

61,000 DISABLED VETS LACK JOB STATES LEADER

Questionnaire Sent in Effort to Find Work Through Labor Department—Gifford Reveals Plans

WASHINGTON, Sept. 1.—(AP)—Appointment of Owen D. Young of New York as chairman of the committee to coordinate local unemployment relief efforts was announced today by Walter S. Gifford, national relief director.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 1.—(AP)—More than 61,000 disabled veterans of the World war were reported today by E. C. Babcock, national commander of the Disabled American Veterans, as out of jobs.

Babcock's announcement was based on a questionnaire sent by the veterans' administration to nearly 800-000 men on its compensation rolls. Returns from nearly half of them showed 46,424 employed, 61,666 out of work and 11,278 unemployable.

The veterans' organization made arrangements in July for cooperation between the veterans' administration and the federal employment service to find jobs for the partially disabled qualified former service men.

Questionnaires sent to the veterans' administration, returnable to the labor department, which is attempting to find jobs for the men through the employment service.

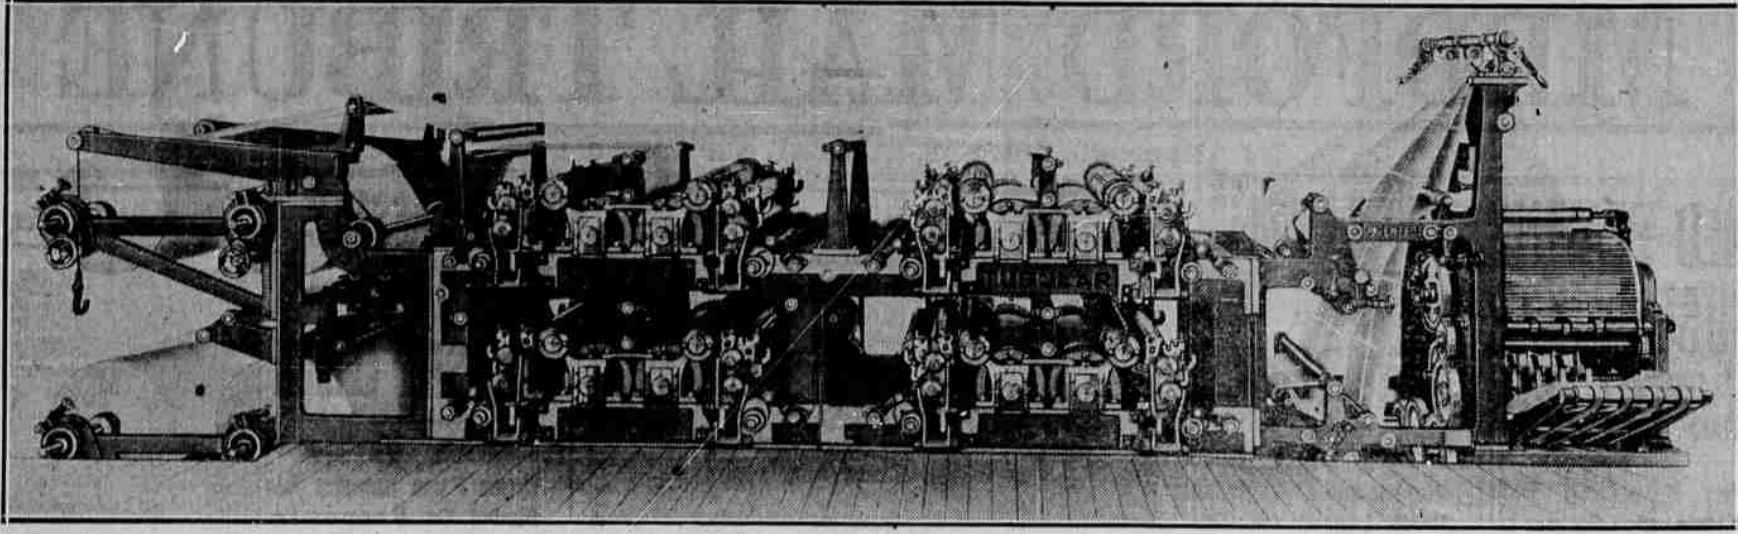

Meanwhile, President Hoover's unemployment relief organization emphasized its plans to meet the distress problem through local agencies.

Walter S. Gifford, national relief director, issued a statement saying the organization "is not instituting a campaign for a national fund, but plans nationwide support of local appeals for local funds."

Fund Drives Dated. The relief organization has recommended all relief fund campaigns be conducted between October 19 and November 26.

"Transfer as all local campaigns are scheduled within this period," Gifford said, "the president's organization hopes to render the maximum assistance and cooperation by mobilizing all national agencies for stimulation of interest in local efforts."

Mail Tribune's High Speed Duplex Tubular Press

Today's Mail Tribune is printed upon the High Speed Duplex Rotary Tubular Press pictured above, which prints two, four, six, eight, 10, 12, 14 or 16 pages at the rate of 30,000 per hour, folded and counted. With this new modern equipment, the Mail Tribune will be able to furnish readers and advertisers better and speedier service, and clearer print. The press is the main unit of the Mail Tribune's $50,000 expansion program, providing one of the most modern, and up-to-date newspaper publishing plants in the northwest. Hereafter all editions will be published in one section, a highly advantageous change for advertisers and readers.

vice anybody that human nature and the history of mankind can be abruptly changed by any mixture of German Communism and Muscovite Communism.

Drink a toast, if only in soda pop, to Miss Charlotte Hodgkinson, 19 years old, who took flying lessons for 75 minutes, then flew by herself, and did it well.

It would almost cure your "depression blues" to see that young American girl waving her arms from the cockpit.

Even birds do not learn to fly as quickly as that, although they begin much younger.

Flying progressed steadily. Hourly flights from New York to the Newark field and on to points west and south have been inaugurated. The young lady mentioned above proves how easy it is to learn to fly if you have a well balanced brain. And busy men actually use airplanes.

On Sunday, for instance, in a Sirius Lockheed single motor plane, such as Lindbergh uses, Walter Blumenthal, of Hallgarten & Company, flew down from the Adirondacks to the Curtiss Field in New York with an interesting load, flying over New York at night, doing the 270 miles in two hours.

Walter Blumenthal, who piloted the ship, is a banker. One of his passengers was Bernard P. Gimbel, department store owner, the other passenger was Max D. Steuer, who proved recently that you can convict a banker in New York. And, most interesting to the student of eugenics, is the fact that the professional pilot, a young man of 30, who took his turn at the controls, was Russell Thaw, son of Evelyn Nesbit Thaw and Harry Thaw, both well known to reporters.

"To him that hath shall be given."

The late, generous Payne Whitney, now in Heaven, where the Bible was written, can tell them that his case proves the truth of that text.

Mr. Whitney left a large estate, which paid inheritance taxes of more than seventeen million dollars, leaving more than two hundred millions for distribution.

Since that time, the value of his estate has increased by more than fifty-two millions, and on that increase the estate pays no taxes, since taxes are based on values at the time of death.

Mr. Whitney left his wife more than sixty-seven million dollars, the largest of his bequests. For that he deserves credit.

To the New York Hospital Society he gave more than twenty-one millions, to the New York public library more than seven millions, more than three millions each to Yale and Cornell.

The Payne Whitney estate is said to be the biggest ever appraised in New York. There have been bigger American fortunes, but in some cases much of the fortune has been given away before the death of the owner.

John D. Rockefeller, for instance, has given away more than five hundred million dollars to public philanthropies. If he had kept all the money he ever had, he would, to use the comparison of the late J. Ogden Armour, make Mr. Whitney "look like a gypsy."

Automobile makers will learn, with pleasure, that Mr. Whitney left 20 automobiles, worth over $35,000. They cost more than that.

The national, state, city, county and township governments look around and find new things to tax. They should, if the taxation is just, for they need the money.

Chicago finds 46 corporations operating privately owned cars worth more than eighty-four million dollars. Tax on these cars will help pay school teachers.

President Hoover, to avoid extra taxation that would be doubly discouraging in this depression, will have the government borrow about one thousand million dollars. That is a small part of our national expenses, but it will help. Not so long ago, this country was horrified to learn that the government expected to spend one billion dollars in two years.

Mr. Mellon will be able to borrow the billion needed on bonds running over a period of 30 years at 3 per cent.

When Europe, and especially the British hear that, they will say, "Alas and alack." There was a time when British "consols" sold on a basis of 2 per cent and less.

The fire department was called to the Tom Waterman residence at Eight and Ivy streets, at 7:30 this morning, to extinguish a blaze on the roof. The firemen reported that the conflagration started from a spark from the chimney. Slight damage resulted.

HAWLEY TO TALK AT RECLAMATION GATHERING HERE

OREGON STATE COLLEGE, Corvallis, Sept. 1.—(Special).—A program centered around economic phases of reclamation development in Oregon is announced for the annual meeting of the Oregon reclamation congress by the secretary, W. L. Powers, head of the soils department here. The session will be at Medford, September 8 and 9.

"This organization for the last two decades has been devoted to the orderly and progressive development of Oregon's land and water resources," said Dr. Powers. "It has been a potent influence toward the best utilization of the water supplies of the state which are so essential to its development."

Walter D. Wagner, secretary of the National Water Users' association, has been obtained for the program to discuss "Federal Refinancing of Reclamation Districts," a subject on which the Oregon congress has been working for years. Charles E. Stricklin, state engineer for Oregon, will report on progress made toward rehabilitation of districts.

The annual banquet will follow the first day's program, when Representative W. C. Hawley will be the principal speaker. John W. Haw of St. Paul, agriculturalist for the Northern Pacific railroad and an authority on irrigation development, also will speak at the banquet. Other speakers are on the program.

FROHBACH SELLS VALLEY FUEL CO.

It was announced yesterday that Glen Robinson, formerly with the Owen-Oregon Lumber Co. and H. S. Deuel, who has for a number of years been associated with the Medford Fuel Co., have disposed of their interests in the Medford Fuel Co. to C. F. and W. H. Reichstein and have bought the Valley Fuel company from H. O. Frohbach.

The new owners of the Valley Fuel Co. intend to operate under the same policy as in the past, and plan to have at all times available an adequate supply of the best fuel obtainable, whether it be wood, coal, or briquets at the lowest prices consistent with the quality of the fuel and the service furnished.

BABY KING, QUEEN CROWNED TODAY

Coronation of the king and queen of Medford's babyland and the colorful pageant arranged in connection with the event opened this afternoon in the American Legion Auxiliary baby show headquarters on East Main street with a large and appreciative audience in attendance.

Glen Coleman, king, and his little queen, Marion Tiley, attired in colorful costumes, were the axis round which the rest of the show revolved. Carolyn Wymore as princess and Wendell Bateman as prince, vied with the king and queen for honors and were surrounded by an extensive royal party, composed of the many prize winners, published in yesterday's Mail Tribune.

This will notify land holders under the Eagle Point Irrigation District that the Board of Directors for this District will sit as a Board of Equalization on October 6th, at 2:00 o'clock p. m., in the office of the District, for the purpose of reviewing and correcting its assessment rolls which are now on file in this office for public inspection. Parties aggrieved, or desiring adjustments should present themselves before the Board at this time. By order of the Board of Directors, CLARENCE P. DAVIES, Secretary.

AUSTRALIAN STUDENTS FEEL EXCHANGE PINCH

SYDNEY.—(AP)—Australian scholars who have won traveling scholarships are feeling the pinch of depression. Australia has an unfavorable exchange rate of roughly 33 per cent and when the students—many of them studying in London—receive their monthly allowance they find that a third has been deducted for exchange. Many of them have abandoned their scholarships.

Not so British war veterans resident in Australia. The exchange adds about 33 per cent to their pensions.

MIDNIGHT NEVER RIDDEN IS CLAIM

CHEYENNE, Wyo., Sept. 1.—(AP)—Ed McCarty and Jack Elliott of Chugwater, Wyo., owners of a string of rodeo horses, denied today that "Midnight," ace bronco of their string, had been ridden. News dispatches from Pendleton, Ore., Sunday said Midnight had been ridden by F. E. Studnick, Oregon cowboy who won the bucking championship at the annual Pendleton round-up.

McCarty and Elliott said Midnight threw the Oregon cowboy in six seconds. Pendleton, Ore., Sept. 1.—(AP)—Pendleton round-up officials today announced that the ride of F. E. Studnick on "Midnight," great bucking horse, during the round-up finals last Saturday was entirely in the hands of three judges, and that no stop watches were kept by the officials on rides made in the arena.
