

PLANS COMPLETED FOR ADVERTISING NORTHWEST PEARS

Canvass Shows 68 Per Cent Tonnage Oregon And Washington Signed Up—Each State Has Nine Trustees.

Decision to launch the advertising campaign for Oregon and Washington winter pears was arrived at at a meeting of the delegates from Medford and Hood River districts in the state of Oregon and White White Salmon-Underwood and Yakima valley in the state of Washington which was held in Portland Friday. A canvass of the contracts which have been signed within the past few weeks during which an aggressive campaign has been conducted to sign up growers and shippers to the advertising program, shows that 68 per cent of the tonnage in the state had been signed to the contract.

Decision to incorporate the Oregon-Washington Pear Bureau with a board of trustees representing nine growers and shippers from the state of Washington and nine growers and shippers from the state of Oregon was also determined upon at this meeting.

"I am more than pleased by the fact that we are able to launch this campaign," said Raymond Peter who returned from the meeting Saturday morning, "as I feel that history in the pear industry was made when the decision was made to go ahead. The details of the program will be worked out by members of a committee to be elected in the next few days. The advertising campaign is to be conducted primarily around the Bosc, D'Anjou and Winter Nelis varieties.

"We determined to name the organization the Oregon-Washington Pear Bureau. The consensus of opinion was that we should concentrate our efforts on the varieties that are grown in these two states. The Oregon-Washington Pear Growers Bureau will be affiliated with the Pacific Pear Growers Council and thus open the way for California to join us next year.

W. H. Horsley, who will act as secretary to the Oregon-Washington Pear Growers Bureau, will visit eastern markets in behalf of the advertising campaign in September and will work closely with the New York winter pear committee.

EXPECT SIX MILES CRATER RIM ROAD READY THIS FALL

CRATER LAKE NATIONAL PARK, Ore., Aug. 22.—With much of the heavy construction over, the first six mile unit of the rim road around Crater Lake is 50 per cent completed. P. L. Crooks, president of the Crooks Construction company of Portland, announced this week. He believes if weather continues favorable until late fall, the contract for the entire unit will be fulfilled this season.

So far, four heavy rock cuts, averaging 35 feet in depth, have been completed, leaving seven more which will not be so difficult with the exception of one near the Watchman, first high point on the rim west of the lodge, which will be over 90 feet in depth.

Of 150,000 pounds of powder to be used in construction, 80,000 pounds have been consumed. The masonry walls at points along the road have been completed and the installation of culverts is well underway. Extra shifts of men have been placed to work double shift.

As far this season, traffic around the construction has been unhampered, despite early season plans which would have closed the rim road for two-week intervals. On or before September 1, three miles of the road will be turned over to the park service as completed with the exception of surfacing and oiling to be done next year.

M. S. Gavin, vice-president of the company and superintendent of construction, and Mr. Crooks are pushing the work as rapidly as possible to early completion, and have increased their crew to 130 men.

New Garfield Trail
Totalling a distance of a mile and three-quarters, a new trail to the summit of Garfield peak, first high point along the rim of Crater Lake east of the lodge, was completed during the past week. The trail follows an entirely new route, cutting across the old path occasionally.

2 FAMILIES UNDER BAN FOR SMALLPOX PICKERS TREATED

County Physician B. C. Wilson yesterday ordered a strict quarantine placed on the homes of Perry Sargent and W. Hodupper in the Laurelhurst district, and the picking crew of the H. Chandler Egan orchard vaccinated, as a precautionary measure against the spread of smallpox, found in the two families.

Willard Sargent, 16, is sought by authorities, for detention and care, as he is thought to have the disease. Kenneth Hodupper, 14, employed at the Egan orchard, and, according to the county health head, afflicted with the disease, has been ordered under quarantine. All the fellow pear pickers and others exposed were vaccinated yesterday by the county health unit.

According to Dr. Wilson, four members of the Sargent family have had smallpox, also five members of the Hodupper family.

SANITARY ENGINEER SALARY COMES FROM HEALTH UNIT FUNDS

The county physician plans necessary steps to eradicate the disease, and prevent its spread.

According to the authorities, one of the afflicted families has scruples against vaccination.

As a result of their realization of the great need of expert sanitary inspection and control, the Jackson County Health association has opened its coffers in assisting the Jackson County Health department in securing such service.

The health association is composed of approximately 1000 of the most prominent women in the Rogue valley who are intensely interested in the carrying on of the health work in Jackson county. As a result of their interest in health problems they have come to the aid of Jackson county by appropriating $2640 for the services of sanitary engineer.

These services will not cost Jackson county one cent as the entire appropriation is being shouldered by the health association.

The Jackson County Health department has been very fortunate in securing the services of Clyde F. Smith of Berkeley, Calif. Mr. Smith is a graduate of Princeton university, class of 1907 with the degree of A. B. Cum Laude. In 1912 Mr. Smith was graduated from the Massachusetts Institute of Technology with the degree of B. S. in sanitary engineering. Since that time, Mr. Smith has held responsible positions with the New York state department of health, the Massachusetts state department of health and the California state department of health.

During the war Mr. Smith was a lieutenant in the sanitary corps of the United States army. He was sanitary engineer in charge of Taylor Field at Montgomery, Alabama. For several years Mr. Smith was sanitary engineer for the city of Long Beach, California, having charge of the sewer department and of all sewage disposal plants.

Mr. Smith began his duties with the Jackson County Health department August 1, 1931 and is working along a definite program of sanitation but expresses his willingness to give any advice or suggestions requested of him so far as his time will permit.

Arrest was made while Miss Rees was enroute to California cities. She was riding south in an auto owned by a Mrs. Warnock, resident of California. Officers were able to trace her by learning of the car registration at the local AAA bureau and through friends of Mrs. Warnock.

Preliminary hearing will probably be held Monday.

FOUNTAIN HEAD SHUNS RATTLERS ON FISHING TRIP

Ted Baugh, chief dispenser at the Jarmin & Woods drug store downtown and food department, and Herman McFarland while fishing, or going through the motions of such, on the opposite side of the river from Casey's camp last Thursday, finally managed between them to land a small trout, whereupon Herm remarked, "I'm afraid it's useless to fish further. Let's go."

As they started away Ted said, "There's no such word as fear. Let's stick a while longer and—what's that?"

The interruption was caused by the dread whirring of two four-foot rattlesnakes, one on each side of them.

"Why it's rattlers," replied Herm, "step lively and get a club, why don't you?"

But Ted did not hear him, as he was about 300 feet away by that time, hot-footing it for safety.

McFarland killed the snakes, and on witnessing their demise from a distance, Ted, afraid to stay alone where he was any longer lest other reptiles were about, hastened back and viewing the remains, said, "It didn't take us long to kill 'em, did it?"

BOSC HARVESTING OPENS THIS WEEK

Picking and packing of the Bosc pears—the largest crop in the Rogue River valley this year—will get underway full tilt tomorrow. Some Bosc were picked last week, but most of the orchards will not start until tomorrow and Tuesday. The Bosc season is expected to last two weeks.

Picking and packing of D'Anjou will also start the coming week, but they will be a small crop, owing to considerable of the crop not sizing, due to the drought and lack of irrigation water.

Shippers and growers have decided to pick and pack 103 sizes and larger in both grades. A previous decision called for 100s and larger. The new ruling will take in the smaller sizes.

The second picking of Bartlett's was completed the past week, also Howells. There were some cannery shipments last week also, and a few consignments are scheduled to go south this week.

PRIMARY TEACHERS MEET MONDAY TO MAP YEAR'S WORK

The organization classes for the primary teachers of the Medford school system will open on Monday at 9:00 at the new Junior high school on Second street. The purpose of the classes will be to begin preparations and plans for the coming year's work and to receive training in phases of the work that will receive special emphasis in 1931-32.

Instruction will be given in the technique of organizing work on the grouped basis and separate classes will be held for each of the grade groups in five subjects: art, music, penmanship, reading, and arithmetic. The work will be condensed and directly applicable to the teachers' needs and to getting everything planned and in readiness for the opening of the school year.

The instructors will be Miss Harriet Baldwin, Miss Louise Hollenback, Miss Lillian Wise and Miss Louise Bastford. The session will be opened by Superintendent Hedrick.

TALENT ASSUMES NEW STATE JOB

C. P. Talent, former captain of the state traffic work in this district, has returned from Salem where for a week he was in the license department and conferring with Max Flannery, chief of the non-resident license bureau department, preparatory to actively taking up his work as field agent, or contact man for the non-resident license bureau department of Oregon.

Mr. Talent, who will retain his residence in Medford will spend much of his time traveling, contacting all sheriffs, and deputy offices where licenses are sold, out-state car registration bureaus, light adjusting stations, license examiner, and is starting his work in the Rogue river valley.

BEND BABE HURT, DRIVER ABSOLVED

BEND, Ore., Aug. 22.—(AP)—Jimmy Fairchild, 5-year-old son of Tracy Fairchild, sales manager of the Brooks Scanlon Lumber company, suffered a skull fracture today when struck by a car allegedly driven by John Anderson. After investigation, State Trooper Charles DeVin absolved Anderson from blame. The child is the third injured here this month in an automobile accident.

ASK YOUR NEIGHBOR: "What is the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company?"

If he can't tell you, you tell him that in it more than 27,000,000 people (one-fifth of the population of the United States and Canada) have joined together for mutual protection, and they form the world's biggest life insurance company.

The Metropolitan is not a private concern, is not a closed corporation; but it is a mutual insurance company grown to such proportions, both in size and in good works, that it has become a Public Institution. You can hear the remarkable story of the Metropolitan from
