cold as you get from General Electric, A. T. T. Standard Oil of Indiana, or any big railroad. Big business, and little business, big men and little men, are afixe.

With all his troubles, Uncle Sam's credit is still good. Secretary of the Treasury Ballantine asked for only $60,000,000, was offered $22,974,000, and borrowed what he wanted for less than half of one per cent a year. That must impress foreign nations, mainly offering eight per cent, and more.

New York supplies the usual news item. "Behind the soiled brick walls of a dilapidated loft building, only six blocks from prohibition headquarters, a $1,000,000 liquor plant is discovered, with 16,000 gallons of alcohol, enough to supply at least "2,301,000 high powered drinks." This little tribute to the prohibition law was turning out 15,000 gallons of alcohol every two days. With tens of thousands of secret stills in the United States, what is the total production of bootleg alcohol?

Captain Hawks, champion American flyer, continues his career. His latest record is a flight from New York to Fort Worth, Texas, in seven hours and fifty-seven minutes. He says there was a good deal of snow, 14,000 feet up. On the way back, Hawks expects to break nine or ten inter-city records.

Thomas B. Campbell, Montana wheat farmer, who showed Russia how to plant 30,000,000 acres, says the president should allow the unemployed to join the army and navy, for six months or a year, to supply them with food and lodging. Supplying a man with uniform and other equipment and pay for six months would be more than the cost of his living at home, worse than the "dole."

The navy finds one good feature in the unemployment situation. Within the last year, there were only forty-five desertions, compared with more than a thousand in 1927.
