and unnatural causes tend to keep the bird population at a set figure.

If Mr. Malibus had a theory on game bird population, it was probably about right.

BRAND HURLING GREAT BALL FOR BOSTON BRAVES

Southpaw Boosts Average To .667—16th Victory Chalked Up In Defeat Of Pittsburgh Pirates.

By Hugh S. Fulerton, Jr. (Associated Press Sports Writer)

Ed Brandt, who has been pitching for the Boston Braves for several seasons without even threatening the .500 mark in the averages, not only has surpassed all his own hurling marks this year but has made himself one of the best southpaws in the National league.

Brandt hurried in his 16th victory of the year yesterday when the Braves downed the Pittsburgh Pirates, 2 to 1, in the ten-inning first game of a double header. He has lost eight contests, giving him an average of .667, which only Bill Walker of New York has beaten among the league's left handers. A year ago Brandt could win only four games out of 22. Now he has more games in the "won" column than any rival in the league.

Pirates Win Nightcap The Pirates, came back strong against Bill Sherdell in the second game and won 5 to 4 as Pie Traynor drove in three runs.

What gaining was done in the National league yesterday went to the credit of the New York Giants. Some timely hitting behind Carl Hubbell, with Fred Leach's homer as a climax, gave New York a 3 to 1 victory over Larry Benton and the Cincinnati Reds. This triumph put the Giants a full game ahead of the defeated Chicago Cubs and 8½ behind the league leading St. Louis Cardinals, who were rained out in Philadelphia.

The Cubs could make no headway against Watson Clark of Brooklyn until the ninth inning and by that time, Brooklyn had come through with an eighth-inning rally against Charley Root that netted them four runs and a 4 to 1 victory.

Averil Sets Record Heavy hitting again played the big part in the American league program and with it came the broken record that has become almost a daily occurrence in the junior circuit.

East Averil, Cleveland slugger, crashed his 27th home run of the year as the Indians made it three straight over Washington's second place Senators by a 10 to 6 count. The homer broke the Cleveland record set last year by Eddie Morgan, who also clouted a four bagger yesterday as one of the 17 hits of Marberry and Fischer.

STOCKTON JUNIORS DOWN ALBUQUERQUE

The Stockton boys eliminated Albuquerque, 8 to 0, while New Orleans rallied in the seventh for a 6 to 5 victory over Milwaukee.

Charles P. Talent, appointed by Secretary of State Hal Hoes as state supervisor of the non-resident registration offices, light adjusting stations authorized by the secretary, and other bureaus under that department's jurisdiction, has returned to Medford from Salem where he spent several days on business.

Although he has the whole state to check, Talent plans to spend three or four days every two weeks at his headquarters in Medford, which are temporarily located at the Holland hotel. He will remain in Medford one week, getting his equipment ready before making his initial trip.

Talent announced yesterday that he will visit points along the coast, Portland and Salem, then cities and towns in eastern Oregon. Supervisor Talent will also cooperate with sheriffs throughout the state in issuing temporary licenses.

Talent Establishes Headquarters Here As Oregon Official

When bigger and better home-runs were desired, for box-office purposes, the Yankees bought Babe Ruth and set him up in comfortable circumstances.

When matters became so one-sided that it was necessary to develop competitive interest, Colonel Ruppert's able manager, Miller Huggins, encouraged the long-distance slugging talent of Columbus Lou Gehrig.

Now that the squeeze play and the stolen base have been restored to popularity, the Yankees fulfilled their public trust by turning loose the most accomplished base-runner of the season—William Benjamin Chapman.

Chapman was close to the 40-mark in base thefts by the latter part of July. This put him well on the path to the best record of post war times and in a class with such base-runners as Collins, Cobb, Carey and Bescher, who swiped anywhere from 50 to nearly 100 bases annually in the good old days.

Big Ben's style is not fancy or as technically flawless as was Carey's. The rangy Yankee star relies on sheer speed. He has been something of an odd-chorer man in his short professional career.

He is only 22 years old now, with plenty of time and chance to develop. He was a shortstop with Asheville, played third for St. Paul, and was switched to second base mostly with the Yankees until Joe McCarthy switched him to the outfield as an emergency measure that has now become permanent.

SENATOR PITCHER FREED FROM JAIL TO DEFEAT REDS

(By the Associated Press.) From out of Novato, Cal., jail last night came the man who brought a 5 to 3 victory for Sacramento over the Mission Reds.

It was Tony Freitas, Senator pitcher. His feet got too heavy on the throttle and the judge said he must spend five days in jail.

Sacramento, however, needed a victory, so a deputy sheriff escorted Freitas to the game and returned him to the bastle afterwards.

Los Angeles defeated Portland, 14 to 7, making just twice as many runs, hits and errors as the Beavers. A quartet of the Portland pitchers took the mound, but none of them was able to stop the Angel hitting spree.

San Francisco's Seals went scoreless for eight innings, then put on a six-run rally to defeat Seattle, 9 to 3, in the tenth inning.

Another extra inning game brought the Hollywood Stars a 6 to 3 over Oakland in the 11th inning.
